GEN. JOHN MARSHALL BROWN, A.M.

By HENRY S. BURRAGE, D.D.

THE death of Gen. John Marshall Brown at his summer residence at Falmouth Foreside, near Portland, Maine, July 20, 1907, closed a career of much more than ordinary interest. He was a son of John Bundy and Ann Matilda (Greely) Brown, and was born in Portland, December 14, 1838. His father, a son of Titus Olcott and Susannah (Bundy) Brown, was one of the foremost business men of Portland, and the head of the Portland Sugar Company. The father of Titus Olcott Brown was a native of Stonington, Conn. Seeking a new home, he made his way into New Hampshire, and became one of the pioneer settlers of Lancaster. The mother of Titus Olcott Brown was Abigail Olcott, whose father, Thomas Olcott, was one of the first settlers of Hartford, Conn. Through his mother, Gen. Brown was descended from Pilgrim ancestors in three lines, namely, from William Brewster, "Chief of the Pilgrims," from George Soule, a signer of the Compact in the cabin of the Mayflower, and one of a commission appointed to revise the laws of the colony, and from John Alden, a magistrate of Plymouth Colony for more than half a century.

Gen. Brown received his early education in the Portland Academy, Portland, Gould's Academy, Bethel, and Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. At Andover he was the orator of his class. Entering Bowdoin College in 1856, he won the declamation prizes in his Sophomore and Junior years. He received at Bowdoin also the appointment of class orator. The ties that bound him to the college, and to his classmates beloved, were sundered only by death.

After his graduation, Gen. Brown entered upon the study of law in the office of John Rand, an eminent Portland lawyer. For the profession of law he seemed to have many qualifications, but national affairs were pressing for consideration, and more and more occupied his attention. Civil War followed, and in the progress of the war it became clearly evident that very large sacrifices must be made if the Union was to be preserved. The call of his country came to Gen. Brown as it came to many of his classmates and dearest friends, and his response was ready. Deeply interested in the history of his native State, he had left his home on the morning of August 29, 1862, in order to attend the Maine Historical Society's celebration in honor of the landing of the Popham colonists at the mouth of the Kennebec, August 29, 1607. On reaching Brunswick, he received notice of his appointment as First Lieutenant and Adjutant of the 20th Maine Infantry. This regiment, of which Adelbert Ames was Colonel and Prof. Joshua L. Chamberlain of Bowdoin College was Lieut. Colonel, was about to leave the State for the seat of war. Gen. Brown proceeded no farther, but at once returned to Portland, and September 2d, with his regiment, sailed from Boston to Washington on the steamer Merrimac, which served as a transport also for the 36th Massachusetts.

On reaching Washington, the 20th Maine was assigned to the 5th Corps, and Gen. Brown saw his first great battle a few days after at Antietam. In the destructive battle of Fredericksburg, also, he was engaged with his regiment. At the battle of Chancellorsville he served as Acting Assistant Adjutant General on the staff of Gen. Ayres, and received honorable mention for his part in that added grapple with the Army of Northern Virginia. June 23, 1863, he received from President Lincoln an appointment as Assistant Adjutant General, U. S. V., and was assigned to duty on the staff of Gen. Ames, who had received promotion. At the battle of Gettysburg, Gen. Brown performed valuable service during the three days fight on that memorable field, and received honorable mention for the same.

After the battle of Gettysburg, Gen. Ames, with his command, was ordered to South Carolina, and Gen. Brown saw service in the siege of Fort Wagner, and in the movement on John's Island. Later he saw service in Florida.

His army experience had now extended over a period of a year and a half, and his fitness for added responsibilities was recognized in army circles, and through these by the Governor of Maine, who, March 26, 1864, appointed him Lieut. Colonel of the 32d Maine Infantry. On receiving information of this appointment, Gen. Brown returned to Maine. When he reached Portland, he found that a portion of the 32d had already left for the seat of war. Gen. Brown soon followed with the remaining four companies, and joined the army in Virginia under Grant at the North Anna river, the regiment having been assigned to the 9th Corps. As Colonel Wentworth of the 32d had been temporarily disabled, Gen. Brown was in command of the regiment at Totopotomoy, Cold Harbor, and in the advances on Petersburg, where June 19, 1864, he was severely wounded. Learning from his physicians that on account of his wounds he would not be able for a long time to return to his regiment, Gen. Brown resigned, and September 28, 1864, he was mustered out of the service "on account of physical disability from wounds received in action." He had performed honorable service, and this was recognized in the three brevets he received, that of Colonel

"for distinguished gallantry in the battle of Gettysburg, Pa.," also that of Colonel "for gallant and meritorious services in the battles before Petersburg, Va."; and that of Brigadier General "for gallant and meritorious services during the war."

After his recovery from his wounds, Gen. Brown devoted himself to business interests, entering the firm of J. B. Brown and Sons, then managers of the Portland Sugar Company. He also identified himself with public interests, especially those of his native city. In 1865, he was elected a member of the Common Council of the city of Portland, and also a member of the School Committee. He was one of the founders and the first president of the Portland Army and Navy Union. Later he was president of the Soldiers and Sailors Monument Association, and he delivered the address at the dedication of the monument erected in honor of the soldiers and sailors from Portland who served in the Civil War. He was one of the charter members of the Maine Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, and for some time served as its Recorder, and later as its Commander. For five years he was a member of the Council of the Commandery-in-Chief of that Order. He identified himself prominently with the agricultural interests of the State. For many years he was a trustee, and in 1878 he was president, of the Maine Agricultural Society. The citizen soldiery of Maine had in him an earnest supporter. He served as Colonel of the 1st regiment, and later as Brigadier General. He performed efficient service on the staff of Governor Chamberlain, and also as a member of a commission for revising the military code of the State. In 1899, he represented the towns of Falmouth and Cumberland in the Legislature of Maine.

But with all his varied duties and interests, he found time for the exercise of his scholarly tastes. With the Maine Historical Society he was closely identified. For many years he was a member of its Standing Committee. Early in life he began a collection of books and manuscripts pertaining to the history of his native State, and this work was carried on with painstaking enthusiasm to the end of life. But especially were his scholarly interests maintained in connection with his alma mater. For many years he served as president of its Board of Overseers, and later he was made a member of its Board of Trustees. Bowdoin College in all his manhood years had his strong, loyal, loving support.

His last public service, and that which afforded him especial gratification, was as a member of the Board of Managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers. He was the Second Vice President of the Board, and Local Manager of the Eastern Branch at Togus, Maine. His interest in the soldiers of the Civil War, commenced in the camp, on the march and amid the shock of arms on great battles-fields, increased year by year, and it was a matter of the highest satisfaction to him that in the closing period of his life he was able to have an important part in ministering to the comfort and well-being of his comrades who had performed faithful service in the battle years 1861-1865, and needed a helping hand in their old age. His work for the Home was continued with unabated solicitude and wholeheartedness to the very close of life. Indeed, he had arranged to be at Togus on the very day of his death. The high esteem in which Gen. Brown was held by the old soldiers is well illustrated from the fact that of their own motion they had planned to line up on the avenue leading to the station at Togus in order that as he passed through these lines on his arrival at the Branch, after a long absence occasioned by sickness, they might give him a soldier's welcome.

In all his life-work Gen. Brown was animated by a deep religious spirit. He was a devout member of the Protestant Episcopal church, and was prominent in its councils, State and National. His religious life deepened with his advancing years, and there was nothing that had for its purpose the moral and spiritual welfare of men that did not find in him a sympathetic friend and well-wisher. The beautiful stone chapel, St. Mary's, which he erected at Falmouth Foreside, was an expression of his religious feeling as well as of his undying remembrance of a beloved daughter.

In his family and among his friends Gen. Brown was always a charming personality. His classmate at Bowdoin, the Hon. Joseph W. Symonds of Portland, in a beautiful tribute to one he had known so long and so intimately, has well said of Gen. Brown :

"In the domestic circle there was no delight like that of his presence. Friends without number lavished their admiration and love upon him, and he grappled them to himself with hooks of steel. Never was a friendship lightly broken ; it was rather like burnished armor on which rust does not gather by lapse of time. Long absent friends were always glad to recall him. He was never forgotten."

Maj. General Joshua L. Chamberlain, who was associated with Gen. Brown in very close relations, bears this testimony to the character of his long-time friend and companion :

"His personal character was that of a high-minded man, a chivalrous gentleman, a loyal friend, a knight of honor. While perhaps the stronger traits of manliness were more apparent in his ordinary bearing and manner, this was partly from a delicacy of nature which made him one of the most modest of men. Those who shared his deeper moods found in him a gentleness and tenderness which endeared him in a degree not common."

When such a man is taken from any community the finer feelings are touched, and men say with one of old, "How is the strong staff broken and the beautiful rod." The funeral services were held in St. Luke's cathedral in Portland, July 23d. There was a large attendance, and among those present were men who had been associated with Gen. Brown for many years in public and private life. The Eastern Branch of the National Home was represented by its officers, company commanders, a bugler and eight sergeants who acted as pall-bearers. The committal was in the crypt of St. Mary's chapel.

Gen. Brown married, December 18, 1866, in Washington, D.C., Miss Alida Catherine Carroll, a daughter of William Thomas Carroll, clerk of the Supreme Court in Washington, and of Sally Sprigg, daughter of Samuel Sprigg, Governor of Maryland, and Violetta Lansdale. Five children were born to them: Sally Carroll, Alida Greely, Mary Brewster, Carroll, and Violetta Lansdale. Alida died in Montreux, Switzerland, in 1889.

Gen. Brown was a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, elected in 1868, and a corresponding member of the Historical societies of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin.

ALFRED POORE.

By SIDNEY PERLEY, LL.B.

THE passing of Alfred Poore marks the line between the old and new school of genealogists,—between the class to which his contemporaries, John Farmer, Joshua Coffin and James Savage belonged, and the large number of later and more scientific investigators. Alfred Poore—the final “e” he added to his surname about twenty-five years ago—was of the earlier days, but he had the habit and instinct of the later methods. He was like those of the old days in some ways,—in simplicity of life, gentleness, interestedness, uprightness,—but more thorough, careful and systematic in research. The only one of his contemporaries that he was much like was the late Dr. Henry Wheatland. He had Doctor Wheatland’s love for nature and the natural sciences, a taste for the beautiful in all its forms, leading a simple, upright life, and being passionately fond of history and genealogy. They were alike in one thing more than all else, in that they were collectors to an extent and in a variety unsurpassed. Everything that they could get into their possession they saved, though they never systematically arranged their collections. No matter what the things were—advertisements, programmes, business cards, pictures, books, newspapers, clippings, etc.—sometimes soiled, worn out, deficient, or utterly worthless. And this practice was not confined to lines in which they were interested. They seemed endued with that almost unknown truth that the way to collect items of history is to do it when it can be obtained at first hand,—at the time and from the parties making it. Neither of these men could bear to see anything lost that was or might become useful. Doctor Wheatland was accustomed to write with pieces of lead pencils only an inch or two in length, while among the literary remains of Mr. Poore was found a considerable number of pencil stubs so short that it was difficult to grasp any one of them with thumb and finger. Both of them used scraps of paper for their memoranda—backs of advertisements, programmes, menus, old envelopes, etc. And yet these men were not penurious, neither was it the habit of New England thrift—it was rather the economy of the perfect man, the principle which allows no waste.

Alfred Poore was born in West Haverhill, Mass., February 27, 1818. His father, Jesse Poor, was a farmer and cordwainer, and a man of quiet nature, light complexion, blue eyes, and medium stature. Alfred was like him in these respects. Alfred’s mother was Sally Bailey of the same neighborhood. The father died July 19, 1847, and she survived him upwards of thirty years. Alfred’s parents must have been possessed of strong principles and character, interested in the religious training and secular and religious instruction of their children, for his entire life manifested his deep, unswerving character. Almost self educated, broad in his interests, liberal in his views, and normal in his attitude towards all things, he was a christian—pure, temperate, simple, unostentatious, modest, and a benefactor in many ways and to more people than will ever be known because of his quiet way of helping others. His benefactions were neither large nor conspicuous. He had little money, but his heart was full of sympathy, his manner genial, whole hearted, honest. Anything that he had was at the use of every one. His large collection of historical and genealogical material, gathered by him at great expense of time and labor, was ever ready for others to consult and copy.

He was taught the trade of a cordwainer when quite young; but his early life was no different from that of the ordinary farmer's boy. He did the chores and work which falls to the country lad, about the house, barn, field, pasture and wood; attending the district school when it was in session, and going religiously to church and Sunday school. He had the advantages of the school of his district (number nine) during his teens for about ten weeks each winter. In the winter of 1837-8, he attended Atkinson Academy, when John Kelly was preceptor. He received at the academy an increased desire for knowledge; and, at the age of twenty-two, in February, 1840, he entered the "Bradford Teachers' Seminary," which Benjamin Greenleaf, the distinguished mathematician, teacher and author, had opened December 4, 1839. Mr. Greenleaf was a native of Alfred's school district, and formerly principal of Bradford Academy. At this "teachers' seminary," Alfred continued until July 20, 1841, boarding with Mr. Greenleaf. He studied various branches of learning, and became specially interested in the natural sciences. While he was attending Mr. Greenleaf's "teachers' seminary," he received the following certificate of his efficiency as a teacher:—

Haverhill, Sept. 21st, 1840.

This may certify that I have satisfactory evidence of the good moral character of Mr. Alfred Poor, and that upon examination I find him duly qualified for the office of teacher in our common English schools.

JAMES R. CUSHING, Com. Ex.

In the winter of 1843-4 he began the study of medicine and surgery under the tuition of Dr. George Cogswell, of Bradford, who then had several students under his instruction for the medical profession, and attended a course of lectures in the medical department of Dartmouth College, in 1845. While at Hanover, he was favored with the special attention given to botany by Professor Phelps, who conducted his classes in the field as well as lecture room. September 1, 1846, Doctor Cogswell gave him the following certificate:—

This may certify that Mr. Alfred Poor has been engaged in the study of medicine and surgery under my tuition for the last two and a half years, and during the time has attended one full course of medical lectures at Dartmouth College.

GEO. COGSWELL, M.D.

Sept. 1, 1846, Bradford.

Mr. Poor thus became an accredited physician; and it is said, though he would never admit its truth, that he hung out a professional shingle, painted with the legend: "A. Poor, Doctor." The sign proved unattractive to those in need of a physician, probably, and he never practised his profession.

During the intervals between his pursuits after knowledge, Mr. Poore remained at home, assisting upon the farm, until January, 1847, when he became a clerk for Peter Parker, who then and for nearly half a century after conducted a country store near the Congregational meeting-house in the East parish of Bradford, now the town of Groveland. Alfred went to the store with the intention of working there temporarily, but he remained ten years, boarding in the family of Dea. Ira Hopkinson.

In 1846, Mr. Poore became interested in his ancestry, and commenced inquiries to learn both paternal and maternal lines. Next came a desire to obtain knowledge of all the descendants of the immigrant ancestors of both of his parents. While living in Groveland he collected materials for a history of the town, including the genealogies of the families who resided there since the early settlement. After leaving Groveland (in 1857), he continued his researches into the history and genealogy of the families in Andover, Boxford, Bradford, Newbury and the towns adjoining.

He became a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1851, and a life member in 1873. In the more than half a century of his membership, he rarely or never failed to be present at the stated monthly meetings of the society until his final sickness; and was at the time of his decease the oldest living member in point of time of admission to the society. He was elected a corresponding member of the Maine Genealogical and Biographical Society, February 7, 1876; and was a charter member of the Antiquarian and Historical Society of Old Newbury, which was formed September 5, 1877.

January 31, 1865, he went to Salem, intending to spend a few weeks in the examination of the county records, and continued there as long as he lived, a period of more than forty-two years. In November of that year (1865), he secured a lodging room in a chamber of the shed on the home premises of his friend, the late distinguished numismatist and genealogist, Matthew Adams Stickney, at number 117 Boston street, in Salem. He continued to live there until April 20, 1891, when his friends persuaded him to take advantage of the hospitality of the Bertram Home for Aged Men in Salem. There he spent his last years, and died.

In a letter to a gentleman in Kansas, dated June 20, 1871, Mr. Poore wrote as follows: "I have spent more than a thousand dollars on the Bailey family, of which I shall not get back a cent,—therefore I am poor indeed. I was born in the year 1818, and am not worth, all told, more than about a thousand dollars. I have genealogy so deeply seated on the brain that there is no prospect of my being worth much more. Came to Salem six years ago last January to spend a few weeks, and have not been able to leave but for a few days at a time. At those times I am always searching town records and questioning old folks. Sometimes I get a job to hunt up a family for small pay so as to buy my bread and cheese, etc., to live; and the rest of the time am at work upon the various families to which I belong. . . . In fact, I have spent all on genealogy since I started, twenty-five years ago, about this time of the year."

While living by himself, Mr. Poore frequently prepared his food away from his room, eating his frugal meal of bread or rice and milk, with sometimes a piece of pie, at Billy Nourse's narrow board in the rear dark corner of his fruit store, which stood on Washington street, opposite the city hall. Doctor Poore, as he was familiarly called, was always welcome there, and allowed to make a cup of tea over the old cook stove in the other corner of the rear of the shop. Billy and the doctor became cronies in some respects as year after year they sipped their tea, and ate their simple repast together in the little dark corner under the stairway. Mr. Poore was not mean, nor simply saving in so living, but it was the quiet, simple way he had grown to like, and he wished for nothing more elaborate. He often carried his lunch to the court house in a paper bag, and ate it as he read and abstracted and copied the old records.

In 1866 he became a member of the Essex Institute, and a few years later a life member. He was a constant attendant at all its meetings for forty years, and was greatly interested in every phase of its work. But his investigations were not made there to any great extent; the original records at the court house were more attractive and needful for his purpose. He made much research in other places, having a number of times purchased and used three-months' season tickets between Salem and Boston while examining the records and papers in the state archives, court house, city hall and other places in and around Boston.

He conducted novel researches in Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. From town to town he walked or was driven by acquaintances he had made, being gone on these trips several months at a time. His purpose was to gather genealogical and historical material concerning those families who had gone out from Essex county and settled in the newer portions of New England. He examined and copied from town and church records, gravestones, family bibles and private memoranda, and made quite thorough inquest into family traditions and unwritten family history and genealogy and immigrations. From the aged people he gleaned many items which would otherwise have been forever unknown.

Though the notes of his visitations are written in pencil on brown paper, they are in good condition, having been bound into a number of volumes. The value of these books will increase as the years pass.

Another work of great value, which is more apparent now than at the time it was done, was the collecting and printing in book form of what he called "The Historical and Genealogical Researches and Recorder of Passing Events of Merrimack Valley. Being a Repository of Antiquities relating to the History, Biography, Genealogy, Heraldry, Archæology, etc., of the Valley." The first number was published by him, at Haverhill, in April, 1857. It is folio in size, and contains seventy-six pages, being illustrated with many wood cuts, portraits, homesteads, etc. A notice of the first number appeared in the REGISTER, volume xi, page 363, and it said: "A student of American History who shall, in a future century, meet with a copy of this publication, will look upon it with surprise. If it is now regarded as a remarkable publication, it will doubtless be far more so regarded in future ages. The inhabitants of Merrimack Valley are fortunate in having such a chronicler as Mr. Poor; for if they encourage him to go on, their names, and the names of their children, will be handed down to posterity. We fear, however, he may have taken rather too wide a range, and that he will not find sufficient encouragement to continue his work, which is finely got up, and at great expense." Only two numbers were issued, the financial returns being but a small fraction of the amount of the cost of publishing. The enterprise antedated all similar publications except the REGISTER.

In 1880, at Salem, Mr. Poore published his quarto volume of three hundred and thirty-two pages, entitled "A Memoir and Genealogy of John Poore." This work included ten generations, from 1615 to 1880, with "the posterity of numerous daughters whereby pedigrees of many other families, extending through from three to six or more generations, are given." The work is neatly gotten up, and has a number of illustrations. It is a production of great thoroughness and accuracy. Mr. Poore had far advanced the preparation of the genealogies of the descendants of the other Poore immigrants, which would probably have been published ere this time had he been younger and stronger. He founded the Poore Family Association in 1881, and was its secretary until his death. He published an interesting and valuable report of each meeting, in pamphlet form.

Mr. Poore never married; and his long life of nearly four score and ten years may be attributed to the simplicity of his life, and freedom from worry and things injurious. He never used intoxicating liquors, and only the simplest drink and food. He was tolerant in religion, but trinitarian in his own belief, having become a member of the church of his childhood, the West Congregational Church in Haverhill, January 7, 1838, and a member of the society connected with that church, May 27, 1839. He continued his relation with that church as long as he lived, nearly seventy years in all. He was constant in his attendance at the Tabernacle Church in Salem, and a member of the Sunday school. He became a life member of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society in 1875, and of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, May 16, 1876, by his own donation of a hundred dollars; and gave freely of his means to other societies. His papers show gifts to all sorts of benevolences, which, though in small sums, indicate his interest in and desire to help in every good work.

If a publication pleased him and he thought it would be useful to young people, he would purchase copies of it, whether book or serial, and give them to persons he knew. For a considerable period he subscribed for many copies of the Sunday School Times and sent them himself weekly in separate wrappers to persons whom he believed would be pleased to read them. He also subscribed for a large number of copies of children's papers for distribution. The Christian Herald and books published in connection with it found a friend in him. It is impossible for any one to learn how far these benefactions may have gone, small though they were, yet far reaching in their influence.

With no particular sickness, only a weakening of life forces, for the year or more preceding his death, he grew feeble, and finally passed quietly into the broader, freer, perfect life, June 6, 1907, at the Home. His age was eighty-nine years and three months. He was the exemplification, to all who knew him, of the power of the truth that what a man is is more effective in his influence for advancement along all good lines, than what he does.

ROBERT EAMES OF WOBURN, MASS., AND SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS.

Communicated by ARTHUR G. LORING, Esq., of Woburn.

1. ROBERT<sup>1</sup> EAMES,* of Woburn after 1651, died there July 30, 1712. He had previously been a resident at Charlestown.† His wife Elizabeth died at Woburn, Mar. 22, 1710. His first homestead at Woburn Center he sold in 1697 to his son John. He owned lots in Woburn at Boggy Field, 1694, where he had a house. This estate was in the well-known Eames neighborhood, on New Boston Street, where members of the family have resided for upwards of two centuries. It is possible that he was the Robert Eames who was a soldier in King Philip's war, 1676, with Capt.

* This Robert Eames of Woburn must not be confounded with the Robert Eames of Chelmsford, who died there Apr. 25, 1671, naming in a will, made three days previous to his death, his brother named John, and cousin Richard, son of sister Dorothy Newham of Farnham, co. Surrey, England. Nor should he be confounded with the contemporary Robert Eames, of Ames, of Essex county, whose genealogy is given in The Essex Antiquarian, vol. 3, pp. 88-90.

The John Eames who had a daughter born Feb. 3, 1650 (see printed Woburn vital records) is John Amee; his wife was Martha, dau. of Capt. Edward Johnson of Woburn. (See REGISTER, vol. 61, pp. 198, 199.)

† The Dedham printed town records, p. 153, give this item: "1648, 7 mo. 4. The Country Rate. Robt Eames, 0-2-6." In the same records, p. 190, under date of 30 of the 10th, 1651, "Discounted wth Joh Morse in regard of 2s-6d lost in ye Country Rate by Robt Eames . . . ."

Henchman. (REGISTER, vol. 37, p. 74.)*

GEORGE BUNKER OF CHARLESTOWN, MASS.

By HOSEA STARR BALLOU, Esq.

AMONG the pioneers of ancient Charlestown, Wyman characterizes George Bunker's as "the most distinguished name for local reminiscence ever extant in town" (Vol. I, page 150). According to Frothingham (History of Charlestown, page 83), "George Bunker appears to have been a wealthy emigrant and a large land owner. He had one lot on Bunker Hill, running over its summit, and hence its name. His shares in divisions are commonly the largest of any." His character as a man, his public spirit and his generous deeds have been wellnigh forgotten.

George Bunker settled at Charlestown prior to Jan. 10, 1633. On Feb. 10, 1634, he signed a petition to delegate to a board of Selectmen the ordinary business of the town, and on Mar. 4, 1634, he was enrolled a freeman. Whence he came is not certainly known. It has been conjectured that he and his contemporary namesake of Nantucket—not a relative, however, so far as known—were of Huguenot origin, and that the name was formerly Bon Cœur; but, on the other hand, there is his own signature, under date of Feb. 10, 1634 (see fac-simile in Frothingham's History of Charlestown, page 51), unmistakably "George Bunker," which points to English origin. There is some presumptive evidence that he was from Bedfordshire. Many years ago, the late H. G. Somerby found the will of Roger Bunker of Tyngriffe, Bedfordshire, proved 1515 (see Somerby Papers in N. E. Hist. Gen. Society, box 3, vol. 73, p. 255), of William Bouncker of "Tingreyfe," proved 1558 (ibid, p. 261), and of John Bunker of the parish Chalgrave, Bedfordshire, proved 1637 (ibid, p. 280); and recent investigation discloses contemporary Bunkers in Bedfordshire at Woburn, Eversholt, Maulden, and Dunstable—the latter the English home of two notable Charlestown pioneers, Robert Long, the inn keeper, and Elder Zechariah Symmes.

In 1638, George Bunker already owned twenty-two parcels of real estate in Charlestown. (See Boston Rec. Com. Report, No. 3, p. 28.) His homestead consisted of about ten acres of land at the "Neck," with house and barns thereon, valued at £154 in the inventory of his estate, June 21, 1666. At Malden he also owned a farm of two hundred acres, with "houses, outhouses, barnes, orchards, and fences" (see Middlesex Co. Deeds, Lib. 2, fol. 181), lying south of Salem street and east of Cross street as now located, and ten acres of swamp at the head of North River, all of which, he says, was "let to farm by me unto Thomas Greene, commonly called farmer Greene of Malden." This land is now in a thickly settled section of that city. George Bunker was one of "the men of Charlestown" allotted, on Jan. 9, 1633, ten acre lots at Malden—the first list of proprietors of that town (Corey's History of Malden, p. 61). At Woburn, George Bunker's allotment comprised two hundred and seventy acres, centrally located, and included land which he gave to the new town, about 1641, for a Common (Woburn Records, vol. 1, pp. 3 and 4). For many generations it has proved a valuable benefaction to the city, and about that park the civil, educational and religious life of Woburn still centres. On Dec. 10, 1663, "for a valuable consideration" paid to him by Woburn, George Bunker also gave a deed of two hundred and thirty-eight acres lying within the bounds of Woburn, "for the use of the town forever" (Sewall's History of Woburn, p. 30, and Cutter's Woburn Historic Sites, p. 1).

George Bunker was also a benefactor of Harvard College, to whom he gave, in 1646, eight acres of land (see Middlesex Co. Deeds, Lib. 1, fol. 104).

By his will, executed 12 Mar., 1664, and proved 4 Oct., 1664, he had already distributed the larger part of his estate among his children. To his daughters, Mary, the second wife of Major Eleazer Lusher of Dedham, Martha, the wife of John Starr of Boston,—in whose line are all the lineal descendants now living of George Bunker that we have been able to trace,—* Elisabeth, wife of Edward Burt of Charlestown, and to his "eldest son, John Buncker," he had already given "their several portions"; and to his son Rev. Benjamin (Harvard College, 1658) he had already given on account "of his portion the sum of twenty pounds besides his Learning; and to Jonathan, my youngest sonne, seventy five pounds." He had also given considerable property to his second wife, Margaret, widow of Elder How of Watertown (see inventory, dated 18th of 10th month, 1660), which by her will went to her relatives. After his numerous gifts, the residue of George Bunker's estate inventoried, on the 21st of June, 1666, £313 : 19 : 6. "One Study at the Colledg," mentioned in the inventory, was not included in the total. His will directed that this residue of his estate should be divided equally between his sons Rev. Benjamin, minister at Malden, and Jonathan of Charlestown, adding "And my will and my mind is that if either of these my said sons shall see cause at any time afterward to sell his pt. in these my houses or lands, or any pt. or pcell of them, that then the other of them shall have the first tender of the purchase at such price and for such payment as another man would give, or as themselves shall agree." In March, 1670, his son Benjamin's share inventoried £421 : 4 : 6.

Scrupulously fair and just to his children, George Bunker was no less so in his dealings with others. As an instance, on the 19th of the 11th month, 1647 (see Suffolk Co. Deeds, Lib. 1, folio 89), he loaned, to one Thomas Erington, £32 secured by mortgage on a house and about twenty acres of land in Charlestown, but instead of requiring the usual rights of mortgagee to enter and take possession by foreclosure in case of default, he generously agreed that the property should be "valued and prized by two indifferent men, and if they agree not, an umpire is by them or by the said Erington and Bunker to be chosen, and the overplus if any to be returned to the said Erington."

In the Vital Records of Charlestown, No. 44 in the list of deaths is that of Judith Bunker, wife of George Bunker, who died 10 Oct., 1646. No doubt she was the first of the Bunker family to be buried in the ancient burial ground, under the shadow of Bunker Hill, where still stand the Welsh head stones in memory of her youngest son, Jonathan, her grandson, Capt. Benjamin Bunker, and her four great-grandchildren who died in childhood early in the eighteenth century, viz., Benjamin, Abigail, Jonathan, and George Bunker; and there, no doubt, in 1664, George Bunker was buried beside his wife, but never in the memory of man has there been a memorial stone to either of them.

*The author has heard of one person in Maine and one in Maryland who, in different lines, claim descent from George Bunker, but a request to each for his line of descent has not elicited a response. George Bunker has no living descendants in the direct male line, so far as can be learned, most of the families of that name in America being, apparently, of the Nantucket stock.

In 1906, steps were taken to erect a suitable memorial to them in the Bunker lot, and recently a stone of antique design has been erected, with the following inscription:

"In Memory of | GEORGE BUNKER | Distinguished Pioneer of Charlestown | Patron of Learning | Died 1664 | JUDITH BUNKER | his Wife | Died 10 October, 1646 | Erected by Descendants of their Daughter | MARTHA BUNKER STARR | 1907."

In the census of Jan., 1635-6, George Bunker, of seventy-two inhabitants of Charlestown, was one of fourteen to have the honorable prefix "Mr." In the antinomian controversy, led by Anne Hutchinson in 1634, he with leading men in Boston, Salem, Roxbury, etc., and eleven others in Charlestown (see Mass. Bay Colony Records, 2d ed., Vol. I, page 212), took sides with Sir Harry Vane, Coddington and Wheelright against John Winthrop and his partisans. Defeated, only George Bunker and one other, James Brown, of the twelve Charlestown men, refused to recant.

He was worthy to be immortalized by Bunker Hill, and remained a firm and consistent defender of the rights of the people.

A SEVENTEENTH CENTURY LETTER.

Communicated by GEORGE DUDLEY SEYMOUR, Esq., of New Haven, Conn.

IN 1902, the writer made a visit to the town of Branford, Conn., and called upon Mr. S. A. Griswold, a local collector and antiquarian, who showed him, among other things, a small oaken box less than a foot in any dimension, very slightly carved and apparently of seventeenth century workmanship, which was filled with old papers. Among them, and the most interesting, was a letter written by Susanna Garment, August 30th, 1684, from Wigginton, in the county of Hertford, near Tring, England, to her Aunt Sarah Brookes, then living in Milford. The entire letter, with the superscription, is given herewith. It is written on a sheet of paper, now frayed and water stained, measuring  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 12\frac{1}{4}$  inches, originally folded to form an envelope and sealed with red wax. What is left of the seal is in two parts, and so broken that the design cannot clearly be made out, but it appears to be that of a conventionalized fleur-de-lis.

The letter seems to have owed its preservation to its subsequent use for the keeping of an account by a blacksmith whose entries in faded ink practically cover those portions of the paper not occupied by Susanna Garment's letter and the superscription.

The letter is offered for publication by the courtesy of Mr. Griswold, and it explains itself.

"Deare & Loving Aunt.

After my humble service & kind respects to you presented these are to acquaint you that we have received your letter your letter you sent over by Mr. Thomas Oviatt, and are very glad to heare of your good healths all of you, your letter was directed to my ffather Henry Dell but he hath beene dead about 18 yeares the last Midsummer, and my Mother hath beene dead Ten yeares the last Midsummer which I thought good to acquaint you withall because by your letter I understand you knew nothing of their Deaths, I was the youngest Daughter of my ffather Henry Dell, by name Susanna but I am now wife of James Garment of Wigginton in the County of Hartford near Tring, who Desireth to be kindly remembered to you & all the rest of our relations, pray remember my kind love to my cousins William & Sarah and Thomas Wheeler and to my uncle Thomas his Sons, unknowne, I have I blesse God 3 children by name Henry, John, & William, and if you please at any time after the returne of Mr. Oviatt to send over a letter and Direct it to be left at Aylesbury where Mr. Oviatt sends his letter it will be very carefully Delivered and we shall take care to returne an answer, we received one letter onely by Robert Tenly, by whom we intended to have returned an answer, but he fell sicke of the Small pox at Tatternall and went away before he was well unexpected whereby we were frustrated of our purpose, I know not whether my Brother had wrote anything about me which occasioned me to write, So having no more at present I leave you to the protection of ye Almighty and rest your ever loving kinswoman.

SUSANNA GARMENT.

Wigginton this 30th
of August: 1684:

[Superscription.]

To her loving Aunt Sarah Brookes or to her Son—William Wheeler or to either of them dwelling at Milford in new England these present with care."

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By GEO. A. GORDON, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 2 October, 1907. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting, agreeable to the By-laws, at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, in Marshall P. Wilder hall, 18 Somerset street, the President, Hon. James Phinney Baxter, Litt.D., in the chair.

The minutes of the stated meeting in May were confirmed as records, and the chairman then introduced Rev. Anson Titus, of Somerville, who read a thoughtful essay on Forgotten Bostonians, which received the applause of the audience, with a vote of thanks and a request for the deposit of a copy in the archives of the Society.

The Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, and the Council, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

The list of candidates for membership was read, and a ballot ordered and taken, by which sixteen resident members and one corresponding member were elected.

The meeting then dissolved.

6 November. A stated meeting was held to-day, at the usual time and place, the President occupying the chair.

After the minutes of the meeting on 2 October were read and approved as records, the rules of order were suspended and the meeting proceeded to the election of a Nominating Committee, in accordance with the provision of article 3, chapter 4, of the By-laws. The polls stood open until half-past three o'clock, this afternoon.

Messrs. Henry Winchester Cunningham, A.B., Charles French Read and Anson Titus were appointed tellers to conduct the election.

The Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, the Historian, and the Council, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

The list of candidates for membership was read, and a ballot ordered and taken, by which nineteen resident members were elected.

The special Committee in memoriam William Blake Trask, A.M., deceased, presented the following report, which was received, read, accepted, and ordered on file and to be spread on the records:

That the late William Blake Trask, honorary Master of Arts of Dartmouth, was a valued member of this Society for fifty-five years, during which for four years he served as Librarian, a Director for twenty-seven years, Historiographer for six years, one of the Committee on Publications for twenty-seven years, for two years an Editor of the REGISTER and for many years a most reliable Contributor, for nine years a member of the Register Club, and an original member of the Prince Society, of which he was one of its Vice-Presidents from 1870.

His love for this Society and its work was unlimited, his faithful devotion to its interests unbounded, and his time, means and service always at its command.

A careful and painstaking genealogist and historian, through his persistent efforts much valuable historical matter has been permanently preserved for future generations that would have been irretrievably lost.

Endowed with a kindly and sympathetic nature, though firm and outspoken for justice and truth, his long life has proved that he was stamped with the characteristics and virtues of his Puritan ancestry.

His life was one of deeds and not words, the recorded evidence of which will more and more prove its value as the years roll by.

In valuing his worth to this Society, William Blake Trask, the modest citizen,—the conscientious and upright man,—will forever stand upon its rolls as one of its most honored and esteemed members.

Several members spoke in praise and eulogy of Mr. Trask.

The tellers made report of their canvass of the election, and the chair proclaimed and declared the election of John Albee of Swampscott, Francis Noyes Balch of Jamaica Plain, Hosea Starr Ballou of Brookline, William Carver Bates of Newton, and Deloraine Pendre Corey of Malden, as the Nominating Committee for 1907.

The meeting then dissolved.

4 December. A stated meeting was held to-day, at the usual time and place, the President presiding.

The minutes of the November stated meeting were read and approved as records, and Henry Whitney Lamb, Esq., of Brookline, was introduced as the essayist. Mr. Lamb read a learned and valuable paper on Jackson and the Surplus, to an attentive and interested audience, for which the thanks of the Society were unanimously voted, and a copy solicited for preservation in the archives of the Society.

The Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, and the Council, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

The list of candidates was read, a ballot ordered and taken, at which eight persons were elected resident members of the Society.

Agreeable to article 7 of Chapter IX. of the By-laws, the Chairman appointed Hosea Starr Ballou and Charles French Read an auditing committee for the present fiscal year.

It was then

Voted: That F. Apthorp Foster, Treasurer of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, be authorized to sell the fifty (50) shares of the stock of the West End Street Railway Company belonging to the Society.

Voted: That F. Apthorp Foster, Treasurer of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, be authorized to sell the one hundred (100) shares of the stock of the Old Colony Railroad Company belonging to the Society.

The meeting then dissolved.

NOTES.

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those which it issues over its own name at 18 Somerset Street, Boston.

EDWARD H. WHORF.

ABSTRACTS OF DEEDS IN MAINE.—John Parker of Boston, shipwright, the eldest son of Thomas Parker, late of Raskohegan, who was the eldest son of John Parker, of Biddeford, Great Britain, fisherman, sold his rights in Parker's Island to Thomas Salter, of Boston, said Island lying by Sagadahoc river, running to Sheepscoot river, on July 8, 1731. (York County, Maine, Deeds, volume 14, page 193.)

Ambrose Hanniwell, of Boston, deposed that about sixty years ago he lived with his parents on an Islet called Hanniwell's Point, at the mouth of the Kennebec river. Mr. Thomas Parker had a house on Parker's Island and was buried on that island, and Matthew Salter who married his daughter Sarah Parker built another house on the Island from which they were driven by the Indians; said Island belonged to Thomas Parker's father, at whose death this Thomas and his brother John Parker inherited. July 14, 1731. (Ibid, vol. 14, page 194.)

John Parker erst of Reskogan (Parker's Island) in his will of 1651 devised his estate to his wife Mary Parker; in 1664, she gave a deed of this to her son Thomas Parker who died intestate, leaving seven children: John Parker, of Boston; Jacob Parker, of Boston; Remember Parker, who married Moses Pitman, of Marblehead, Mass.; Sarah Parker, who married ——— Smith; Margaret Parker, who married ——— Dixey, of Marblehead; Grace Parker; Mary Parker, who married ——— Harrod. Sarah Smith was the mother of Thomas Salter, of Boston. This deed was given in 1732. (Ibid, vol. 15, page 136.)

Robert and Alice (Crafts) Lovering of Boston, Mass., sold to Park Williams, of Lebanon, Conn., New London County, land in New Dartmouth, Maine, on the east side of Dyer's river, March 5, 1715. (Ibid, vol. 13, p. 95.)

Whereas Robert and Alice Lovering by their deed of March 2, 1715, to William Park, conveyed land at New Dartmouth on the east side of Dyer's river, a small lot of twenty acres at Mason's Hill, the said William Park conveys to Joseph Lovering of Holliston, weaver, Robert Lovering of Roxbury, brick layer, Samuel and Abigail Lovering of Newton. John and Elizabeth Eaton, of Dedham, children and heirs of the said Robert Lovering, on May 23, 1735. (Ibid, vol. 18, p. 46.)

Deborah Burnet, of lawful age, testified that, living at Kennebec, eastwards at Sheepscot river, with my aunt Margaret Lovering whose maiden name was Gutch, for several years, that she well knew Robert Lovering, who also lived at the east side when I lived with my aunt Margaret, widow of William Lovering. Signed at Boston, May 24, 1737. (Ibid, vol. 18, p. 263.)

Philip White, who was born and lived at Kennebec, aged seventy five years, testified that he knew William Lovering who married Margaret Gutch of Kennebec and lived at Sheepscot; he also knew Robert Lovering the son of William Lovering; also John Pride who lived at Cape Anawagen, a fishing island, and who married a sister of William Lovering; and William Pride, the eldest son of John and Jane Pride, who now lived at Norwich, Conn. May 23, 1737. (Ibid, vol. 18, p. 233.)

Jane Underwood, of lawful age, testified that she knew John Pride who lived in the eastern part of New England, and that Jane Lovering was his wife, my own mother's sister; they removed to Beverley and died there; also knew William Pride, their eldest son. May 23, 1737. (Ibid, vol. 18, p. 233.)

Mary Lyddiard, widow, testified that she knew Robert Lovering, of Roxbury; my mother, his aunt, frequently told me that he, the said Robert, was William's son, whose mother was Margaret, maiden name Gutch. (Ibid, vol. 18, p. 263.)

Sarah Elkins, of Salem, a daughter of Robert Gutch, gave a deed to her grandson, John Elkins, mariner, of lands in York County which my father was seized of, on the west side of the Kennebec river, which the said Robert Gutch bought from Robin Hood, May 29, 1660. Signed Aug. 12, 1732. (Ibid, vol. 16, p. 225.)

Robert Gutch bought from the Indian, Robin Hood, a three mile tract of land on the Kennebec river over against Tressick, by James Smith's land, Wineslow's Rocks, Alexander Thwait, half way up the Winnegance meadows, extending three miles inland. October 27, 1667. (Ibid, vol. 2, p. 22.)

Sarah, daughter of Robert Gutch, now widow Elkins, of Salem, to her son and daughter, Nicholas and Mary Lyddiard, one fifth part of a tract of land on the Kennebec river.

Nicholas and Mary Lyddiard, of Boston, mariner, on Jan. 23, 1724, our mother, Mrs. Sarah Elkins, daughter of Robert Gutch, conveyed all her rights to us excepting that part where her son, Thomas Elkins, had built upon; they sold all to John Wentworth of Falmouth, and others, Jan. 23, 1723. (Ibid, vol. 13, p. 54.)

Sarah Elkins, aged about eighty one years, declared that fifty six years ago she lived at Kennebec, westward side over against the upper end of Arrowsick Island, she the reputed daughter of Robert Gutch, with whom she then lived; her father had land running by the river from two and three quarters of a mile on to three miles into the woods; she had a brother named John Filman whose wife was Magdalen, daughter of Robert Gutch, and they had a daughter Mary Filman, now Soper, their only daughter now living in Boston, February 21, 1734. (Ibid, vol. 17, p. 36.)

Deborah Burnet, aged about sixty six years, a grand daughter of Robert Gutch, had often heard Mary Soper, another grand-daughter, say her father's name was William Rogers who had married Lydia, daughter of Robert Gutch. Feb. 21, 1734. (Ibid, vol. 17, p. 36.?)

Samuel Williams, aged about fifty six years, and Joseph Warren, of Roxbury, aged about forty years, testified that they were well acquainted with Robert Lovering and Alice his wife, late of Roxbury, and that Abigail Lovering, spinster, of Dedham, Joseph Lovering of Holliston, Elizabeth Lovering now Eaton, of Dedham, Robert Lovering of Roxbury, and Samuel Lovering, of Newton, were reputed children of the said Robert and Alice Lovering. May 23, 1737. (Ibid, vol. 18, p. 233.)

ENGLISH RECORDS.—The will of George Salter, of Dedham, England, mentions sons Thomas, Samuel and Theophilus, and daughters Abigail and Hannah. The will was proved by Mary Salter, relict and executrix. (Waters's Gleanings, p. 829.)

The will of Elizabeth Salter, REGISTER, lxi, 393, gives the first wife of George Salter as Philippa Rouse, while in the abstract in REGISTER, lv, 107, it is given as Phillippa House.

The reference in George Salter's will to Mary as his relict also needs explanation.

Matthew Probee, citizen and distiller of London, whose will is given, REGISTER, xi, 393, was a son of Edward and Elizabeth (Barker) Probee. Elizabeth Barker was the daughter of Rev. Matthew and Elizabeth (Cotton) Barker. Barker was her second husband, she having first married Edmund the father of Sampson Sheafe of Boston and London. (Waters's Gleanings, pp. 1383, 1388.)

Robert Smith, wine cooper, came to Boston about 1637 with his wife and sister Mary Smith. Mary Smith married John Scarborough, who was killed shooting off "one of the great guns," in 1646, and his widow married, 1 Oct., 1647, Phillip Torrey, and had a son Jonathan, bapt. 22 June, 1651. (See Mass. Archives, xv. A, p. 11; REGISTER, *xl, 63; Waters's Gleanings, 548-551.) The reference to Mary Torrey as the daughter of Richard Smutt and sister of Robert Smutt, printed in REGISTER, lxi, 394, is an error. Smutt should read Smith.

WALTER KENDALL WATKINS.

THE PARENTAGE OF DR. SAMUEL COBB OF TOLLAND, CONN.—In the following notes the history of Samuel Cobb of Tolland, Conn., is briefly given, establishing beyond reasonable doubt that he was the son of Thomas and Rachel (Stone) Cobb of Barnstable, Mass. Thomas Cobb, as is well known, was the son of Samuel and the grandson of Elder Henry Cobb, the first of the name in New England.

Mr. Thomas Cobb and Rachel his wife yr Children:

Samuel Born the 20th of March 1717

(Barnstable Town Records. Names of other children omitted.)

Will of Thomas Cobb of Barnstable, dated 1 Oct., proved 4 Nov., 1742: "I give to my Son Samuell Cob my books Called the Annotations and also five pounds." (Samuel did not receive any of the real estate, the appraised value of which was 2000 pounds, all of which was willed to his five brothers and a nephew.) (Barnstable Co. Probate, 6: 234.)

Will of Rachel Cobb of Barnstable, dated 26 Dec., 1744, proved 11 Feb., 1746, bequeaths to her son Samuel Cob, and to other sons and daughters. (Barnstable Co. Probate, 8: 160.)

Sibley's Annotated Copy of the Catalogue of Harvard College: "Class of 1737, Samuel Cobb, AB. Place of birth, Barnstable; Age when he entered, 17: Died 6 Apr. 1781 at Tolland, Ct., Age 65th yr." (Mass. Hist. Soc. Library.)

Samuel Cobb came to Tolland probably about 1743, and took a deed from Robert Parker, of Willington, of one hundred and twenty-five acres of land, in this town, dated Dec. 19, 1744, in which he is described as being of Tolland. He married Mary Hinckley, August 25, 1743, by whom he had two children.

* * Doct. Cobb married for second wife, Hannah Bicknell, of Ashford, Apr. 11, 1749 [by whom he had twelve more children]. (Waldo's Tolland, Conn., p. 97.)

In Memory of Samuel Cobb, Esq., a gentleman of public education and distinguished abilities, who long served his generation as a physician and minister of justice, to great acceptance, and in his life and death was an example of sobriety and virtue, and evidenced the influences and consolations of Religion: lived much esteemed, and died universally lamented, on ye 6th day of April, A.D. 1781, Anno Ætatis 65th. (Gravestone at Tolland, Conn., Barber's Conn. Hist. Col., p. 542.)

Will of Samuel Cobb of Tolland, dated 26 July 1780, proved 20 Apr. 1781: Far advanced in life. Wife Hannah Cobb. Sons Samuel, Moses, Jeduthan, David, Daniel and William Cobb. Daughter Sarah Steel, Son in law John Steel, daughters Hannah Cobb, Mary Edgerton and Ruth Cobb. Codicil, 9 Feb., 1781. Son Moses dead. His share to be divided among all my children without difference or distinction of half blood or whole blood. (Stafford, Conn., Probate, 2: 131.)

LOCKWOOD GENEALOGY.—For some reason, the descendants of David<sup>5</sup> Lockwood (182 in the Lockwood Genealogy) were not obtained and do not appear in the exhaustive book compiled by Frederic A. Holden and E. Dunbar Lockwood. That they may be preserved, they are here given:

44 Wall St., New York City. JAMES ORVILLE BLOSS.

BROOKS (ante, vol. 61, page 353).—The Col. Brooks to whom the order was addressed, was not John Brooks of Medford, afterwards Governor of Massachusetts, but Eleazer Brooks of Lincoln, colonel of the 3d Middlesex County regiment, of which Nathan Barrett was major. Eleazer Brooks rose from first major of Col. James Barratt's (3d Middlesex Co.) regiment, Feb. 7, 1776, to colonel of the same regiment (Massachusetts militia), commissioned Feb. 8, 1776, and later to brigadier-general, commissioned Oct. 15, 1778.
Woburn, Mass. WILLIAM R. CUTTER.

COLLINS.—In the REGISTER, vol. 61, page 282, the compiler is in error in stating that Abigail Collins who married Sergt. William Ward was daughter of Rev. Nathaniel<sup>2</sup> Collins (No. 4). She was daughter of Samuel<sup>2</sup> Collins (No. 3), as is proved by Middletown, Conn., Land Records, vol. iv, page 14, wherein Sergt. William Ward of Middletown sells certain land which was drawn by Mr. Samuel Collins, father to Abigail wife to the said William Ward; also on page 78 of the same vol., where William Ward, Sen., and Abigail his wife, of Middletown, are described as heirs of Mr. Samuel Collins of Middletown, deceased.
29 Main St., Hartford, Conn. MRS. A. C. N. HAWLEY.

DICKENS, DIGGINS (ante, vol. 61, pages 143-144).—At the time I contributed the notes on the Dickens, or Diggins, family of Windsor, Conn., I did not know the date of the marriage of Joseph<sup>3</sup> Diggins with Elizabeth Stoughton. I have recently found their marriage record among the early marriages of Somers, Conn., under date Dec. 17, 1735, the name of the wife there appearing as Elizabeth Houghton, but it is stated that both were of Windsor, and there was no Houghton family of Windsor, the evidence being abundant that he did marry Elizabeth Stoughton.

I also note that Hannah,<sup>4</sup> daughter of Capt. John<sup>3</sup> Diggins of Chatham (Portland), Conn., married Dr. Thomas Wells, Nov. 26, 1778.
Boston, Mass. MATT B. JONES.

EVARTS (ante, vol. 61, pages 25-26).—The compiler states the date of the birth of James<sup>2</sup> Evarts, son of John<sup>1</sup> Evarts who founded the family in this country, as 1648, and states the date of his marriage to Lydia, daughter of Richard Guttridge, as 1660. This would seem to be an error.

I have in my possession a genealogical table of the family which gives the date of James<sup>2</sup> Evarts's birth as July 19, 1638, but I do not know from what source the one which I have was compiled.
Windsor, Vt. SHERMAN EVARTS.

GRAY.—The following item, from a record in my possession, does not appear in the printed Vital Records of Pelham, Mass., and was doubtless in that part of the town records which was found to be mutilated and missing when the records were printed:

Nancy Gray was born October 6th 1778 Daughter of Ebenezer and Agnes Gray.
 Pelham June 19th 1843 C. D. Eaton, Town Clerk

Groton, Mass. LAWRENCE PARK.

RECORDS OF WINCHESTER, N. H.—In the REGISTER, vol. 37, page 296, the statement that the records of Winchester, N. H., were destroyed is an error, as they were in existence in 1905.
15 Court St., Boston, Mass. C. W. WALKER.

SHAKER RECORDS OF HARVARD, MASS. (ante, vol. 61, page 341)—It should have been stated that these records were secured for the Society by George Kuhn Clarke, LL.B., and that the REGISTER was indebted to his efforts.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

CONNECTICUT VITAL RECORDS.—The Connecticut Historical Society has issued the following circular:

“Nearly all Connecticut towns possess Records of Births, Marriages and Deaths, which have been kept under various laws from earliest colonial times. The older of these records are of extraordinary historical and genealogical interest to the present resident of the state who can trace his ancestry back to the first settlers of Connecticut, and to the one who residing elsewhere, can trace his ancestry to Connecticut at any period of the more than the two-and-a-half centuries of her history. These ancient registers of the men and women who made Connecticut what it has been and is, or who, emigrating, founded other commonwealths, are fast becoming, in spite of all due care in their preservation, illegible or damaged by time and use, and all the records, both the most ancient and the more recent, are exposed to loss by fire, neglect, misuse or mutilation.

In many of the towns the earlier vital records, in some cases until after 1800, are entered on leaves of the volumes of Deeds, wherever the Clerk chose; sometimes in order of date, but without any regard to arrangement by families, and they are not indexed. This renders the task of searching difficult, uncertain and expensive.

Very few of these records have been printed in such a way that the loss of the originals would not be a grave and remediless disaster. Of 106 towns incorporated before 1800, the records of only fifteen have been printed verbatim, and even then not always completely. The records of about ten more towns have been partly printed in periodicals. In the volumes of town histories differing amounts of the records of about twenty towns appear beside, usually in the form of genealogies, but in some of the volumes the amount of records actually printed is very small. Upwards of sixty towns, including some of the oldest and historically most important in the state, have never had any part of their records printed. In many of these towns owing to the remoteness of the town from the railroad, the records are extremely difficult of access.

In view of the facts here very briefly reviewed, a communication was presented at the April, 1907, meeting of the Connecticut Historical Society asking that the matter of copying and printing the ancient vital records be referred to a committee for investigation and report. This committee made a report at the May meeting which was accepted and will be printed in full with the annual reports of the Society. Permission was given by the Society to this committee to issue a circular, to appeal to the members and to others for funds for the purpose of copying and printing records, and to carry on the work in accord with the plan indicated in the report.

The Committee is ready to begin the work of copying and printing, and hereby asks for subscriptions of money for this purpose. We estimate that five thousand dollars, together with the proceeds of all sales, will be sufficient to copy and print the records of all the old towns incorporated before 1800. In the printing of all records the arrangement, capitalization, punctuation, spelling, abbreviations, and figures will be strictly followed and references given to the volume and page of the original. Cemetery inscriptions and church records may be included, but will be printed verbatim and not combined with town records. We have been fortunate in securing without cost copies of the records of several towns, and will begin printing as soon as funds for the first volume are at hand. It is expected that at least one volume will appear during the present year. The towns whose records we can at present announce are Bolton, Chatham, Granby and Harwinton. Others are being arranged for.

All money received will be placed in the hands of the treasurer of the Connecticut Historical Society, to form a fund to be used for no other purpose than that of copying, printing, and binding the ancient vital records and inscriptions of Connecticut, and the proceeds of all sales will be added to the fund.

Contributions may be sent to Mr. Lucius B. Barbour, 130 Washington St., Hartford, or to Mr. Homer W. Brainard, 88 Kenyon St., Hartford, and will be acknowledged. Checks should be made payable to Mr. John E. Morris, treasurer of the Connecticut Historical Society.

Subscribers to the fund will have the privilege of purchase at a reduced rate.

The committee also appeal to the members of the Society and to others to acquaint them of any verbatim copies of ancient vital records that may be known to them, though at present unknown to the committee.

The committee serves without compensation, and will continue to do so until their work is completed, or until discharged by the Society.

PHILLIMORE'S PARISH REGISTER SERIES.—Arrangements have now been made to issue, in Phillimore's Parish Register Series, the Marriage Registers of Hertfordshire, edited by W. P. W. Phillimore, M.A., B.C.L. They will be printed and issued to Subscribers in similar style to the other volumes of the Series. Fifty subscribers are needed to justify a commencement, and orders should be addressed to the editor, 124 Chancery Lane, London, Eng.

HISTORY OF THE FIRST CHURCH IN ROXBURY.—A History of the First Church in Roxbury, 1630-1904, has been prepared by Walter Eliot Thwing, with an introduction by the Rev. James DeNormandie, D.D., the present Pastor of the Church. A chapter is devoted to the history of the five buildings of the Meeting House, giving a list of Pastors, Teachers, Ruling Elders, Deacons and Members. There are extended lives of John Eliot and Nehemiah Walter, early ministers, with shorter notices of prominent officers and members. In the chapter on the first Meeting House will be found an account of the gathering of the Church; and in that on the present one, a biographical list of pew holders since 1804, a history of the Communion Silver, of the Sunday School, of matters relating to Worship, the Musical Service and the various charitable undertakings of the Parish. The book will be in a limited edition for subscribers only. For particulars, address W. A. Butterfield, Publisher, 59 Bromfield Street, Boston, Mass.

SARGENT GENEALOGY.—Mrs. Joseph M. Alexander, 25 Curve St., Boston, Mass., has prepared a genealogy of the descendants of Lieut. Thomas<sup>3</sup> Sargent (Lieut. John,<sup>2</sup> Digory<sup>1</sup>) of Brattleboro, Vt. (see REGISTER, vol. 58, page 388), which will be published if sufficient subscriptions to defray the expense can be obtained.

ENGLISH RESEARCH.—The Committee on English Research, of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, begs to call attention to the desirability of reviving investigation concerning the English ancestry of the pioneers of New England. From 1883 to 1899, former Committees secured funds by which valuable researches among the wills of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in London were carried on by Henry F. Waters, Esq., the results of which were published in the REGISTER, giving clues which led to determining the ancestry of many of the early settlers of New England; but since Mr. Waters's work was relinquished, comparatively little has been accomplished by the Society in that direction.

The Committee now solicits funds for continuing research in England, on the ancestry of the early New England colonists, the results to appear in the REGISTER, and it would be glad to receive suggestions and information on this subject.

Clues, not generally known, as to the origin of several early emigrants, have come into the Committee's hands, and the Secretary of the Committee will be glad to give information to anyone who may desire to make investigations.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Abbott.—A. S. Abbott, Bethel, Ohio, is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of James Abbott, who was born in Somersetshire, Eng., and came to Long Island, about 1700, where he married and had five sons and two daughters. His son Daniel is believed to have settled in New England; another son, Benjamin, moved to Pa., and left a will, of which his father (James) was executor. Assistance is desired in tracing early generations.

Bennett.—Wesley Weyman, 80 Washington Sq., New York City, is preparing a genealogy of the descendants of Moses and Benjamin Bennett of Groton, Mass.

Clemence, Clemons, Clemens, Clemans, Clemmons, Clements, Clement.—Raymond E. Van Syckle, 610 Moffatt Bldg., Detroit, Mich., is compiling material for a genealogy of these families in America.

Miller.—Mrs. Sarah D. Cropley, Marblehead, Mass., is compiling a genealogy of Francis Miller of New York, and Annapolis Co., Nova Scotia, to be finished in 1909.

Monnet.—Mr. Orra E. Monnette, 406 Merchants Trust Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal., until recently of Toledo, Ohio, is compiling a genealogy of the Monnet family (variously spelled Monet, Monett, Monnett, etc.). The first emigrants to America were French Huguenot refugees, who came about 1700 and settled in Calvert Co., Md., descendants afterwards moving to Allegany Co., Md., and Hampshire Co., Va. (now West Virginia). From the latter place, one branch moved to Ross Co., Ohio, in 1803. The genealogy will include references to allied families of the name Schley, Osborn, Crabb, Hillary (Hilleary), Slagle (Von Schlegel), Saylor, Braucher, Schissler, Reichelderfer, Haganbach, Beatty, Kinnear, and Hull.

Ramsdell.—Wesley Weyman, 80 Washington Sq., New York, City, is preparing a genealogy of the descendants of Joseph Ramsdell of Lynn, Mass., and of Joseph Ramsdell of Plymouth, Mass., besides all other Ramsdell lines.

REPLIES TO QUERIES.

REBECCA NICHOLS (ante, vol. 61, page 310).—Rebecca Nichols who married, in 1664, Samuel House, Jr., of Scituate, Mass., was daughter of Thomas and Rebecca (Josselyn) Nichols of Hingham, Mass. See Lincoln's History of Hingham, vol. iii, page 84.

SUTHERLAND (ante, vol. 61, page 203).—Regarding the loyalty to Congress, during the Revolutionary war, of John Sutherland then living at Sutherland's Falls, Rutland Co., Vermont, the records of the Adjutant and Inspector General of the State of Vermont show that he served several terms as private and lieutenant in the Vermont troops during the Revolution; and his name appears on the Records of the Council of Safety (and of the Governor and Council) as a member in 1788.

The accusation appears in a lengthy article contained in a history of Rutland county published in 1886, which is utterly false and contradicted by official records.

He had the misfortune to have been a native of Dutchess County, N. Y., and to have gone to Vermont during the excitement over the settlement of the "Grants."

The writer of this reply is a great-grandson of John Sutherland, and familiar with the history of the Sutherland family from the first immigrant from Scotland to the present time. He was personally acquainted with four of the sons of John Sutherland, and frequently visited them and their families in Green County, Wis.

Nine generations are herè recorded, descending from William Ballard of Sanford Priors, Warwickshire, Eng., later of Lynn, Mass. Beckwith Notes. Number Six. Copyright, 1907, by ALBERT C. & EDWARD S. BECKWITH. Printed by and for the Compilers: Elkhorn, Wisconsin. 8vo. pp. ii.+78.

This number corrects a few errors in the preceding numbers and introduces some important newly-found facts of record which affect the interpretation of the previously printed material. The descendants of Matthew of New London and Lyme, Conn., receive the most attention.

Branchiana, being a partial account of the Branch Family in Virginia. By JAMES BRANCH CABELL. Printed by Whittet & Shepperson, Richmond, Va. 8vo. pp. 177. Illus.

This brief but interesting account is the more valuable since only a small edition has been printed for the purpose of correcting many errors that have been published concerning the family in the last twenty years. The author says he "endeavors but to make clear the direct ancestry of Thomas Branch of Petersburg and Richmond" and of his two wives. Type, paper and binding are excellent.

and a most valuable and useful book for any one interested in the family. The edition is limited to two hundred copies, nearly all of which are engaged. The volume is well indexed.

The History and Genealogy of the Cornish Families in America. By JOSEPH E. CORNISH of Boston, Mass. 1907. Boston: Geo. H. Ellis Co., Printers, 272 Congress Street. 1907. 8vo. pp. 349. Portraits. Price $2.50.

This genealogy gives an ample account of ten generations descended from James Cornish of Simsbury, Conn., as the author chooses to designate this migratory ancestor. The Plymouth branch receives due attention, and notice is also given to the families of the name found in Maine, Boston, Mass., Groton, Conn., New York, the South and England. Both the straightforward manner in which the material is presented and the conscientious effort for accuracy are exceedingly commendable, and the neat, substantial binding finishes a volume which is both attractive and helpful. There are two indices.

Foote Family, comprising the Genealogy and History of Nathaniel Foote of Wethersfield, Conn., and his descendants. Also a partial record of Descendants of Pasco Foote of Salem, Mass., Richard Foote of Stafford County, Va., and John Foote of New York City. Vol. 1. By ABRAM W. FOOTE. Please send additional family records, and corrections if any, also all correspondence regarding purchase or sale of this book, to A. W. Foote Co., Middlebury, Vermont. Marble City Press. The Tuttle Company. Rutland, Vermont. 1907. 4to. pp. 607. Illus.

Much gratitude is due the compiler for his commendable and painstaking labor in collecting and editing this extensive genealogy, which contains the record of more than seven thousand names. It is helpful to have the female branches carried out so well, and the biographical sketches, though condensed, are exceptionally comprehensive. Many portraits have been inserted, and there are two indexes. We wish that a work so deserving of long life and usefulness could have been printed on better paper.

Report of the First Meeting of the Foote Family Association of America at Wethersfield, Ct. June 5, 1907. 4to. pp. 16.

This gives a list of the officers of the association, its constitution and by-laws, and the addresses delivered at this meeting.

A Record of Descendants of Hezekiah Hoar of Taunton, Massachusetts, with an Historical Introduction by NORTON T. HOAR, Cleveland, Ohio. 1907. Privately Printed. 8vo. pp. 56.

This excellent genealogy, which is arranged on the REGISTER plan, gives a brief account of some of the descendants of Hezekiah Hoar who settled in Scituate as early as 1637. The introduction treats of the earliest records of the family, whose name was spelled Hoar, Hoard, Horr; and a map of that section of Massachusetts where the early descendants settled is very interesting. The work is good, and more of the same kind is desirable.

History of the Families Millingas and Millanges of Saxony and Normandy, comprising genealogies and biographies of their posterity surnamed Milliken, Millikin, Millikan, Millican, Milligan, Mulliken and Mullikin. A.D. 800—A.D. 1907. Containing names of thirty thousand persons, with copious notes on intermarried and collateral families, and abstracts of early land grants, wills, and other documents. Embellished with portraits, coats-of-arms, and views of family seats. Compiled by REV. GIDEON TIBBETTS RIDLON, SR., Kezar Falls, Maine. Journal Press, Lewiston, Me. Published by the Author. 1907. 8vo. pp. 846. Illus. Price, cloth, $5.00; sheep, $7.00; levant, $10.00. Address the author.

Widespread interest should surely be felt in this huge volume on the Milliken-Milligan family, since it contains records of the family as it is found in England, Scotland, Ireland, Canada, South Australia, Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, Tennessee, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas. There are lists of the college graduates and the clergymen of this family. The book is profusely illustrated, mostly with portraits, and has an index.

Moffatana Bulletin. An Occasional Publication. Vol. 1. No. 2. Published by GEORGE WEST MAFFET. Editor and Historian in Chief "The Clan Moffat in America." A Genealogy in Preparation. Lawrence, Kansas. 4to. pp. [6]. Illus.

Nicholas Mundy and descendants who settled in New Jersey in 1665. Compiled by Rev. EZRA F. MUNDY, of Metuchen, New Jersey. (Copy Rights Reserved.) Copyright, 1907, by E. F. M. Press of Bullock Printing Company, Lawrence, Kansas. 1907. 8vo. pp. 144+. Illus. Map. Price $3.00. Apply to Rev. Ezra F. Mundy, Lawrence, Kansas.

The most diligent search on the part of the compiler has led to the discovery of the descendants of Samuel, youngest of the twelve children of Nicholas. Since these records are so difficult to obtain, they should be all the more prized by the family they concern. The inscriptions from the old graveyard at Metuchen, N. J., add greatly to the interest of the volume, which is indexed.

Noyes-Gilman Ancestry. Being a series of Sketches, with a Chart of the Ancestors of Charles Phelps Noyes and Emily H. (Gilman) Noyes, his wife. St. Paul, Minnesota. Printed for the author by the Gilliss Press, New York. MCMVII. 4to. pp. xii.+467. Illus.

Mr. Charles P. Noyes has issued, for the benefit and pleasure of his children, this beautifully made and finely illustrated record of their direct ancestors. A fan-like chart in the front of the book shows all the families from which they are descended. Each branch has also a brief printed account, the most important notices being given to Rogers, Lord, Griffin, Robbins, Lippincott and Swift families. A bibliography, too seldom found in works of genealogical records, is useful for further investigation. The illustrations are portraits, views and facsimiles of autographs and documents. The press-work is exceptionally good.

Proceedings of the Reade Historical and Genealogical Association, with Papers on the Family History read at the First Three Annual Meetings. Boston: Printed for the Association. 1907. 8vo. pp. 52. Illus.

The subjects of the papers here reprinted are "The English Ancestry of William Reade of Weymouth," "The Possible Ancestry of Avis Deacon, the wife of William Reade of Weymouth, Mass.," and "Obadiah Read."

Lieut. Heman Rowlee (1746-1818) and his descendants. By WILLARD WINFIELD ROWLEE. Edition of 150 copies. Press of Andrus & Church, Ithaca, New York. 1907. 8vo. pp. 138. Illus. Price $3.50.

This useful genealogical and historical account of the descendants of Heman Rowlee of Orange County, N. Y., is distinguished by the fact that both male and female lines are carried down to the present day. An interesting table is given showing the 848 descendants both by families and generations. The illustrations are photographs and are unusually clear. Other families of the name of Rowlee who were early settlers in Orange County receive attention, and also many of the marriage alliances. The book is indexed, clearly printed on good paper, and tastefully bound in cloth.

The Sacketts of America, their Ancestors and Descendants, 1630-1907. By CHARLES H. WEYGANT, Newburgh, N. Y. 1907. 4to. pp. 553. Subscription price $5.00. Address the author.

This exceedingly comprehensive genealogy gives the record of more than thirteen thousand descendants of Simon Sackett who settled in Cambridge, Mass., and of his brother John of New Haven, Conn. The arduous task of gathering this material was begun more than thirty-five years ago, and has been gleaned from many family papers and ancient documents and manuscripts, as well as public records and printed books, making this the most valuable work that has ever been published on this family, and one which is absolutely indispensable to anyone interested in their history. The female lines receive full attention. An excellent index and good binding give a suitable finish to this useful volume.

The Shepardson Family. A Record of the Line of Samuel Shepardson, Guilford, Vermont. By FRANCIS WAYLAND SHEPARDSON, 5592 Kimbark Ave., Chicago, Ill. August 1, 1907. 8vo. pp. 16.

Samuel Shepardson was sixth in descent from Daniel of Charlestown, Mass. This well-compiled record of his descendants is arranged on the REGISTER plan.

The Shepardson Family. A Record of the Line of Zephaniah Shepardson, Guilford, Vermont. By JOHN EATON SHEPARDSON. September 1, 1907. 8vo. pp. 19.

The object in printing this partial record of the descendants of Zephaniah, who was fifth in descent from Daniel of Charlestown, Mass., was to secure against loss by fire the material already collected, and stimulate interest in completing it.

Spencer Family Record of the Springfield, Vt., and Evansville, Wis., Spencers. Descendants of Garrard Spencer of Haddam, Conn., Emigrant of 1630. By WILLIAM HENRY SPENCER. Illustrated. New York. Tobias R. Wright. 1907. 8vo. pp. 57.

To one interested in the history of the Spencer family this book will prove a boon, as it deals principally with those branches which settled in the West, and are for that reason usually inaccessible. The book is well printed on good paper, and has an index. The cloth binding is attractive.

The Varnums of Dracutt (in Massachusetts). A History of George Varnum, his son Samuel who came to Ipswich about 1635, and grandsons Thomas, John and Joseph, who settled in Dracutt, and their descendants. Compiled from Family Papers and Official Records. By JOHN MARSHALL VARNUM, of Boston. Boston: David Clapp & Son, Printers. 1907. 8vo. pp. 308. Illus.

Great credit is due to the patient compiler who has gathered and arranged, on the REGISTER plan, so exhaustive an account of eight generations of Varnums who sprang from George and descended as the title indicates. The unusual number of biographical sketches, contributed by selected writers, is a special feature of the work. Extracts from the Revolutionary Diary of Lieut. John Varnum of the fourth generation contain most interesting items on the trial of Tories, war news, and the question of slavery in Massachusetts. Some beautifully reproduced portraits, quaint silhouettes, maps, plans and facsimiles contribute much to the attractiveness and usefulness of this substantially bound volume, which is well indexed.

Charles E. Bolton. A Memorial Sketch. By his wife, SARAH K. BOLTON. Cambridge. The University Press. 1907. 8vo. pp. 118. Illus.

Charming as this sketch is, its author says "no writer could adequately portray the character and influence of one whose high ideals were a part of his daily life." Although a native of Massachusetts, descended from old New England families, Mr. Bolton spent much of his life in the West, and made his home during the latter part of his life in East Cleveland, Ohio, where he was chosen mayor of that city and did much for its advance and improvement. All through his life he had a wide circle of loyal, affectionate friends who were attracted by his warm, generous, happy nature, and many tributes of their appreciation of his fine character are added to the account of his life.

A brief memorial sketch of this resident of Lake Mills, Wis., is given in this leaflet.

Samuel Carey, Participant in the Massacre of Wyoming, July 3, 1778, and six years a prisoner with the British and Indians. Compiled by JOHN MINER CAREY MARBLE, whose great-great-grandfather was Samuel Carey's father. 12 mo. pp. 21.

This brief account of Samuel Carey traces his ancestry to the Careys of Bridgewater, Mass., and gives a thrilling account of his capture by the Indians, and his long service as a prisoner.

Lemuel Cox, Bridge Builder and Inventor, 1736-1806. By WALTER KENDALL WATKINS. Malden, Mass. Printed for the Author, 1907. 8vo. pp. 26.

In the town of Boston the problems of the early bridge-builder were not inconsiderable, and the erection of the first bridge between Charlestown and Boston was due largely to the ingenuity of Lemuel Cox. A complete and detailed account of this eccentric genius is here given by Mr. Watkins, with his usual careful accuracy.

John Harvard and His Times. By HENRY C. SHELLEY. With illustrations from photographs. Boston. Little, Brown, and Company. 1907. 8vo. pp. 331. Illus. Price $2.00.

It is eminently fitting that the year 1907 should witness the publication of the first and only volume on the life of John Harvard. Mr. Shelley, himself an Englishman, devotes a long opening chapter to the condition of England at the time of his birth. He has taken the information gleaned concerning John Harvard by Mr. Henry FitzGilbert Waters, at the instance of this Society, and has woven about it a fabric partly of fact and partly of fiction, using to the greatest possible advantage every scrap of actual data, and skilfully and astutely filling the gaps in the meagre record left by this great founder with passages from contemporary lives more fully recorded, thereby making a very interesting story of John Harvard's probable daily life in London, Cambridge, and New England. The excellent illustrations and large clear type cannot but add to the popularity of this beautifully-bound volume.

Memorial Observances of George Frisbie Hoar. By City of Worcester. Printed by order of the City Council. Worcester, Massachusetts. MCMVII. 8vo. pp. 34. Portraits.

The discriminating, adequate and eloquent eulogy on Senator Hoar by John W. Daniel, Senator from Virginia, which was delivered in Worcester, Mass., is here printed in full, together with the other remarks made on that occasion, and the program of the memorial services. A portrait of Senator Hoar and one of Senator Daniel are included in the book and add to its interest.

A Narrative of the Captivity of Mrs. Johnson. Reprinted from the third edition, published at Windsor, Vermont, 1814, with all corrections and additions. The H. R. Hunting Company, Springfield, Massachusetts. MCMVII. 16mo. pp. 194. Illus. Price $3.00 and $5.00. Address the publishers.

An excellent series of reprints of histories of Indian Captivities is to be brought out by these publishers, printed on an all-rag paper, in uniform style. This initial volume is most attractive, has been carefully edited, and supplied with a historical introduction. The frontispiece is a reproduction of the title-page of the first edition of 1796. A photograph of the stones which commemorate Mrs. Johnson's captivity, which she herself had erected in Vermont, also appears.

Address and Poem read at Bowdoin College, June 26, 1907, in Commemoration of the centenary of the birth of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow of the Class of 1825. Brunswick, Maine: Published by the College, 1907. 8vo. pp. 35.

We are glad to see in print the charming address by Prof. Henry Leland Chapman, D.D., of the Class of 1866, and the fine poem by Rev. Samuel Valentine Cole, D.D., of the Class of 1874.

Col. Henry Ludington. A Memoir. By WILLIS FLETCHER JOHNSON, A.M., L.H.D. With portraits, views, facsimiles, etc. Printed by his Grandchildren Lavinia Elizabeth Ludington and Charles Henry Ludington. New York. 1907. 8vo. pp. 235.

This charming, simple memoir of a gallant officer of the militia during the Revolutionary War is most refreshing in its straightforward account of an honorable military career, a subject too often tiresomely inflated by writers. Col. Ludington had active service in New York, and many orders, letters and documents are given in full in tracing the events of his career. Several commissions are reproduced, and maps and illustrations are tastefully introduced. A few portraits are also included, and it is regrettable that none could be found of the subject of this memoir. An index, clear print, good paper and handsome binding add to the pleasures of this desirable volume.

Henry Clay Payne. A Life. Milwaukee: Burdick and Allen, Printers, 1907. 8vo. pp. 196. Portrait.

This memorial of a distinguished and beloved gentleman, whose position as Postmaster-General of the United States brought to the notice of the country he served his admirable ability and unusual genius as an organizer, is an exceptionally well-compiled and interesting account of a busy, active and useful life. His winning personality and loyalty of affection won for him many lasting friendships. Perhaps the most interesting of all the tributes here recorded are those from his political opponents, whose admiration of the man was won by his sterling character. The book is indexed, and in every particular is a fine specimen of the book-maker's art.

An Address delivered by Henry A. M. Smith at the Unveiling of the Monument to General Thomas Sumter at Statesburgh, S. C., August 14, 1907. Walker, Evans & Cogswell Co., Printers, Nos. 3 and 5 Broad Street and 117 East Bay Street, Charleston, S. C. 8vo. pp. 73.

About one hundred families have been selected by the Editor for consideration in his magazine. The Frost family is sketched in this opening number and is profusely illustrated with many portraits.

Mattapoisett and Old Rochester, Massachusetts, Being a history of these towns and also in part of Marion and a portion of Wareham. Prepared under the direction of a Committee of the town of Mattapoisett. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. 12mo. pp. 424. Illus. Price $2.00. Apply to the Grafton Press, 70 Fifth Ave., New York City.

It is most creditable that this interesting and well-published history was the first act toward the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the incorporate existence of the town of Mattapoisett. Naturally much of it relates to the mother-town of Rochester, and that narration is ably handled by Mary Hall Leonard. The value of the book is greatly increased by the publication of the baptisms and marriages from the records of the Second Church of Rochester, the list of Rochester soldiers and sailors, and several other papers of Revolutionary date. Excellent illustrations, some interesting maps, and a good index are to be found in this volume, which is a fine example of the book-making done by the Grafton Press.

It is to be hoped that this Historical Society will continue to publish an account of its life and the addresses delivered in its presence. This number contains articles on Middlesex County ancient and modern. Col. De Maresquelles, Mrs. Sarah W. Francis, Gen. James M. Varnum, Daniel Webster, and Rev. John Fiske of Wenham and Chelmsford. One of the three services which commemorated this anniversary was devoted to the civic and historical side of the church, the most notable feature of which was an address by John Albee, Esq., on the old Colonial communion service owned by the church, telling of its workmanship and its donors. There is also a picture of this beautiful silver. The programs of all three services, and the addresses then delivered, are printed here in full, also a list of the pastors and officers of the church. The illustrations are most interesting.

The direct tax of 1798 for Nantucket is still in existence, and gives not only all the streets and ways of that period, but also designates the owners of three hundred houses and localities. This list is to be given entire with notes and explanations, and the first instalment here printed shows the great value this publication will be to genealogists. The illustrations are views of old houses, well reproduced from good photographs.

A view of the interior of the church adorns the cover of this little pamphlet, which contains the service used at the unveiling of the tablet, and also a brief abstract of a paper on the life of the Rev. Charles Chauncy, which was to be read before the East Herts Archæological Society, and which has been printed in full in the Harvard Graduates Magazine. Miss Chase is a descendant of the Rev. Charles Chauncy.

Williamsburg, The Old Colonial Capital. By LYON GARDINER TYLER, LL.D., President of the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia. Richmond, Virginia: Whittet & Shepperson, Publishers and Printers. Price $2.50. Address Lyon G. Tyler, Williamsburg, Virginia. 8vo. pp. 285. Illus.

This, the first serious and comprehensive narrative of one of the most historical cities in the original thirteen colonies, deserves an appreciative welcome from students, and also offers to the intelligent public a most entertaining and interesting account of this "old cradle of the American Revolution." It was here that Patrick Henry first made his patriotic and stirring orations, and here began the planting of a college in the wilderness of Virginia which finally became the College of William and Mary, a most complete record of which is here given, with many portraits of her famous men. Several old maps of great historical value are reproduced, and the ancient church of Bruton receives fitting notice. Williamsburg was the home of the first American theatre and the first hospital for the insane; in fact, a record of all its notable achievements is to be found in this well-printed and pleasing volume.

Historic Homes and Institutions, and Genealogical and Personal Memoirs of Worcester County, Massachusetts, with a History of Worcester Society of Antiquity. Prepared under the editorial supervision of ELLERY BICKNELL CRANE. Illustrated. New York, Chicago: The Lewis Publishing Company. 1907. 4to. 4 vols. xvi.+554; 457; 404; 422.

Worcester County may well be congratulated on the publication of this monumental history, which chronicles the lives of the men who have given her a foremost position in the Commonwealth. Senator Hoar heads the long list, and the account of his life begins with the genealogy of his family in his particular line, then tells of his education and famous career. This method is followed in all the sketches, and the genealogist will be delighted with the data recorded here. Five pages in the first volume are devoted to the history of the Worcester Society of Antiquity, whose librarian and editor, Mr. Crane, has had supervision of this work. The fine illustrations, nearly all portraits, are very numerous, and each volume is separately indexed. Full leather bindings give a handsome finish to these volumes, which are indispensable in any library of reference.

Seventy-Second Annual Report of the Industrial Aid Society. October, 1907. Boston: G. A. Henneberry, Printer. 8vo. pp. 19.

This pamphlet contains the list of officers, the by-laws, and lists of subscribers to the Society's funds.

The Athenæum Centenary. The Influence and History of the Boston Athenæum, From 1807 to 1907. With a record of its Officers and Benefactors and a complete list of Proprietors. Printed from the Income of the Robert Charles Billings Fund. The Boston Athenæum, 1907. 8vo. pp. 236. Illus.

While the privileged reader of the Athenæum may fully enjoy its present capacity for usefulness and pleasure, his appreciation of the mellow fruit of a hundred years' growth is usually restricted to an emotional thrill of satisfaction in its quiet, dignified yet cordial, atmosphere, rather than an intelligent understanding of the part it has actually played in fostering Boston's "culture" and developing the literature of New England. Prof. Barrett Wendell has contributed a delightful essay on the influence of the Athenæum on American literature, and Mr. Bolton, the present librarian, has given a detailed account of its history, describing also the permanent funds, special collections, and gifts and bequests. Most of the illustrations are portraits, beautifully reproduced, and every detail of the volume is in keeping with the honorable career it here records.

Publications of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts. Volume IX. Collections. Printed at the charge of the Robert Noxon Toppan Fund. Boston: Published by the Society. 1907. 8vo. pp. xvii.+527.

There is always a welcome waiting for anything the Colonial Society issues in its Collections, as something of entertainment, instruction and value can surely be found therein. This number will be a necessary volume of reference for every historical researcher, and indispensable to librarians, as it contains a check list of the Boston newspapers from 1704 to 1780, most accurately and carefully prepared by Miss Mary Farwell Ayer. The bibliographical notes by Mr. Albert Matthews contain the most complete and comprehensive history of Boston newspapers that has yet appeared in print. Even the devices which appeared on the different issues are carefully described. The analytical index, always found in these Collections, closes a volume that is a fine example of the high standard maintained by this Society.

Bibliographical Notes on Boston Newspapers, 1704-1780. By ALBERT MATTHEWS. Reprinted from the Publications of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts. Vol. IX. Cambridge: John Wilson and Son, University Press. 1907. 8vo. pp. 11+403-527.

As the title states, this is a reprint from the Colonial Society's Publication on Boston newspapers, which is noticed above. Not only as a work of reference are these Notes valuable, but the wealth of detail contained therein makes them exceedingly interesting to any reader of the Colonial period. The index, most fortunately, is included in the reprint.

1607-1907. A Descriptive Catalogue of The Massachusetts Exhibit of Colonial Books at the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition. Privately Printed. Boston. 1907. 8vo. pp. 78.

The use and great value of this catalogue, which was printed at the expense of Mr. Frederick Lewis Gay, is greatly increased by the careful bibliographical and descriptive notes of Mr. George E. Littlefield.

The Massachusetts Colonial Loan Exhibit at the Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition. 1607-1907. Boston: Wright and Potter Printing Company, State Printers, 18 Post Office Square. 1907. 8vo. pp. 107.

The furniture, china, silver, jewelry, books, manuscripts, autographs, portraits, engravings, miniatures, laces, samplers and fans loaned for display are here briefly described and enumerated.

The Massachusetts Building, Hampton Roads, Virginia, Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition. 1607-1907. The Old State House in Boston Reproduced. 12mo. pp. 31. Illus.

A general catalogue of the entire exhibit in the Massachusetts Building follows a description of the building itself, which is here photographed, and a list of those serving on the Board of Jamestown Exposition Managers for Massachusetts.

History of the Fiftieth Regiment of Infantry, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, in the late War of the Rebellion. By WILLIAM B. STEVENS, a member of Co. C. Boston: Griffith-Stillings Press. 1907. 8vo. pp. xii.+399. Illus.

Although it was not expected by the modest, conscientious author that this volume would be of public interest, as it was written especially for the regiment, yet there seems to be much of permanent worth which will increase in value and historic usefulness as the years go by, and it becomes necessary to resort to the printed records of the experiences of the men who served in the Civil War in order to get the personal note and atmosphere of those days. The roster of the companies follows an account of their former activities, extracts from diaries, the life of General Dudley, and an appendix of miscellaneous incidents. The book is indexed, well printed, and suitably bound in blue cloth.

Revolutionary Pension Declarations, Strafford County, N. H., 1820-1832. Comprising Sketches of Soldiers of the Revolution, Compiled from the Court Records by LUCIEN THOMPSON, Durham, N. H. Printed for Private Circulation by William Lincoln Palmer, Cambridge, Mass., August, 1907. Reprinted from the Granite State Monthly for August, 1907. Manchester, N. H. The Ruemely Press, Printers, 1907. Price 25 cents. 8vo. pp. 35.

These valuable papers, which had lain for years unindexed and unknown in the Court House at Dover, N. H., were discovered accidentally by Mr. Palmer and Mr. Thompson while they were making a genealogical investigation. The records of more than seventy-five Revolutionary soldiers are here printed, and further information, as well as the pamphlet, may be obtained from either of the above-named gentlemen. It is hoped that they will continue to find and put into circulation such valuable and useful discoveries.

Proceedings at the Twenty-seventh Annual Meeting and Twenty-seventh Annual Festival of The New England Society in the City of Brooklyn. Officers, Directors, Members, and Standing Committees of the Society. Borough of Brooklyn. 1907. 8vo. 72.

The necrology of the Society precedes the addresses delivered at the annual dinner and a list of those present.

A Journey in the Back Country In the Winter of 1853-4. By FREDERICK LAW OLMSTED. [Originally Issued in 1860.] In Two Volumes. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, 27 and 29 W. 23d Street. London, 24 Bedford Street, Strand. The Knickerbocker Press. 1907. 8vo. pp. 281; 284.

The first conscious purpose in the preparation of this work was to obtain and report the facts of ordinary life at the South, most of which were the objects of personal observation. The author states that the work has been very slightly changed from its earlier edition, which was announced for publication in 1857, and was then entitled "Seaboard Slave States" and a "Journey in Texas." The typographical part of this edition has been well done, and there is an excellent index.

Barberry Bushes and Wheat, by ANDREW MCFARLAND DAVIS. Reprinted from The Publications of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Vol. XI. Cambridge: John Wilson & Son. University Press. 1907. 8vo. pp. 73-94.

This valuable little article was written as a sort of supplement to one of the chapters in Prof. Kittredge's recently published work "The Old Farmer and his Almanack."

ROBERT THAXTER SWAN.

By LAURA PRENTICE SWAN.

ROBERT THAXTER SWAN was born in Dorchester, Massachusetts, May 6, 1843, and died in Brookline, July 26, 1907. He was the son of Samuel Swan and Elizabeth Barker Cushing, both of Dorchester. His father was a teacher, and for many years principal in the public schools of Boston. His mother died at the time of his birth, but, more fortunate than many others, he did not lack for a mother's care, which was given him by his mother's sister as if he were her own son, and for her he always felt the tenderest love and devotion.

He commenced his education in the public schools of Dorchester, and at the age of thirteen went to a private school at Eagleswood, N. J. From this school, unique in its way and startlingly progressive for those days, there graduated at that time many whose influence in literature, reform, and philanthropy was far reaching.

In 1859 he was employed in the firm of Denny, Rice and Company in Boston, whose business was wool and woolen goods. Here he remained until 1868. He commenced work as a boy, but by his honesty and faithfulness he was gradually given positions of greater responsibility, and traveled for the firm through the sheep raising districts of the West for consignments of wool, and while in Boston had the management of the wool department in his charge. Because of ill health, owing to overwork, he relinquished his position in the fall of 1868, and spent nearly a year abroad.

During the Civil War, at the time of the draft riot in Boston in July, 1863, he joined the 44th Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers for the occasion; and in 1864 he enlisted, but being hardly more than of age, at the solicitation of his father, whose only child he was, he withdrew his name, and from his own purse paid for and sent a substitute, July 13, 1864. On March 21, 1865, he was chosen Corporal of Company A, 2d Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Militia (Lawrence Rifles), and on August 26th of that year became its treasurer.

Upon his return from the year spent in travel he went into the lumber business, where he remained for a few years, gaining health and strength from the out-of-door life.

On February 15, 1870, in Boston, he married Laura Prentice Crane, daughter of Joshua Crane and Lucy Young Prentice of Boston.

He became Clerk of the Municipal Court of Dorchester in July, 1873, holding that office until it was abolished in April, 1879; was appointed Enumerator for the United States Census in May, 1880, and in June of that year became Chief Special Agent of the United States Census in charge of the Manufacturing Statistics of Boston; elected Representative to the General Court from Dorchester, in the fall of 1881, and served on important committees during his term of service; became Secretary of the Boston and Arizona Smelting and Reduction Company in December, 1881, and in the fall of 1882 visited and inspected the mill and works of the company in Arizona; appointed Chief of the Division of Enumeration and Agriculture for the Massachusetts State Census in May, 1885; and in 1888 was appointed Secretary of the Commission on Public Records of Parishes, Towns and Counties, and on July 5, 1889, was made Commissioner, by Gov. Ames.

On June 7, 1892, he was appointed the first Commissioner of Public Records, under the legislative act passed that year. This office he held at the time of his death, having been in turn appointed for three years by Governors Russell, Greenhalge, Wolcott, Crane, Bates, and Guild.

As can be seen, his was a busy life, always interested in the public welfare; always ready to be the hard worker on all committees in whose duties he was called upon to take part. From the time he was chosen captain of the Boat Club at the Eagleswood School, he held, all his life, prominent positions in whatever organization he was a member. As treasurer, secretary, or delegate, on all committees, such as on Charity and Reform, or Public Health and Safety, he was always found to be wise and efficient.

He was a member of Union Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, from 1868, and its Secretary for nine years; a member of St. Stephen's Royal Arch Chapter, from 1871, and its Secretary for nineteen years; for many years a member of the Channing Club, Unitarian Club, New England Historic Genealogical Society, Bostonian Society, Twentieth Century Club, Brookline Historical Society, Director of the Associated Charities of Boston, President of the Dorchester Branch of the Associated Charities, and founder of the Dorchester Employment and Relief Society; also, Trustee of the Franklin Savings Bank, a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, a member also of the Society of Colonial Wars, on whose Council he was, and its historian from 1896 until 1903, when he declined a renomination. He was an earnest member of the American Historical Association, at whose annual meeting in Washington in 1903 he read a paper on the work of the preservation of the Public Records in the State of Massachusetts.

All his life he attended the First Parish Unitarian Church, Meeting House Hill, Dorchester, a church whose history dates from 1630, the time of the settlement of the town, and no one ever treasured its ancient traditions more than he.

At the time of his death he was in the midst of translating the old Indian records of the town of Natick.

The sterling qualities of his character made him beloved by all those who knew him best and who met him in the daily walks of life. A keen appreciation of humor made him an ever welcome and cheery companion, and many can testify to his quiet and unobtrusive generosity. He was an honest, upright and loyal citizen, a trusted friend, and a true and gracious gentleman. But it is as the first Commissioner of Public Records of Massachusetts, the first State to make such an office, that he will be more generally known and his influence felt for all time. No better way, perhaps, could be chosen to show the public regard for him than to give quotations from the press, written at the time of his death.

From one source came these words:—

“He was the first and only Commissioner of public records the State ever had. He was exceptionally well-fitted for his peculiar duties, and had a large sense of the importance of the original records of plantation, town and city. Many towns and cities owe it to his intelligence and personal interest in their affairs that they still have in possession, and in far better preservation than before his office was created, their valuable early records. The use of special vaults and safes, the careful use of transparent silk for keeping strong and sound the decaying records of former days, the adoption of the most indelible inks for public service, and various other details of his office received thorough attention from him. He was conscientious and painstaking in his service to the state, thoroughly honest, and reliable in the extreme, accommodating and gentlemanly in his relations, single-eyed for the public benefit, and an ideal official. He exerted himself for longer terms for city and town clerks, that these important offices might not be the spoil of politics, and he always labored unselfishly for the honesty and efficiency of the public service.”

Another notice had this heading, “A Faithful Servant,” and read:—

“The death of Robert T. Swan, who had admirably filled the office of State Commissioner of public records for nearly a score of years, is a grievous loss to the public service. Mr. Swan not only discharged the duties of his office with rare intelligence and fidelity, but he had a faculty of impressing public officials generally with a deeper sense of the importance of preserving and protecting their records from the danger of destruction by fire and from the greater peril of careless and slipshod methods of handling them. It is simple truth to say that the better care of our public records now maintained throughout the state is chiefly due to the manner in which Mr. Swan conducted his office.”

From another notice these words :—

“Mr. Swan has administered the office with such intelligent fidelity as to render it difficult to find a man competent for the succession. He created and dignified the office, and the work he has done by quiet and inexpensive methods has produced results which are well known to all persons who appreciate the inestimable value of the prevention from destruction, by time or fire, of the records of the towns and cities of the state. The office has become a model for other states.”

From another :—

“In the death of Robert T. Swan, the late Commissioner of public records, the state loses a highly valuable servant. He was the pioneer in this department, for he was the only one who ever filled the position. He had to blaze the way for his successors, and he did it so well that now the state has a standard of service which, if realized by future Commissioners, will give the state large protection for its valuable records. Cities and towns all over the state are under deep obligation to Mr. Swan, and it is to be hoped that a worthy successor will be found.”

From another :—

“It may truly be said that to Robert T. Swan’s perseverance and persistence so many of Massachusetts’ records of the past are preserved and will always be safe from fire and other perils. It took him years to impress on the officials and the public the need of protection. But when he went it was with a sense of duty accomplished.”

Another quotation, which commenced with “This kind-hearted, public-spirited man,” contained the same expressions of appreciation of his character and work that are to be found in the others.

As has been said in the foregoing, he adopted the use of permanent inks for all records, and published a pamphlet on the necessity of the use of such ink. He also adopted the use of transparent silk for the better protection of the ancient records, and urged the towns to make generous use of this method as far as their treasures would permit.

He had more than once reached a town just in time to save from the paper mill barrels of papers, among which were found revolutionary muster rolls and other documents invaluable to the town and to the early history of the state.

Perhaps his interest in public affairs can best be shown by relating that, after his death, it became known that he was the man who contributed the money necessary to defray the expense of bringing before the legislature the matter of taking Sugar Loaf Mountain in the Deerfield Valley for a state reservation. Mr. Swan volunteered to aid in this work, and sent a check which was used to defray the small expenses incurred, but refused to let it be known that he had been the contributor of the money, although he had no objection to its being published in the event of a favorable vote. Since his death, the making public of this fact seemed warranted. Sugar Loaf Mountain was saved.

There are those who doubt that inheritance has much to do with character, but it is not difficult to believe that his excessive fondness for and faculty for interesting children, and their strong attraction to and love for him, was a direct inheritance of the ability for understanding child nature which was the reason of the success of his father and uncles, so many years well-known and valued teachers in the public schools of Boston.

From a line of eminent physicians and surgeons among his ancestors, as far back as 1756, have come the tenderness and wisdom he showed in the care of the sick and helpless, and the patience and courage and unselfish endurance in his own lingering illness.

In all sudden crises of danger he was always in the midst, cool and self-possessed, lending a helping hand where most needed, and with wisdom controlling and directing. This power, combined with his remarkable ability to control and direct a body of men, may be traced back to those ancestors of colonial and revolutionary days, many of whom held positions, both civil and military, when force of character, strength and persistency of purpose, and force of will, gained many a hard fight in the days of our early history.

He was a thoroughly religious man, with great humility living his life accordingly, a faithful son, and a most devoted husband. He has left a beloved and honored name.

SHAKER RECORDS OF ENFIELD, N. H.

Communicated by FRANKLIN P. RICE, Esq., of Worcester, Mass.

IN May, 1895, while pursuing an investigation of the subject of communism in the United States, I passed ten days at the Shaker settlement in Enfield, N. H., where I was cordially entertained in the Office Building by the Trustees, Caroline Witcher and John Bradford, and their associates. I was favorably impressed by the evidences of thrift and good order which characterized the affairs of the community, and by the intelligence and kindness of the members, to several of whom I am indebted for attention and information. It was my good fortune to meet the late Elder Abraham Perkins, who had come over from the Canterbury community for a brief visit. He was then in his eighty-eighth year, in vigor of mind and body, and in appearance and manner reminded me of my old time friend, the Rev. George Allen of Worcester. From him I received many facts and statements of interest in relation to the belief and policy of his people, and I have a lasting and very pleasant memory of my brief acquaintance with him. During my stay at the settlement I was kindly allowed by the Trustees to make a copy of the record of members and of the deaths, and this I now send to the REGISTER for preservation.—F. P. R.

ORDINATION OF RICHARD BOURNE BY JOHN ELIOT AND JOHN COTTON,

RICHARD BOURNE, MISSIONARY TO THE MASHPEE INDIANS.

By MARY FARWELL AYER.

In January, 1634, there appeared on a list of passengers bound for St. Christopher and the Barbadoes the name of "Richard Borne," at that time a young man twenty-four years old.* We know nothing of his ancestry. We do not even know from what part of England he came, although we would like to believe that he was connected with some of the prominent families bearing the same name in Lancaster.† On the passenger list was another of the same name, Thomas Borne, but we cannot even trace a relationship between the two men.

The plan for emigrating to the Barbadoes was later abandoned, for we find some of the passengers settled before long in Lynn. In 1637, many removed from this town to Cape Cod and founded the town of Sandwich.

Others from Duxbury and Plymouth soon joined the new settlement, among whom was Richard Bourne. Before long he became a man of prestige in the new settlement, for references to him abound in the Records of Plymouth Colony. Tradition asserts that he was a man of wealth. He served on many committees, and for several years was deputy to the Plymouth Court. He also served as a surveyor of highways, as a receiver of oil for Sandwich, as one of a committee to buy lands at Falmouth and Yarmouth from the Indians. The high esteem in which he was held is shown from the fact that on one occasion a woman was ordered to be whipped for speaking evil of him.‡

He was twice married; by his first wife, Bathsheba, daughter of Andrew Bartlett, he had four sons: Job, Shearjashub, Elisha and Ezra. The first three left a numerous posterity; of the youngest, Ezra, however, nothing is known beyond the fact of his birth, in 1648, and he probably died young.

In 1677, he married at an advanced age, for a second wife, Mrs. Ruth Winslow.§

For many years Richard Bourne and Thomas Tupper carried on the religious exercises in Sandwich. Although having separate congregations, it was decided that, as there were so few to attend, it was not wise to have two services, but that the minister for the day should be the one having the larger congregation. The two congregations finally united under the administrations of a certain Mr. Smith.||

* Hotten's Lists of Emigrants. Of the one hundred and three passengers, only two were over forty years old. All the passengers were men.

† Several of the name had held positions of prominence. Sir John Bourne was Secretary of State under Queen Mary. His nephew Gilbert was bishop of Bath and Wells.

‡ Plymouth Records, Vol. 3, p. 96. The execution was respited.

§ On one occasion he was fined for having in his possession three unringed pigs. This is the nearest to a censure of him I have been able to find.

|| Richard Bourne's love letters to Mrs. Winslow have been published in the New England Magazine for 1900, p. 113. After his death, she married for a third husband Elder John Chipman.

Ever since his settlement in Sandwich, Mr. Bourne had always taken great interest in the Indians living in the vicinity. A few miles from Sandwich is a tract of land about ten miles long and five miles wide, the Mashpee Reservation, which had been reserved especially for these so-called "South Sea Indians." The original grant I have been unable to find, either in the State Archives or at Barnstable, but it is said to have been obtained through the efforts of Richard Bourne, after 1660. In 1672, this grant was confirmed before John Alden by Quachatasset.*

The ruling elders always endeavored to have the rights of these Indians protected. As early as 1658 we find an Indian complaining that horses belonging to certain inhabitants of Sandwich had eaten his corn. An order was forthwith issued that those owning the horses must give restitution.†

The first mention of Mashpee in connection with Bourne was in October, 1654, when he made a request for some land at Mashpee pond, together with ten acres of meadow.‡ The following July he was granted a right to the upland meadow at Mashpee pond "provided hee doe it with the concent of the Indians to whom it belongeth."§ On June 13, 1660, liberty was granted Richard Bourne and Thomas Tupper to look up lands for their accommodation towards the South Sea "and that then a competency wilbee graunted by Court." The following March he chose some lands above Sandwich and also a meadow in Mashpee. According to a deed dated May 17, 1661, the land bought in Sandwich cost him £15. It was purchased under order of October 2, 1660. June 4, 1661, when the deed was confirmed, it was stated that the Court also granted Mr. Bourne a parcel of meadow at Mashpee, one half to belong to him and his heirs forever—the other half to be used by him until the Court object.||

From this time on, the life of Richard Bourne was closely allied to that of the Mashpee Indians. For carrying on his evangelical work he received a certain compensation from the Corporation for Propagating the Gospel in New England, a corporation established in London, doubtless largely through the influence of Edward Winslow, at that time acting as agent for the Plymouth Colony in London.¶ This Company, which had been established in 1649, bore the name "The President and Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in New England." It consisted of a president, treasurer, and fourteen assistants. The £12,000 collected in England and Wales was spent in purchasing landed property at Eriswell, Suffolk,** and a farm at Plumstead, Kent; also, property in London.†† The rents received were to be paid through the treasurer of the Commissioners of the United Colonies in New England to missionaries among the Indians. The Corporation also paid for publishing the Indian Bible and religious tracts, besides erecting necessary mission houses. The church at Mashpee was paid for in this way.

John Eliot refers to Sandwich "Where my beloved brother, Mr. Bourne, is a faithful and prudent labourer and a good man." The following statement is written below: "To Mr. Richard Bourne in Plymouth Collonie £30."

†† William M. Venning. Origin of the New England Company.

With the Restoration, in 1660, the Corporation became defunct for a short time, but a new charter was obtained the following year under the name of "The Company for Propagation of the Gospell in New England, and the Parts adjacent in America." The company was limited to forty-five members, the first forty-five being named in the charter. Among these members were to be found both Dissenters and Churchmen.* Robert Boyle, brother of the Earl of Cork, was the first president, and proved a staunch friend to the Indian cause.† It may be interesting to know that this society is still in existence, and that Henry H. Edes, Esq., of Boston, has written an account of the Corporation, "which is often referred to by historical writers under many variants from its legal name," in the Transactions of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts (Vol. 6, pages 180-184).

Richard Bourne is first mentioned in connection with this Society in 1657, when it was stated that he and five others would probably receive a salary of £150.‡ The only direct information we have from Bourne himself is found in a letter written in 1674 to Daniel Gookin. He mentions different places on the Cape where "Praying Indians" were to be found, but dwells especially on those living at Mashpee. He makes a special plea for books, no doubt to carry on his educational work among the hundred or more children under his care. He goes on to state that among the Indians there was but one gathered church, "and ninety persons, baptized; besides yet in full communion, twenty-seven. For Englishmen that are employed in the work, that respects this account, there is only myself. Mr. John Cotton is employed in another part of the Colony."§ Four Indians were employed with him in carrying on this work, besides others called on from time to time. These assistants had not as yet received any salary from the honored Commissioners because of the miscarrying of his letter.

At the dedication of Richard Bourne's Indian church were present Governor Winslow, several of the magistrates, seven teaching elders, besides messengers from the different churches. It was estimated that there were five hundred persons in attendance. It was not long before Bourne petitioned the General Court to allow six Indians to have chief inspection, under his supervision, over the Reservation. He also asked that one of the number be appointed constable.|| Such rapid strides were made in the education of these Indians that a convention was held in 1666 at Mashpee to determine whether or not they were entitled to church membership. The Indians made their confession of faith, which met with the approval of the Governor, John Eliot, magistrates and ministers of Plymouth Colony.¶ Before committing themselves, they ordered the confession to be written out and sent to all the churches in the colony for their approbation. As no dissent was reported, the Indians were, in 1670, admitted into church fellowship,

† "After the Revolution the New England Colonies were declared independent, so the Company could no longer carry on work there. In compliance with its charter, in 1786 it took up work in New Brunswick, which was carried on until 1804. That line of work proving unsuccessful, the Company in 1822 started missionary enterprises in British America." William M. Venning. Origin of the New England Company.

under the ministrations of Mr. Bourne. The following extract is taken from the records of the First Church in Plymouth :

“In this year, 70 ; Mr. Richard Bourne of Sandwich sent to the chh for messengers to take notice of the fitness of sundry Indians to gather into a chh at Mashpau. The Pastor, Elder and Secretary Morton were sent thither, Elders and messengers of many other chhs were there also, the Indians after confessions &c. were gathered into a chh, Mr. Bourne chosen and ordained their Pastor, all the chhs present approving thereof ; old Mr. Eliot and our Pastor (John Cotton) laid on hands.”

Their pastor must have won their respect and admiration, for in 1671 a declaration was drawn up by the Indians declaring that they would submit to the government and would promise to reveal any plots made against the colonies.

The date of death of this faithful missionary is uncertain, although the fact that letters of administration were granted to Shearjashub and Elisha Bourne in 1682 to administer their father's estate leads us to believe that it occurred about that time.

A copy of the settlement of his estate, and an inventory, may be found in the Probate Office in Barnstable. The children of his son Job, deceased, were to have the house and land he lived on (appraised at £300) and twenty acres of land lying at a place called “ye great hollow”—to be divided by the Court after the decease of his widow Ruth. The remainder of his estate was to go to his sons Elisha and Shearjashub. In the inventory his books are valued at £3. 10s.; a servant boy at £8.; cash at £18. 14s.; moveables at £134. 6s. Debts due the estate from English persons amounted to £502. 5s. 4d.; those due from several Indians to £173. 5s. 2d.; uplands and meadows were appraised at £300. He is supposed to have been buried near his own house, in the vicinity of the present glass factory.*

An Indian, Simon Popmonet, was Richard Bourne's successor. Shearjashub succeeded his father in the Mashpee inheritance. He lived there and presided over the Indian affairs until his death. He did what he could to protect them from white men's cunning by aiding them to obtain a confirmation of the deed of their lands. This grant secured forever to the South Sea Indians the Mashpee Reservation, with the exception of the uplands and meadow formerly granted Richard Bourne. The part now transferred to his son Shearjashub comprised a tract in Mashpee with two islands—one half the fresh meadow at Mashpee bought for Bourne by John Alden, July 25, 1661; the upland containing thirty acres, given by the Indians to him March 9, 1672; also the other half of the meadow bought by Alden and sold to Shearjashub in 1684 as a site for a meetinghouse.*

Popmonet's successor, Joseph Bourne, grandson of Richard, was ordained their pastor in 1719, but resigned in 1742. He complained bitterly of the treatment the Indians had received. He was succeeded by an Indian preacher, Solomon Briant, who was in turn succeeded by Rev. Gideon Hawley.

Indian affairs did not prosper as years passed by. The white men living in the vicinity took advantage of them, carried off their wood, cut down their trees, and took possession of land belonging by right of the Reservation. The Indians were put under the guardianship of unsympathetic

* Some assert that the remains of his house can still be seen. Freeman's History of Cape Cod, Vol. 1, p. 679.

SOME RECORDS OF BEDFORD, MASS.

Communicated by CHARLES WILLIAM JENKS, of Bedford.

THE following memoranda are taken from the records of Jane Pollard—later Jane P. Smith—and contain items differing from the Samuel Stearns record, such as maiden name, husband's name, name and sex of child, etc.

Jane Pollard was born 24 Nov., 1780, married Thomas Smith, 8 May, 1833, and died 29 Feb., 1868. Her first record is "Mr. Stearns was settled in April 27, 1796." Then follows a record of Sunday ministers and texts, interspersed with deaths, till Jan. 5, 1816. After that, the ministers and texts appear rarely. At first her record seems confined to deaths in Bedford, later, to include people formerly of Bedford or those connected with present or former Bedford families. The last record, in different hand writing and in pencil, is "Mrs. Jane P. Smith died Feb. 29, 1868." These records came from the papers left by the Rev. Samuel Stearns's family.

OUR ENGLISH PARENT TOWNS.

MALDON.*

By OSCAR FAY ADAMS, Esq., of Boston.

AT the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of Malden, Massachusetts, May 23, 1849, it was distinctly declared that the town derived its name from "a town in England in the county of Essex." The orator on that occasion made no reference to a difference in the spelling of the name on each side of the Atlantic, but he referred to the supposed identity of the English original with the Roman Camulodunum. As Colchester is now commonly identified with that famous Roman colony, the American orator did not enlighten his fellow citizens as much as he probably supposed.

One Joseph Hills, accompanied by his wife Rose, came from Maldon to the Bay Colony and was among the early settlers of Malden. It is in his honor that the settlement is presumed to have been named, but the present spelling of the name did not generally obtain till the middle of the eighteenth century, since up to that time the best written usage favored Maldon. In ancient times the name appears in English state papers as Maudone, Maudine, Mealdona, Meandone, Maldun, and Meldun, and, in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, occasionally Malden. The only English Malden now is New Malden in Surrey. American Maldens, beside the one in Massachusetts, are found in Illinois, Missouri, New York, and West Virginia.

The denizens of the Massachusetts town might choose much less inspiring reading than may be found in the history of their English original. In Freeman's "Norman Conquest" is a glowing description of the Battle of Maldon in the days of Ethelred, in 991, when Maldon was but a century old. The Northmen were invading and plundering Essex, and Brihtnoth, the Ealdorman of Essex, met them at Maldon. Says the historian:

"The battle took place near the town of Maldon, on the banks of the tidal river Panta, now called the Blackwater. The town lies on a hill; immediately at its base flows one branch of the river, while another, still crossed by a mediæval bridge, flows at a little distance to the north. The Danish ships seem to have lain in the branch nearest to the town and their crews to have occupied the space between the streams, while Brihtnoth came to the rescue from the north."

*Population, 5,600 (1901); 44 miles from London (Liverpool St. terminus of Great Eastern Railway). Parish churches: All Saints, living, a vicarage; St. Mary, living, a rectory. Other churches and chapels: Congregational; 2 Baptist; Wesleyan; Primitive Methodist; Friends. Three banks. Weekly paper. Market day: Tuesday. Corporation: mayor, four aldermen, twelve councillors.

VIEW OF MALDON, ENGLAND.

Brihtnoth halted on the spot now occupied by the church of Heybridge, a suburb of the modern town, with the two streams between him and the settlement, and here gave audience to a herald from the Vikings, who offered to withdraw on payment of a ransom. But the Essex leader was not one to listen to a proposal of this character, and here we have his answer recorded in the famous "Song of Maldon," as translated from the Anglo Saxon by Conybeare:

"Byrhtnoth spake. He upraised his buckler, he shook his slender javelin; stern and resolute he uttered his words and gave his answer.—'Hear thou mariner what this people sayeth: they will for tribute bestow on you their weapons—the edge of their spears, their ancient swords, and arms of war, which shall not avail you in the fight. Herald of the men of ocean! deliver to thy people a message in return—a declaration of high indignation. Say that here stand undaunted an earl with his retainers, who will defend this land, the domain of my sovereign Ethelred, his people and his territory, and the heathen shall perish in the conflict! I deem it too dastardly that ye should retire to your ships without joining in battle, since ye have advanced thus far into our land, nor shall ye so softly win our treasures; but point and edge shall first determine between us in the grim game of war ere we give you tribute.'"

The herald departed with this stouthearted response, and when the tide permitted there was a conflict lasting fourteen days, and three Saxons there were "who kept the bridge," like their Roman prototypes, Wulfstan, Aelfere and Maccus. Long after the dauntless Ealdorman was slain, his men fought on beside his body till all, or nearly all, had fallen of those nearest him in fealty. Although the Northmen won the battle, they were unable to destroy the town, nor could they get possession of Brihtnoth's body, which was subsequently buried beneath the lantern of the great church at Ely.*

It is not a difficult matter to trace out the locality of the battle, and the American pilgrim to the sponsor town may stand, if he choose, where Brihtnoth stood a thousand years ago.

Maldon, from the Saxon Maeldune, the cross hill, is not a beautiful town, architecturally considered, and it has not the broadly prosperous air of such near neighbors as Ipswich and Colchester, but it is far more picturesquely situated than either, and bears some little likeness to the Cinque Port of Rye, in Sussex. An hour's ride from London by rail, it is reached from the main line of the Great Eastern Railway, either by the branch from Shenfield and Hutton Junction, or by that from Witham Junction. It is built on the uncomfortably steep slopes of a hill, as well as on the crest of it, and besides the long High Street wandering leisurely down to the lower levels near Saint Mary's church and the river, there are narrow streets and lanes, several of which wind around the hill, while others plunge recklessly down the steeper portions of it. From the highest points are the fine views across the widening Blackwater, and the level meadows to seaward.

*See Macmillan's Magazine for March, 1887.

Near the top of the High Street is the ancient Moot Hall, built in the fifteenth century by Robert D'Arcy, which has been styled the historic centre of Maldon. It serves as town hall, court house and gaol, and from its lofty roof is the best view attainable in the town. Within its dark red walls is a paneled council chamber hung with portraits of Elizabeth, Anne, the Second Charles, and the Third George, while the muniment room contains town charters granted by various monarchs. Maldon was incorporated in 1553, in the reign of Mary, and by the charter then given, the Corporation was required to provide a prison at the Moot Hall and keep there "tumbrel, pillory and gallows." These dismal objects appear to have vanished into the past, but through the open door the present writer caught sight of some bright steel handcuffs against the wall. Crime, or what passed for it, seems always to have been sternly dealt with here, for in 1579, when "great Eliza" ruled the realm, three witches were sent to Chelmsford for disturbing the peace of Maldon. One of them, Ellen Smith by name, had quarrelled with her father-in-law and sent a toad to torture him. At least it was a toad in semblance, but evidence submitted to the effect that the animal when held over the fire made the flame "burn blue as azure," proves that it was unquestionably an imp of Satan considerably disguised.

It was during the same reign that the Maldon electors petitioned their representatives in Parliament for some relief from the Established clergy, who were, as they pathetically phrased it, "crueller than the ostriches of the wilderness, and more unkind than the dragons," and had been, as they declared, "Popish priests, taylors, fletchers, serving-men, wheelwrights, and many of these alehouse haunters, dicers, quarrellers, and full of gross sins." A heavy indictment, truly, but the good folk of Maldon might have spared their pains, for although the House of Commons did what they could for their relief, nothing came of it, save that one member of the House was sent to the Tower on account of his efforts in this regard. In the time of Charles the First, Thomas Horrocks, a noted Puritan, was rector at Maldon, and, after being ejected but still continuing to preach, was cast into the Moot Hall dungeon, where he remained some days, by no means tenderly entreated.

In a narrow street near the Moot Hall, and facing the large inn of the Blue Boar, is the church of All Saints, possessing the only triangular church tower in the kingdom. It is crowned by a hexagonal spire, and one of its wedge-like corners projects into the west end of the nave, producing a singular, one-sided effect. The lower stages of the tower are of Norman masonry, the upper, First Pointed. The remainder of the edifice comprises nave, aisles, and choir, the first-named contemporary with the upper portion of the tower, the last being of early Third Pointed date. The Darcy chapel to the south, built in the time of the Third Henry, contains a notably fine east window, and in the north chapel is a monument to Thomas Cammoke, a Maldon worthy, born in 1545, and who died in 1602. It displays his effigy and those of his two wives, Ursula and Frances, kneeling.

A romantic tale is told which relates how Captain Cammoke carried off the daughter of the Earl of Warwick upon his horse, and when the pair came to Frambridge ferry the boat was on the other side of the stream, the tide running swift, and pursuers close at hand. The lover warned his companion of the danger, but declaring that she would live and die with him, the fair Frances remained upon the horse, which carried them safe over. At Maldon they were wed, and the grim earl relented far enough to say "Seeing she had ventured her life for him, God bless her."

Far down the High Street, near the river, is Saint Mary's church, surrounded by a spacious churchyard and in outline showing nave, choir, aisles, north porch, and west tower with spire. It is Third Pointed in date, for the most part, but the tower, with its huge spreading buttresses, is Norman in its lower portions, with Roman tiles plentifully interspersed throughout the fabric.

Near the Moot Hall, to the east, once stood the church of Saint Peter, the parish of which was long since united to that of All Saints. Only its square grey tower now remains, but joined to it is a two-storied brick edifice that might readily be mistaken for a church, erected in 1704. This contains the Grammar School and the Plumian Library. A churchyard with a wall about it surrounds the building. One Thomas Plume, who was born at Maldon in 1630, rose to be archdeacon of Rochester, and was the founder of the Plumian professorship of astronomy at Cambridge, bequeathed his library of over six thousand volumes to his native place, a gracious gift of a kind not common in the seventeenth century. It is housed in low-ceilinged, oak-pannelled rooms hung with old portraits, and may be visited daily from ten to twelve in the morning.

Across the Blackwater, in the suburb of Heybridge, will be found the substantial Norman church of that parish, with its very stumpy tower. Here, also, are the larger of the two railway stations, that of East Maldon, and several extensive agricultural implement and engineering works, while on both sides of the stream are wharves and all the various attributes of a river port.

A mile west of Maldon are the remains of Beeleigh Abbey, founded by Robert de Mantel in 1180, for Premonstratensian canons. One may go thither by the London Road, but a much pleasanter route is that by Beeleigh Road to the footpath at the end, which, after crossing the railway by a bridge, pursues a leisurely course through the fields. Should one have the conventional notion of an abbey in mind, Beeleigh will prove rather a rude shock, since at first sight it appears to be nothing more than a farmhouse, showing a curious conglomerate of timber, brick, and ancient stonework. Some features of the abbey will nevertheless be found within, for the refectory and chapterhouse are nearly entire. The pretty falls of the Chelmar are near at hand, and a little farther still is the village of Langford, where the parish church shows a Norman nave, and the unusual feature, for England, of a semi-circular west end.

For those desirous of long walks, the trip to Chelmsford via Danbury offers attractions, while quite within the limits of a stroll is Northey Island, down the Blackwater. From this point the river widens till, at its mouth, sixteen miles from the town, it is four miles across. Two miles and a half from Maldon, by the Spital Road, is the poor little lath and plaster church of Hazeleigh, frequently called the meanest church in Essex, but worth a glance for its singular poverty-stricken aspect.

"I wonder that any man has the face
To call such a hole the House of the Lord
And the Gate of Heaven, yet such is the word."

The noted Royal Academician, John Rogers Herbert, who died in 1890, and was the artist of the Justice frieze in the House of Lords, was a native of Maldon, and Landseer studied here in his earlier career.

NOTES.

We find a spirit of unrest in Maldon in 1628, when a company of Irish soldiers were quartered on the inhabitants who had been obstinate in making loans to Charles I. On 17 March, St. Patrick's Day, by reason of red crosses having been tied to the whipping post and to a dog's tail, there was a dangerous quarrel between the soldiers and tradesmen, and many were grievously wounded. About thirty townsmen were wounded, and the town and country were aroused and would not be quieted until the soldiers were disarmed.

In 1635, Maldon, which had begun to decay in her trade, was charged for a share in the ship money tax levied by the king on all his subjects of any estate.

This tax met with great opposition in Maldon, as in other parts, and for the next two or three years there was a steady emigration to New England and the other colonies to avoid payment. On 17 July, 1638, there arrived at Boston the Susan and Ellen. Interested in the undertaking was one Joseph Hills from Maldon. He was a son of George and Mary Hills of the parish of Great Burstead, Essex, where he was baptized 3 March, 1602. He was married there 22 July, 1624, to Rose Clarke, and before 1632 he removed to Maldon, where he had four children baptized. In New England he became prominent in civil and military life, compiling our first book of laws and commanding the military of the town in which he resided. Through him Malden in New England received its name.

Half way between Maldon and Colchester, Essex, is the parish of Layer Marney. Here, in the church of St. Mary the Virgin, a structure of flint, brick and rubble, chiefly in the Perpendicular style, is the tomb of Robert Cammock who died in 1585. He was a son of John Cammock of Layer Marney.

Robert had a son Thomas, who married first, Ursula Wyrley of Dodford, Northants, and had four sons and five daughters; and married second, Frances, daughter of Robert, the second Lord Rich, prominent in Elizabeth's reign. By the last marriage Thomas Cammock had two sons and eleven daughters, a total of twenty-two children. Cammock resided at Maldon, and was buried there, 8 Apr., 1602, in All Saints' Church, in a tomb on which appear the effigies of the whole family including the twenty-two children.

One of the children, Thomas, we find in 1627 commanding the Robert, a vessel of seventy tons, owned by his father's nephew, Robert Rich, the second

Earl of Warwick of that name, who became prominent in the Parliamentary party in England and was interested in the colonies. Thomas Cammock was a subscriber to the Virginia Company, and in 1628 we find him at Piscataqua. On 1 Nov., 1631, he and his associates received a patent for 1500 acres at Black Point (Scarborough), in the now State of Maine, and a partnership was discussed with Robert Trelawney.

Cammock's name was preserved for a time by Cammock's Neck, later Prout's Neck, and now Libby's Neck. Cammock died at Barbadoes in 1643. His will, dated 2 Sept., 1641, leaves his property to his well beloved friend Henry Jocelyn after the death of Cammock's wife Margaret, but Jocelyn made the bequest certain by marrying the widow.

The Cammocks had lands to Cold Norton, which is four miles South from Maldon, and in the church are memorials to the family.

In this parish, William Vassall married, in 1613, Anne, daughter of George King, of Woodham Mortimer, who had property in the parish. At Bradwell-next-the-sea, fifteen miles East of Maldon, the Pynchons had holdings, and Rev. John Sherman was the rector.

In the register of All Saints' Maldon, is this entry: "Mr Lawrence Washington buried January 21. 1652." This refers to Rev. Lawrence Washington, who was sequestered from the rectory of Purleigh, three miles south of Maldon. He had matriculated at Brasenose College, Oxford, in 1621, and became rector of Purleigh in 1633. On account of his Royalist sympathies, he was ejected by Parliament, on the common excuse given at the time—that he was a tippler, etc.

His widow removed to Tring, Herts, where she was buried 19 Jan., 1654-5. At Tring were relatives of Seth Sweetser of Malden, Mass., who corresponded with them (Aspinwall Notarial Records, p. 43). The news from New England may have influenced the Washington emigration to Virginia.

"13.(8.) 1647 Malachi Browning late of Watertowne, N. E: gent. constituted Capt. Robt Harding of Boston his true and lawfull Attorney granting him power to compound & agree wth Mr Tho: Browning of Mauldon in Essex clerke for his title in reversion unto all those lands in Ratchford hundred in Essex wherein the sd Malachie hath an estate in Reversion," etc. (Aspinwall Notarial Records, p. 94). Rotchford or Rochford Hundred lies north of the mouth of the Thames between it and the river Crouch.

25 Aug., 1646, Thomas Browing, clerk, Essex, compounded for delinquency. He had gone into the King's quarters as chaplain to Lord Wentworth. He submitted to Parliament, and obtained Sir Thomas Fairfax's pass, in March, 1646, and afterward took the National Covenant and negative oath. For his delinquency he was fined by Parliament £318. He was of Pembroke College, Cambridge, in 1635, and became rector of Wickham Bishops, Essex, in 1661, and resigned from there in 1689. Wickham is three and one quarter miles north of Maldon. There were families of the name of Browing at Maldon during the seventeenth century.

Rev. John Cotton married, for his first wife, Elizabeth Horrocks, a daughter of Christopher Horrocks, fuller, of Bolton le Moors, Lancashire, nine miles northwest of Manchester. Christopher Horrocks is said to have come to New England with Cotton, but there is no evidence of his being here, in our records.

The son of Christopher was Thomas Horrocks, who was born at Bolton in 1614. He attended school at Bolton, and was admitted sizar at St. John's College, Cambridge, 9 Apr., 1631. He took his B.A. degree in 1634, and M.A. in 1638. He was master of the Free School, Romford, rector of Stapleford Tawny, and in 1650 was presented with the living of All Saints, Maldon. This he held till the restoration of Charles II., when he was ejected and cast in the dungeon of the town prison. He was several times indicted for holding conventicles. Later, he became a preacher to the Anabaptists of Hertford. He died at Battersea, about 1687.

At Danbury Runsell, on the road from Maldon to Chelmsford, Valentine Crome, scrivener, of London, had lands. His widow married Sir Freshville Holles (Waters's Gleanings, p. 1273).

Margaret, wife of Samuel Cole, Boston, was the daughter of Isaac Greene, of Mersey or Mersea (the marsh isle). There are two parishes between the mouths of the rivers Colne and Blackwater, East and West Mersea. In 1647, Margaret Cole constituted as her attorney John Greene of Hatfield Broad Oak, or Hatfield Regis (Aspinwall Notarial Records). Old Barrington Hall, the original seat of the Barringtons (a family of strong Puritan sympathies, and related to the Protector Cromwell), is now a farm house on the edge of Hatfield Forest.

A view of Fullbridge, a part of Maldon, taken from the tower of the Town Hall, shows the Totham Hills in the distance. Henry Sammes of Totham had a son Edward, a grocer of London, who in his will, in 1635, mentions his cousin Rev. Samuel Stone of Hartford, Conn. (Waters's Gleanings, p. 516). Rev. John Sams, of this family, came to Roxbury, Mass., in 1640, and later returned and was minister at Coggeshall, Essex.

Rev. John Rogers of Dedham, England, father of Rev. Nathaniel Rogers of Ipswich, Mass., was also interested in lands at Little Totham, and at Goldhanger, four miles northeast of Maldon. Rev. Daniel Williams, whose library, rich in non-conformist literature, is located near Gower Street, London, owned lands at Totham. His lands of Beckingham Manor, at Tolleshunt Magna, five miles northeast of Maldon, he gave in 1716, by will, for the converting of the Indians in New England and the "Blacks" in the West Indies. An ancient gateway with four embattled turrets and garden wall are all that remain of the manor house. The New England Company for Propagating the Gospel in New England are lords of the manor.

Samuel Hall came to New England in 1633, and was at Ipswich in 1635, and Salisbury in 1640. He became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, in 1638. He sold some of his lands here in 1657, and returned to England, where he died in 1680, at Langford, a mile and a half northwest of Maldon. He left, in his will, money for the poor of several parishes in the vicinity, including Maldon. Out of his estate in Boston he bequeathed fifty pounds to those that suffered by the recent great fire there, and a like sum to the towns which had suffered by King Philip's War.

Edward Hasteler, merchant, Maldon, married Rebecca, the sister of Rev. Ezechill Rogers of Ipswich, Mass. He had received from the will of his father-in-law, Rev. Richard Rogers of Weathersfield, England, in 1618, money which he invested in lands at Maldon, for the benefit of their six children. Of these, Mary probably married — Matosius, of Maldon. (Waters's Gleanings, p. 227.)

Edmund Munnings, aged forty, came to New England in 1635, in the Abigail. He returned to England, and died in 1667, at Dengie, twelve miles southeast from Maldon.

General Horatio Gates was born at Maldon, in 1728, and Horatio, Lord Walpole, was his god-father. His father is said to have been butler to Lord Walpole.

Richard Pratt of Charlestown is given, by Wyman, as the youngest son of John Pratt of Maldon, and as baptized 29 June, 1615.

Malden, Mass.

THE DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT LAY OF SAYBROOK, CONN.

By EDWIN A. HILL, Ph.D., of Washington, D. C.

THE account of the Lay family given in the Salisbury Family Histories and Genealogies, relates almost wholly to the descendants of the first John Lay of Saybrook, and the authors, in their text, Vol. I., page 333, as also in the Lay Pedigree Chart, No. VII., given in the Supplement to Vol. III, place Robert<sup>3</sup> Lay, the Westbrook tavern keeper, husband of Mary Grinnell, as the son of John<sup>2</sup> and Sarah (Marvin) Lay, and grandson of John<sup>1</sup> Lay by his second wife Abigail; but the matter is presented in such a way as to plainly indicate a doubt as to the accuracy of the line. In fact, John<sup>2</sup> Lay, husband of Sarah Marvin, was born in 1670, and would have been only eleven years old at the birth, in 1681, of his reputed son Robert,<sup>3</sup> and the line is unquestionably wrong, as has been often noted. In 1895, I obtained from Miss E. E. Lay of Guilford, Conn. (No. 22-vii of this genealogy), a manuscript upon the descendants of Robert<sup>1</sup> Lay, the joint compilation of herself and her nephew the Rev. E. C. Starr of Cornwall, Conn. (No. 44-i of this genealogy), which was based upon family records, and various conversations had by herself (born 1828) with her great uncle James Lay (No. 13), a brother of her grandfather Col. Asa Lay (No. 14), of the Revolutionary army, one of the individuals referred to in Prof. Murdock's account as quoted in the Salisbury genealogies, her father Steuben Lay (No. 22), and her own brothers and sisters. This document I then copied in part, and upon it this genealogy is to some extent based. This partial copy, with notations made by myself, I shall file in manuscript in the library of this Society, and it will contain considerable biographical matter which cannot here be published for lack of space.

1. ROBERT<sup>1</sup> LAY was the first of a line of at least eight successive individuals of the name, in lineal descent. The surmise of Savage, that he was a brother of Edward of Hartford, Saybrook, and Portsmouth, R. I., and of John of Saybrook and Lyme, is confirmed by many family traditions. He was born about 1617, and died July 9, 1689, aged 72, the gravestone being still extant in Essex, Conn., cemetery.

He married, Dec., 1647 (Lay MSS. and Saybrook Records, I-143), Sarah Fenner, widow of John Tully, who died in England in 1644-5. She came to America in 1646-7, with son John, who was baptized in 1638, and a younger daughter, and in the company of her brothers Arthur and William, and died May 25, 1676, aged 59. Her son, the ancestor of the Tully family of Saybrook, was a noted teacher of mathematics and navigation, and a compiler of almanacs. The will of William Fenner, proved at Newport, R. I., Sept. 6, 1680, names his brothers Arthur and John, his "late sister Lay" and her two surviving children, and his sister Phebe Ward.

Robert<sup>1</sup> Lay was of Lynn, Mass., in 1638, and came to Saybrook in 1649. He lived in the present town of Essex (formerly a part of Old Saybrook), on the north side of what is now the street on Essex Point, leading to the steamboat dock. He was a freeman, May 21, 1657 (Col. Rec., I-297), and "desired," May 17, 1660, "to take care of any of the estate of Mr. Fenwick, y<sup>t</sup> is subject to loss and damage" (Col. Rec., I-535); a deputy to the General Court, 1666 and 1678, and a large land owner, being one of the patentees of Saybrook, and owning land both near Essex Point and in the "Oyster River Quarter" (now Westbrook).

There is recorded in Saybrook Records an agreement between Capt. George Denison and wife Ann, of the one part, and Mr. Robert Lay of Saybrook, of the other part, providing for the marriage of their children John Denison and Phebe Lay.

Children:

- i. PHEBE,<sup>2</sup> b. 5 Jan., 1651; d. 1699; m. 26 Nov., 1667, John, son of Capt. George and Ann (Borodell) Denison of Stonington. (See Denison Genealogy, and Hist. of Stonington, Conn., page 389 et seq.) Children: 1. Phebe, b. 1667; d. young. 2. John, b. 1 Jan., 1669. 3. George, b. 28 Mch., 1671. 4. Robert, b. 17 Sept., 1673. 5. William, b. 7 Apr., 1677. 6. Daniel, b. 28 Mch., 1680. 7. Samuel, b. 23 Feb., 1683; d. young. 8. Ann, b. 3 Oct., 1684. 9. Sarah, b. 29 July, 1692. 10. Phebe, b. probably between 1684 and 1692.
2. ii. ROBERT, b. 6 Mch., 1654.

His will was dated Apl. 22, 1731, and the estate was appraised at £6,712. 19s. 7d. The widow, Mary, was executrix, Oct. 11, 1743. The will names all the children except Phebe, who probably died single before her father. (For baptisms of the first three children, see History of the First Church of Stonington, pages 196-197.)

Children:

3. i. ROBERT,<sup>3</sup> b. 27 Jan., 1681.
- ii. SARAH, b. 19 Feb., 1682-3.
4. iii. MARY, b. 3 Oct., 1685; probably m. (1) Christopher Miner, 9 Mch., 1704; m. (2) Samuel Denison (see Wheeler's Stonington, 343, 468).
- iv. THOMAS, b. 10 May, 1688; mention of his lands occurs in 1711, on Saybrook Records (see Vol. II., p. 474).
- v. SAMUEL, b. 25 July, 1691; d. 5 Aug., 1691.
- vi. TEMPERANCE, b. 25 July, 1691; d. 1755.
5. vii. SAMUEL, b. 13 Feb., 1694-5.
- viii. PHEBE, b. 14 Aug., 1698.
- ix. DOROTHY, b. 3 June, 1701.
3. ROBERT<sup>3</sup> (Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), "son of Robert Lay Jr. and Mary Stanton, born Jan. 27th 1680." (See Savage, Stanton Genealogy, and Saybrook Records, I., 143).

"Robert Lay jr. and Mary Grenell were married each to the other the 12th day of December in the year 1703" (Saybrook Records, II, 168), following which entry are the birth records of all the children, as given below, except Jonathan and John.

Two adjoining tombstones in Westbrook cemetery read as follows:

"Here lies the body of Robert Lay died July 1st 1738 aged 57 years."

The will of Robert Lay, "secundus," dated June 27, 1738, proved July 26 following, in Guilford Probate Court, mentions wife Mary, and all of the eight children except John; Peabody Grinnell, a brother-in-law, being appraiser of the estate.

Robert<sup>3</sup> Lay lived at Westbrook, was the first of the name to settle there, and was the well known "tavern keeper" who kept the tavern near the so-called Dr. Cone house. Mary his wife was the daughter of Daniel and Lydia (Peabody) Grinnell, granddaughter of Daniel Grinnell, of Little Compton, R. I., by wife Mary, daughter of William and Mary Wodell of Boston, Mass., and Portsmouth and Tiverton, R. I., and great-granddaughter of Matthew and Rose Grinnell, of Newport, R. I. (See Austin's Gen. Dict. of R. I. Settlers.) Daniel Grinnell in his will mentions his daughter "Mary Lay," although Austin makes no mention of her. Lydia Peabody, her mother, was the daughter of William and Elizabeth (Alden) Peabody, of Little Compton, R. I., and granddaughter of John Alden of the Mayflower. The Grinnell family were of Huguenot extraction. Mary (Grinnell) Lay was one of the original members of the church at Westbrook.

Children :

6. i. ROBERT,<sup>4</sup> b. 20 Dec., 1705.
  7. ii. CHRISTOPHER, b. 27 Feb., 1707-8.
  - iii. LYDIA, b. 26 June, 1710; m. 3 Feb., 1730-1, John Waterhouse (Bailey II, 113).
  8. iv. DANIEL, b. 3 Oct., 1712.
  9. v. JEREMIAH, b. 13 Jan., 1715.
  - vi. PHEBE, b. 27 May, 1717; m. 1 June, 1740, Benjamin Merrill (Bailey, II, 114). (See Hyde Gen., No. 6052.)
  10. vii. JONATHAN, b. 1721.
  - viii. JOHN, m. Deborah ———; evidently died without issue, as his will, dated Sept. 17, 1756 (Guilford Probate Rec., VII, 104), names no children, and at death of his wife, Deborah, leaves all his lands to his brothers Christopher, Daniel, Jeremiah and Jonathan, and names his sisters Lydia Watrous and Phebe Merrill, who receive bequests of money.
4. MARY<sup>3</sup> LAY (Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), born in Saybrook (now Essex), 3 Oct., 1685, is, I think, the one referred to in Wheeler's Stonington, pages 343, 468, because, while the descendants of John Lay are quite fully traced by Prof. Salisbury, there seems to be no Mary Lay among them who could have been the one mentioned by Wheeler, who states that Christopher, son of Dr. Joseph and Mary (Avery) Miner, of Stonington, baptized July 13, 1684, married Mary Lay, Mch. 9, 1704. The death of her first husband, Christopher,* is not given, but her marriage to Samuel<sup>4</sup> Denison (George,<sup>3</sup> Capt. George,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>1</sup> of Stortford, Eng.), occurred probably in 1709. They lived in Stonington till July 4, 1716, when they removed to Westbrook. The wife of George Denison was Mercy, daughter of John and Desire (Howland) Gorham, and granddaughter of John Howland of the Mayflower. The children are as given below (see Denison Genealogy, page 208), but the descendants can be more fully traced in Wheeler's Stonington, page 343 et seq.

Children by second husband :

- i. SARAH DENISON, b. 6 Jan., 1710; m. William Babcock.
- ii. SAMUEL DENISON, b. 23 Oct., 1711.
- iii. MERCY DENISON, b. 1713; m. Nathaniel Chapman. (See Chapman's Chapman Family.)
- iv. ELIZABETH DENISON, bapt. 6 June, 1714.
- v. JOANNA DENISON, b. 13 Dec., 1716; m. Moses Tyler.
- vi. MARY DENISON, b. 6 Jan., 1718.
- vii. GEORGE DENISON, b. 6 Jan., 1718.
- viii. CHRISTOPHER DENISON, b. 1720.
- ix. GIDEON DENISON, b. 1724.
- x. STEPHEN DENISON, b. 6 Feb., 1725.

5. SAMUEL<sup>8</sup> LAY (Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>) was born in Saybrook (now Essex), 13 Feb., 1694-5. The following from Vol. II of Saybrook Records refers, I presume, to him, since no Samuel of this generation is given in the Salisbury Genealogies among the descendants of John Lay:

"Samuel Lay and Hannah Hayden married 1st June, 1726."

Children, from Saybrook records :

- i. MARY,<sup>4</sup> b. 29 Dec., 1728.
- ii. SARAH, b. 7 Feb., 1731-2. The marriage of Reuben Chapman and Sarah Lay (Bailey, II, 115) may refer to her; and if so, their descendants can be traced at page 79 et seq. of Chapman's Chapman Family.
- iii. HANNAH, b. 17 Mch., 1734-5.
- iv. PHEBE, b. 26 Feb., 1737-8. Bailey (II, 115) gives the marriage of John Hull and Phebe Lay, Sept. 27, 1764, which may refer to her.
- v. TEMPERANCE, b. 30 Sept., 1740.
- vi. SAMUEL, b. 1 Mch., 1743-4.
- vii. ROBERT, b. 4 Jany., 1746-7.

He was for forty years Deacon of the Westbrook Congregational Church. By the terms of his father's will he received "my grandfather's silver cup." He lived in the old Lay homestead in Westbrook, situated on the principal street leading to the shore, and directly opposite the cemetery.

The following inscriptions are from adjoining stones in Westbrook Cemetery:

"In memory of Dea. Robert Lay who departed this life Jany. 1, 1790 in the 84th year of his age."

"In memory of Jemima Lay wife of Robert Lay, who departed this life Mch. 9, 1766, in the 56th year of her age."

That there was a second marriage is indicated by the following from Vol. II, page 116, of Bailey's Early Conn. Marriages: "Deacon Robert Lay and Elizabeth Denison married June 24, 1768."

Children, from town records :

- i. JEMIMA,<sup>5</sup> b. 3 Jan., 1733.
- ii. LYDIA, b. 5 Jan., 1735.
- iii. SARAH, b. 14 Jan., 1737.
11. iv. ROBERT, "Son of Dea. Robert and Mrs. Jemima Lay died Oct. 10, 1740 æ 1 year" (Westbrook Cemetery).

- v. ANNA, b. 30 Apl., 1741. The marriage of George Wright and Anna Lay, 1 Oct., 1760 (Bailey, II, 115) probably refers to her.
- vi. PHEBE, b. 15 Feb., 1743.
- vii. ROBERT, b. 8 June, 1745.
- viii. ARIGAIL, b. 25 June, 1747. She became the wife of Dea. Jonathan Lay (No. 15), according to Salisbury Genealogies; but in the Lay MSS. the first wife of Dea. Jonathan is given as Mary Lay, daughter of Robert and Jemima, who died in 1831.

7. LIEUT. CHRISTOPHER<sup>4</sup> LAY (Robert,<sup>3</sup> Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>) was born 27 Feb., 1708-9, in Saybrook West Parish. My account of this family is based almost wholly upon the stones extant in Westbrook Cemetery. Whether there were any children other than those mentioned below I am not advised. The widow's name was Mary, and the marriage (see Bailey) 5 Dec., 1765, of "Capt. Samuel Crane and Widow Mary Lay," undoubtedly refers to her. "Lieut. Christopher Lay died Oct. 3, 1759 in his 52<sup>d</sup> year" (Westbrook Cemetery).

Children:

- i. LUCRETIA,<sup>6</sup> b. 1749; d. "25 Nov., 1754, æ. 5 years."
- ii. DENY, b. 1754; d. "6 Nov., 1759, æ. 5 years."
- iii. JOHN, b. 1755-6; d. "7 Nov., 1759, in 3d year."

"In memory of Mr. Daniel Lay who died Dec. 28, 1782, in the 70th year of his age."

"In memory of Mrs. Anne wife of Mr. Daniel Lay, who died March 5, 1790, in the 76th year of her age."

He settled on land deeded to him 22 Feb., 1734-5, by his father, at Chestnut Hill, so called, in Saybrook West Parish. His will (Saybrook records, at Deep River, Vol. I, p. 37) mentions his son Daniel, who received various tracts of land.

Children:

- 12. i. DANIEL,<sup>5</sup> bapt. Feb., 1738-9.
- 13. ii. JAMES.
- 14. iii. ASA, b. 1749.
- iv. ANNA BULL, probably m. Joseph Denison, 5 May, 1771 (Bailey, II, 117).

8. JEREMIAH<sup>4</sup> LAY (Robert,<sup>3</sup> Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), born 13 Jan., 1715-6, in Westbrook, married, 20 Mch., 1739-40, Prudence Belden, at Westbrook (Bailey, II, 114). He died probably after 24 Feb., 1792. Saybrook records (II, 415) give: "Jeremiah, son of Jeremiah and Prudence Lay, born Oct. 5, 1745"; and in Westbrook Cemetery is the gravestone inscription: "Mrs Deborah wife of Mr Jeremiah Lay, died Feby 24 1792 æ 72," perhaps a second wife. The Lay MSS. credits Jeremiah<sup>4</sup> with the six children named below, but gives no dates.

Children:

- i. PRUDENCE,<sup>5</sup> probably m. Ezra Crane, 27 Nov., 1760 (Bailey, II, 115).
- ii. SYBIL, probably m. Job Kelsey, 1 Dec., 1763 (Bailey, II, 115).
- iii. JEREMIAH, b. 5 Oct., 1745; probably d. in New York, in 1778, on the prison ship Blazmon Castile; and probably m. Statia Bushnell, 8 Mch., 1773 (Bailey, II, 118).

- iv. AARON.
- v. LOIS.
- vi. HULDAH.

10. JONATHAN<sup>4</sup> LAY (Robert,<sup>3</sup> Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), whose birth is not found on the town records, is named in his father's will, and also in the will of his brother John, so there can be no question as to the relationship. He is evidently the innkeeper referred to by Prof. Murdock, and in the Salisbury Genealogies, where it is stated that he was born in 1721, died of the smallpox in 1779, and that he married Mary Spencer, who was born in 1721, and died in 1793. The gravestones in Westbrook Cemetery, however, give as follows:

"In memory of Mr Jonathan Lay who died Feby 12 1777, in the 69th year of his age."

"In memory of Jonathan Lay, who died Oct 7 1793, in the 8th (or 80th, stone rather illegible) year of his age."

Neither of which agree well with the Salisbury date of birth, but it is not absolutely certain that they refer to this family.

Children:

- i. JONATHAN,<sup>5</sup> "son of Jonathan Lay, bapt Apr. 11, 1742-3" (Church records quoted by Rev. E. C. Starr); probably d. young.
  - 15. ii. JONATHAN, b. 10 Apl., 1748; d. 13 Apr., 1831.
  - 16. iii. MARY, b. 21 Oct., 1749.
  - 17. iv. EZRA, b. 26 Apl., 1752; d. 31 Jan., 1793.
  - 18. v. HANNAH, b. 27 Apl., 1754; d. 16 May, 1824.
  - vi. PHEBE, b. 20 Mch., 1758; d. 1789 or '90; m. Dr. William Gayle, and had several children.
  - 19. vii. JOHN, b. 28 Aug., 1760; d. 5 Feb., 1844.
  - viii. LYDIA, b. 7 Sept., 1763; d. 7 Dec., 1764.
11. ROBERT<sup>5</sup> LAY (Robert,<sup>4</sup> Robert,<sup>3</sup> Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), born 8 June, 1745, in Westbrook, married 5 Mch., 1772 (Bailey, II, 117), Desire, born 15 Jan., 1751, daughter of Josiah Wolcott of Hebron and Saybrook. The following inscriptions, from Westbrook Cemetery, refer to this family:
- "In memory of Mr Robert Lay who died June 4 1813 aged 68 years"
- "Lucy, dau. of Robt and Desier Lay, died Aug 31 1794 in 10th year"
- His son Robert<sup>6</sup> Lay, who married Chloe Chapman (see Chapman Family No. 813 and 937, pp. 106, 126), sold the estate, and removed to Springfield, New York; his son Robert<sup>7</sup> Lay lived and died in Montreal; and his son Robert<sup>8</sup> Lay at one time lived in Scranton, Penn.
- No records of the children of Robert<sup>5</sup> Lay, except as above, have been obtained by me, but are probably in Saybrook town records (at Deep River, Conn.), and the Westbrook Congregational Church Records (at Westbrook).

Chapman, and a descendant of John Howland of the Mayflower (see No. 4-iii of this genealogy); and married second, 14 Jan., 1779 (Bailey, II, 118), Hannah (Stannard), widow of Francis Kelsey.

Children by first wife:

- i. CHRISTOPHER.<sup>6</sup>
- ii. NATHANIEL, bapt. 1 Apl., 1764.
20. iii. JERUSHA, born 9 Oct., bapt. 13 Dec., 1767.
- iv. ANN. } These three died, respectively, 26 Nov., 1769, 15
- v. NANCY. } Mch., 1771, and 22 Feb., 1773, but the name of the last,
- vi. AN INFANT. } and the order of death and birth, is unknown.

  - xvi. A DAUGHTER.
  - xvii. A DAUGHTER.
13. JAMES<sup>5</sup> LAY (Daniel,<sup>4</sup> Robert,<sup>3</sup> Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), styled "Lieut.," lived to an old age in Westbrook, and is said to have had some musical ability. He married, Nov., 1767, Abigail Bushnell. No record of any children has been obtained, but "Our New England Ancestors," page 93, states that Capt. Jedediah Post married Abigail, daughter of James and Abigail (Bushnell) Lay, and granddaughter of Daniel and Ann (Bull) Lay.
- Child:
21. i. ABIGAIL.<sup>6</sup>
14. COL. ASA<sup>5</sup> LAY (Daniel,<sup>4</sup> Robert,<sup>3</sup> Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), born in 1749, died 23 Feb., 1814, married, 18 Apr., 1770, Sarah, daughter of Josiah and Lucy (White) Wolcott, of Hebron and Saybrook, Conn. (Bailey, II, 117). He served with distinction in the war of the Revolution, and lived and died in Westbrook.

THE FAMILY OF JOHN WILLIAMS OF NEWBURY AND HAVERHILL, MASS.

By CORNELIA BARTOW WILLIAMS, of Chicago, Ill.

1. JOHN<sup>1</sup> WILLIAMS emigrated probably from England, settling first at Newbury, Mass. In 1640, he was one of the petitioners, with Rev. John Ward and others, to found a new town, Haverhill, seven miles further up the river. In 1642 he was admitted freeman there, and in 1643 was taxed for eighty pounds, the assessed value of his property. In 1667 he received his share of the town lands, as one of the original proprietors.

The names of John Williams and Jane his wife are the first recorded on the books of the Town records, giving the date of their daughter Lydia's birth, 16 Mar., 1643, and of their son Joseph's, 18 Apr., 1647. John Williams died in Haverhill, 10 Feb., 1673-4, and his will, dated 9 Dec., 1670, probated 18 Mar., 1674, mentions his children John, Joseph, Sarah, Mary, and Lydia, and a granddaughter Sarah Eyers (daughter of Sarah). His widow, Jane, died 21 Nov., 1680, and the inventory of her estate was presented 29 Mar., 1681, by her son Joseph. ## PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By GEO. A. GORDON, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 1 January, 1908. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting, agreeable to the By-laws, at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, in Marshall P. Wilder hall, 18 Somerset street. In the absence of the President, the Society was called to order by the Recording Secretary, who called for the presence of either of the Vice-Presidents. No one responding, he called for a nomination from the floor, which was given, and William Carver Bates, Esq., of Newton, was elected as chairman, pro tempore. Mr. Bates accepted the position and assumed the gavel.

The Chair introduced Frank Gaylord Cook, A.B., LL.B., of Cambridge, who read a comprehensive and interesting paper on Fisher Ames, which was applauded and received a vote of thanks, with a request for a copy to be deposited in the archives of the Society.

The Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, and the Council, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

Nine resident members were elected.

The death of Capt. Albert Alonzo Folsom, of Brookline, was announced, and a committee appointed to draft resolutions in memoriam, viz.: George Sumner Mann, of Brookline, Joseph Grafton Minot, of Boston, and Joseph Benjamin Moors, of Boston.

29 January. The Annual meeting of the Society was held this day, agreeable to article 5, chapter III, of the By-laws; for report of which see Supplement to the present number of the REGISTER.

5 February. The Society held a stated meeting as usual, this day, with the President in the Chair. Frank Eliot Bradish, A.B., of Cambridge, was introduced, who read an able and interesting paper on James Taylor, Treasurer of the Province of Massachusetts Bay, 1693-1714, for which the thanks of the Society were voted, and a copy solicited for preservation in its archives.

The Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, and the Council, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

Seven resident members were elected.

The special Committee in memoriam Capt. Albert Alonzo Folsom, deceased, presented the following report, which was received, read, accepted and ordered on file; also, to be entered on the records of this meeting, and a copy sent to the family:

In the death of Capt. Albert Alonzo Folsom, in his Brookline home Dec. 24, 1907, our New England Historic Genealogical Society laments the death of a friend and valued member. The officers of this Society will miss him, for he was a laborious worker in the interest of this institution. On Dec. 21st, Dr. Cabot performed a surgical operation for an abdominal trouble, which was thought to have been successful, but pneumonia soon followed, which proved fatal. Capt. Folsom was born at Exeter, N. H., Sept. 13, 1834, of sturdy New England stock.

The business part of his life was mostly spent in Boston. Many years since, Capt. Folsom retired from active business and became interested in genealogical and antiquarian research. He was an indefatigable worker in this field of labor, and possessed a remarkably good memory, and as a member of this Society has already put on record for another Society: "He was honest, earnest, straightforward, upright, despising trickery and sham." He was widely known and respected. Capt. Folsom held many offices of responsibility. He was a prominent member for years in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and its Commander with the rank of Captain in 1876, and the Treasurer of that company at the time of its London visit in 1896. In early life he occupied a position in the newspaper offices of the Atlas and Bee and the Journal. In 1854 he entered the service of the Boston and Providence R. R. Corporation, in which position he remained until 1860, when he was promoted to the office of Transportation, with headquarters at Providence. Soon after, he was made assistant superintendent, and in 1867 he became superintendent of the road, which office he held up to the time it was merged with the New York, New Haven and Hartford R. R. Company.

Capt. Folsom was a Mason of high order, and one of the directors and trustees of the Grand Lodge. Republican in politics. In 1889 and '90 he was of the board of Aldermen from Ward 17, when it was an honor to occupy that position. He removed to Brookline in 1893, where the widow now resides. The family, besides the widow, consists of two sons and two daughters, all of whom are married except the eldest son, who resides with his mother.

Resolved.—That the New England Historic Genealogical Society puts on record the deep sorrow for the death of its faithful and honored member, Albert Alonzo Folsom. We as members recognized his ability. His great interest in our Society naturally made him a leader in the various committees of which he was a valued co-worker. Being deeply interested in historical matters, and with a retentive memory, he was able to communicate in an interesting way facts which give delight to his hearers. Captain Folsom's presence at our meetings was always gladly welcomed, genial, always cordial, and strictly honest. We admired him for his warm heart, sincerity and straightforwardness in all his dealings, which made him a highly esteemed citizen in the community. We fondly cherish his memory.

Resolved.—That this brief tribute be put upon the record of this Society, and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

Report was made of the condition of Capt. R. G. F. Candage, when, on motion it was Voted.—That the New England Historic Genealogical Society learns with gratification that Capt. R. G. F. Candage, of Brookline, is recovering from his extended illness, and hopes that he will be soon restored to health.

The meeting then dissolved.

BROWNE-LEE.—In the REGISTER, Vol. 61, page 116, there appeared an article entitled "Browne and Lee Family Extracts from the Parish Register of Rusper, Co. Sussex," communicated by a descendant. Since that time, the writer of this note being in England, and also a descendant, made further researches in this line. In the manuscript room of the British Museum there has reposed for many years a collection of materials for the history of the County of Sussex, made about 1770-1780 by a Mr. Burrell, a man of good family in the County, who evidently had planned to publish a history of Sussex, but never carried out his intention. Among the papers are many extracts from parish registers. The same Browne baptisms are given in the copy from the Rusper register as appear in the REGISTER above-mentioned, with one exception, and that an important one, viz: the baptism of Phebe, daughter of William Browne and Jane his wife, Oct. 1, 1620. This gives us the approximate date of birth of our Phebe Browne, the wife of Thomas Lee, who died during the voyage across the Atlantic, and the mother of Jane (Lee) [Hyde] Burchard, who gave to her nephew, Joshua Hempsted, the account of her family. The burial of Mary, the first wife of the Rev. Joseph Browne, was also on the register, under date of Dec. 15, 1605. She was the Rev. Joseph's first wife, and the mother of his children. He married second, Feb. 12, 1606-7, Elizabeth Stone, widow of John Stone of "The Nunnery," the "great house" at Rusper. As Burrell's extracts from the parish registers were evidently confined almost entirely to the entries relating to the gentry and the clergymen of the parish, the writer felt very certain that William Browne was the son of the Rev. Joseph Browne, and consequently pursued the search to Chichester, where his will was found, bearing date June 16, 1633. His second wife, Elizabeth, died in 1616, and he mentions first, after the poor of Rusper, his "mayde" "Mary fowler," and arranges with great care for her support and subsistence during her life-time. There are legacies to two other servants; then he gives to Phebe Leachforde, the daughter of his daughter Susan, £5; to his sons William and John Browne various pieces of furniture; to every one of his grandchildren ten shillings apiece; to daughter Sarah the wife of Arthur Fenner, gent., £10, and small articles; to daughter Susan the wife of Thomas Leachford, £10; to daughter Phebe the wife of William Simons, £10 and various articles; to son William, and Jane his wife, his house and land in Rusper, for their natural lives, and after their decease to their sons Thomas Browne and Henry Browne, and their heirs forever. All the residue of his goods he gives to his son William Browne, whom he makes Executor; and he appoints as Overseers of his will Mr. Benjamin Browne, of Ifield, his brother, and Arthur Fenner, gent., his son-in-law. (Chichester Consistory Court, Vol. xxviii, 278-9.) Mr. Benjamin Browne was the Rector of Ifield, a neighboring parish to Rusper, and he died in 1636.

The perusal of this will suggests a relationship not before known, viz: that of the Fenners, of Providence, to the Brownes, for there can be very little doubt that Arthur Fenner of Providence, and his brother John Fenner of Saybrook, were sons of the "Arthur Fenner, gent.," mentioned in the Rev. Joseph Browne's will, as his son-in-law. There was also another brother, William Fenner of Providence, who died in 1680-81, and mentioned in his will his sisters, Sarah wife of Robert Lay of Saybrook, and Phebe wife of John Ward of Newport. Here we have the name Phebe, again, which has run through all the generations of the descendants of Phebe Browne. One is also reminded of Thomas Lechford, the lawyer of Boston, who kept the "Note Book" printed some twenty or thirty years ago with annotations by the late Dr. J. Hammond Trumbull, and it seems possible that this Thomas Leachford might be the same man.

The Rev. Joseph Browne, "Clerk and Parson of Rusper," was buried Oct. 15, 1633, and we know now that he was the father of "old William Browne," and one of the "predecessors who were ministers back to Queen Mary's time," according to "aunt Burchard."

DUDLEY-GRANGER, A Correction.—In all published records of William Dudley's lines of Saybrook and Guilford, Conn., his son Joseph is credited with twelve children, of whom the third is always given as Israel, baptized Mar. 24, 1704.

In Saybrook Records, at Deep River, vol. 2, page 74, we find:

Isaac Dudley, son of Joseph and Sarah (Pratt) Dudley, born March 24, 1703-4.

This developed in Land Records, vol. 7, page 514:

Know ye that We, Samuel Lamb of Pantoosuck (so called) & Hannah Lamb the wife of said Lamb and Simeon Granger of Springfield & Abigail Granger the wife of said Simeon Granger, the said Samuel Lamb in right of his wife Hannah, & the said Simeon Granger in right of his wife Abigail which said Hannah and Abigail are children and heirs of Isaac Dudley late of Saybrook deceased, for the consideration of twenty pound to us in hand paid by Silvanus Dudley now of Pantoosuck, formerly of Saybrook. . . . And Daniel Adams & Hannah Adams his wife both of Suffield which Hannah Dudley was formerly widow and Relict of said Isaac Dudley deceased.

HARVARD.—In the printed matter relating to the ancestors of Rev. John Harvard, I have not noticed the following facts regarding their connection with the Free Grammar School in St. Saviour's, Southwark:—

Robert, the father of Rev. John Harvard, was present as a parishoner at a meeting on 20 Feb., 1615, to elect a new governor, and signed the book.

3 Jan., 1624-5, he was present and was nominated a feoffee of Mr. Randall Carter's gift of an annuity to a poor scholar at Magdalen Hall, Oxford.

13 Aug., 1625, the feoffment was executed, but Mr. Harvard does not appear as one of the feoffees. The reason, of course, was his death and burial, 24 Aug., 1625.

Thomas Harvard was elected governor, 12 Dec., 1646. A new governor was chosen in the place of Thomas Harvard, deceased, on 8 Apr., 1668.

INSCRIBED POWDER HORNS.—In the REGISTER (L. 43-5) for January, 1896, is an article on Inscribed Powder Horns, which mentions a remarkable collection of such horns made by the late Rufus A. Grider, of Canajoharie, N. Y. In the REGISTER (LV. 134) for January, 1901, is a notice of Mr. Grider's death, which speaks of his labors in this line, and calls him the founder of a new antiquarian art. Only recently have I learned that his interesting collection has been bought by Mr. Isaac John Greenwood, of New York city, and given to the New York Historical Society, where it is sure to attract attention. The subject is one of sufficient value to be noted in these pages.

ELDRIDGE-LONG.—In volume 51, page 47, of the REGISTER, Jehosaphat Eldredge, together with Samuel, who married Keziah Taylor, and John, are given as probably the children of William Eldred. This may be correct as to Samuel and John, but Jehosaphat was the son of Samuel. The will of Richard Taylor of Yarmouth (who died Aug. 1, 1703), dated Sept. 2, 1698, with codicil dated Oct. 8, 1699, proved Oct. 6, 1703, and recorded in vol. 2, p. 162, at Barnstable, mentions sons Richard and Elisha, daughters Mehitable, Keziah Eldredge, and Hannah Jenkins, and grandsons Samuel Eldredge and Jehosaphat Eldredge.

Josiah Paine, Esq., of Harwich, informs me, as follows: "Jehosaphat Eldred of Yarmouth, son of Samuel and Keziah of Yarmouth, born in 1682, married Thankful Rider of Yarmouth, went to Falmouth, where he died Sept. 30, 1765, aged eighty-three years. His wife died there in 1750, aged sixty-one years. I think his brother Samuel at one time lived in Chatham. He must not be confounded with the Jehosaphat of Chatham. It is possible they were related."

Mr. Paine also writes me: "William Long was the one who married Bridget Eldredge in 1714. He is called 'Lang' in the REGISTER, vol. 23, page 179, but the name should be Long. I wrote to Mr. Adams, who sent the list for publication in the REGISTER, and asked him if it was not Long, and he stated that upon close examination he found it so. Mr. Long resided in Harwich some years, but his wife dying, he married in Yarmouth and went there to live. His son William lived and died in Harwich."

I may add that the name Long is common on the Cape, but Lang, so far as I know, has not existed there. It is also a fact that Joseph Eldredge, the brother of Bridget, in his will calls her Bridget Long.

HAWES.—"Gravestone Records" of Yarmouth, by Bowman, page 21, gives Mercy Hawes as the wife of Deacon Joseph Hawes. This is an error, and the name is very plainly inscribed on the stone as Mary Hawes. In Plymouth Co. Deeds, vol. 29, p. 129, is a conveyance dated Sept. 27, 1734, and recorded Jan. 30, 1734-5, by which Joseph Hawes, gentleman, Thomas Hawes, cordwainer, Joseph Hawes, Jr., cordwainer, David Hawes, laborer, and Prence Hawes, mariner, of Yarmouth, Edmund Hawes, cooper, David Parker, yeoman, and Mary, his wife, Ebenezer Gorham, joiner, and Temperance, his wife, Thomas Annable, husbandman, and Thankful, his wife, of Barnstable, Jonathan Sears and Elizabeth, his wife, of Harwich, convey to Cornelius Bennett, of Middleborough, physician, all their interest in and to the lands and meadow that Thomas Prence, Esq., former Governor, etc., had a right to at the time of his death in the Townships of Middleborough and Bridgewater, more particularly all the right of Mary, late wife of said Joseph Hawes.

The conveyance confirms the name as Mary, and also shows that she was a daughter of Jeremiah Hawes.

JAMES W. HAWES.

BLISS.—On page 39 of the Bliss Genealogy, by J. Homer Bliss, is a list of the children of Jonathan and Miriam (Harmon) Bliss. The first child is given as Ephraim, born in Rehoboth, Mass., Feb. 5, 1649. The vital records of that town credit a child to Jonathan Bliss on that day, named Ceperianus; the records having a duplicate entry of Jonathan's first six children, in which the first child is named Experience. This last is the correct name, as Experience Bliss married Nathaniel<sup>2</sup> Chaffe (Thomas<sup>1</sup>), Aug. 19, 1669, in Swansea, Mass., as per the vital records of that town. That Experience was the daughter of Jonathan is proved by extracts from the Rehoboth Proprietors' Land Records: "The bounds of the Lands of Nathaniel Chaffee * * * 6<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> Ten akers of land be it more or less lying on the eastward end of his Father Bliss Lands on the west side of Palmers river, being bounded. Westerly Jonathan Bliss lands, Northerly a Highway, southerly and easterly the common land." The vital records of Rehoboth do not credit Jonathan Bliss with a child named Ephraim.

ELIZABETH FRENCH.

TODD.—In the REGISTER, ante, page 49, the first wife of Samuel<sup>3</sup> Todd, Jr. (No. 7) was Susanna, daughter of Joseph and Hannah (Munson) Tuttle (see "Descendants of William and Elizabeth Tuttle," page 325 and note); and ante, page 48, the wife of Christopher<sup>1</sup> Todd was Grace, daughter of Michael Middlebrook (according to Mrs. Mary Bradstreet Helmershausen, Franklin Grove, Ill.).

CHATHAM, MASS., GRAVESTONE INSCRIPTIONS.—In a field northwest of the Old Burying Ground, and northwest of the house late of Samuel Clifford, and south of the road that leads from the late Stephen Smith's to East Harwich, just west of an old fence, are a number of graves, probably eight in all, of which four have headstones, the inscriptions on which are here given in their order from south to north; the fourth headstone being separated by a considerable interval from the other three:

"Here lies buried Mrs. Bershebe Smith widow of Mr. Stephen Smith who Dec<sup>d</sup> in Ye 57th year of her age with the small pox. She Dec<sup>d</sup> Jany. ye 16th 1766.

Here Lies buried Mr. Stephen Smith A Deacon who Dec<sup>d</sup> Jany. ye 13th 1766 in ye 60th year of his age with the small pox.

At the foot of this grave Lyes 2 Infant Children Dec<sup>d</sup> December ye 12th 1766."

On a hill in Chathamport,* east of the late Rufus Smith's and south of the late Christopher Ryder's, are three headstones among graves of the Ryder family with whom the small pox epidemic of 1766 is said to have originated, of which the following are not complete literal transcripts, but are correct copies of names, dates and ages:

"Zenas Rider died with the smallpox Jan. 1766 in his 4[illegible]* th year.

Elizabeth, wife of Zenas Rider, died with the smallpox Jan. 1766 in her 39th year.

John Rider died Jan. 10, 1766, with the'smalpox in his 76th year."

South of the West Chatham school house, by the side of two rocks on land now belonging to Richard Young (deceased's grandnephew) and close to the fence that separates that land from land on the east now belonging to Sparrow Harding, is the following stone which is broken and has fallen down, but the inscription is legible:

"Mr. Richard Young† he died July ye 29 1798 in his 23<sup>d</sup> year."

* Josiah Paine, Esq., of Harwich, informs me that his notes of a visit to this hill some fifty years ago show a stone then standing to Ebenezer Eldredge, who died Feb. 25, 1797, aged 90 years; and also one to Ebenezer's wife Deliverance (Nickerson) Eldredge, but he has no note of the inscription on this one.

Zenas Rider he says died in his fortieth year.

†The family tradition is that he died of smallpox, and the character of the burial place confirms it.

North of the late Samuel Clifford's, on the east side of the road that leads to the late Rufus Smith's, is part of a stone:

"[Ebenezer Paine, who died Jan. 22, 1766,]* in the 38th year of his age."

South of the road, a little west of the South Chatham depot, is one inscribed:

"Abigail, wife of David Eldredge, died Dec. 5, 1849, æ. 51 years.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

HISTORY OF CHELMSFORD, MASS.—Rev. Wilson Waters, M.A., of Chelmsford, Mass., is completing the history of the town, begun by the late Henry S. Perham, for publication under a committee composed of the trustees of the Adams Library, appointed by the town. It is expected that it will take three or four years to finish the work and publish it.

ENGLISH RESEARCH.—The Committee on English Research, of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, begs to call attention to the desirability of reviving investigation concerning the English ancestry of the pioneers of New England. From 1883 to 1899, former Committees secured funds by which valuable researches among the wills of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in London were carried on by Henry F. Waters, Esq., the results of which were published in the REGISTER, giving clues which led to determining the ancestry of many of the early settlers of New England; but since Mr. Waters's work was relinquished, comparatively little has been accomplished by the Society in that direction.

The Committee now solicits funds for continuing research in England, on the ancestry of the early New England colonists, the results to appear in the REGISTER, and it would be glad to receive suggestions and information on this subject.

Clues, not generally known, as to the origin of several early emigrants, have come into the Committee's hands, and the Secretary of the Committee will be glad to give information to anyone who may desire to make investigations.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Larkin.—William H. Larkin, Jr., 1121 Main St., La Porte, Ind., is preparing a history of the Larkin family of Charlestown, Mass., 1638, and Newport, R. I., 1655.

Ramsdell.—Wesley Weyman, 80 Washington Sq., New York City, is preparing a genealogy of the descendants of John Ramsdell of Lynn, Mass., and of Joseph Ramsdell of Plymouth, Mass., besides all other Ramsdell lines.

Wyer.—J. I. Wyer, Jr., 399 Western Ave., Albany, N. Y., has collected extensive data relating to the Wyer family in America, which he plans eventually to publish. He will be glad to hear from all members of the family or of inter-married families.

The Allen Memorial. Second Series. Descendants of Samuel Allen of Windsor, Conn., 1640-1907. By ORRIN PEER ALLEN, Palmer, Mass. Published by the Author. From the Press of C. B. Fiske & Company. 1907. Price $3.75 postpaid, address the Author, Palmer, Mass. 8vo. pp. 303. Illus.

This well-compiled, comprehensive genealogy, arranged on the REGISTER plan, follows the First Series, which treated of the descendants of Edward Allen of Nantucket, and presents an account of the descendants of Samuel Allen of Windsor, Conn., including Gen. Ethan Allen of Vermont, Judge Samuel Hitchcock, and Dr. Jabez Penniman. The families of Baker, Warner, Bronson, Hitchcock, and Penniman also are noticed. Many portraits and views add to the value of this excellent genealogy, which is attractive and substantial in appearance.

The Old Bay Road from Saltonstall's Brook and Samuel Appleton's Farm and a Genealogy of the Ipswich Descendants of Samuel Appleton. By T. FRANK WATERS. Publications of the Ipswich Historical Society XV. Proceedings at the Annual Meeting, December 3, 1906. Salem Press: The Salem Press Co., Salem, Mass. 1907. 8vo. pp. 62. Illus. Map.

Following a diagram of the "Grants on a part of the Bay Path" is a complete account of the conveyances of each parcel of land down to its present owner. The enormous amount of labor and research condensed in these succinct paragraphs is hardly realized by the reader, and this finely illustrated article gives views of many of the beautiful houses now standing on these historic sites. Eight generations of the Ipswich Appletons furnish new data regarding that family. The usual reports of the Society, and a list of its members closes this number of its Publications.

A History of the Cobb Family. By PHILIP L. COBB. Part I. Cleveland, 1907. 8vo. pp. 42.

The first part of this genealogy takes up the history of Henry Cobb of Barnstable and his descendants of the second generation and part of the third generation. The author states that he has found no relationship between this branch of the family and those of Taunton, Boston, and Hingham.

Family Records of the Descendants of Gershom Flagg (born 1730) of Lancaster, Massachusetts, with other genealogical records of the Flagg Family descended from Thomas Flegg of Watertown, Mass., and including the Flegg Lineage in England. Compiled and published by NORMAN GERSHOM FLAGG and LUCIUS C. S. FLAGG. 1907. [Cadogan-Hatcher Mfg. Co. Printers and Binders, Quincy, Ill.] 8vo. pp. 160. Illus.

This genealogy is well-defined, simply arranged, and clearly printed on good paper, and is a credit to its compilers. The connection of the American family with the English ancestors is given, and also an account of that family back to 1426. The direct line from Thomas Flagg of Watertown, the emigrant ancestor, to Gershom of Lancaster is stated, and beginning with his two sons Ebenezer and Gershom, of the sixth generation, all the known descendants are given. The illustrations are good and consist principally of portraits and views. The volume is well bound, and there is an index.

Genealogy of the Hill, Dean, Pinckney, Austin, Barker, Anderson, Rhoades, and Finch Families. By FRANKLIN COUCH, LL. B. Printed for Private Circulation by Newburgh Journal Company. 1907. 4to. pp. 129. Illus.

A biographical sketch of Uriah Hill Jr. precedes an account of the descendants of Anthony Hill, who settled in Fox Meadows, N. Y., about 1726. The allied families above mentioned receive ample attention, and brief notice is also given to the Lounsbury and Smith connections.

Genealogy of the Jaquett Family. By EDWIN JAQUETT SELLERS. Revised Edition, Philadelphia, 1907. [Press of Allen, Lane & Scott, Philadelphia.] 8vo. pp. 226. Illus.

Seldom is the search for the family of an emigrant ancestor so fruitful as in this case. This second edition, which is unprefaced, begins with the record of Pierre Jaquet of Geneva in the latter part of the fifteenth century. The record of his descendants is fully given, with many extracts from notarial records, and other sources of authority. Many statements of the first edition are corrected or amended, and the portraits of some of the worthies of this family found in Geneva or Nuremburg are finely reproduced. It is a matter of regret that the state and country in which a city or town is located is omitted, marring the scholarly standard which this book maintains as a whole.

Moffatana Bulletin. An Occasional Publication, Vol. 1. No. 2. Published by GEORGE WEST MAFFET. Editor and Historian in Chief "The Clan Moffat in America." A Genealogy in Preparation. Lawrence, Kansas. 4to. pp. [6]. Illus.

The Families of Perkins, Fairfield, and King. [Compiled by WILLIAM MORRELL EMERY]. San Francisco. The Murdock Press. 1907. 8vo. pp. 57.

Probate and land records of Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts, as well as the vital records of various towns, have been searched to furnish these accounts of the descendants of Capt. Thomas Perkins of Kennebunkport, Me., of John Fairfield of Charlestown, Mass., and of Richard King of Scarboro, Me.

A Porter Pedigree, being an account of the Ancestry and Descendants of Samuel and Martha (Perley) Porter of Chester, N. H., who were descendants of John Porter of Salem, Mass., and Allan Perley of Ipswich, Mass. Compiled by Miss JULIET PORTER, Worcester, Mass. 1907. Price, paper $1.25; cloth, $1.75. Address Miss Juliet Porter, 37 Dean St., Station A., Worcester, Mass. 8vo. pp. 161.

Unusual color and life, resulting from the author's individuality of treatment in this genealogy, is the salient feature of the thirty pages which contain a faithful chronicle of over three hundred of the descendants of Samuel and Martha (Perley) Porter. The clear arrangement is related in form to the REGISTER plan, but the biographical sketches, though brief, are unusual. Among the fifteen lines of ancestry recorded, the Perley and Porter lines are most fully described. The book is well printed on good paper, and there is an index.

Purmort Genealogy consisting of Nineteen Generations; nine in England, ten in America. By Rev. CHARLES H. PURMORT, D.D., Des Moines, Iowa. Published by the Homestead Company, Des Moines, Iowa. 1907. 8vo. pp. 148. Illus.

Philemon Purmort, the early Boston schoolmaster, is the first of the name in America, and, following an account of this interesting pioneer in education, ten generations are given, though the author states that there are several links in the chain which remain obscure, and it may be there are only nine generations in America. The Purmort coat-of-arms is given as a frontispiece, and the author's explanation of its component parts possesses more originality than is usually met in heraldic descriptions. The illustrations are chiefly portraits, and add greatly to the attractiveness of the volume.

Sixteenth Annual Reunion of the Reynolds Family Association held at D'Wolf Inn, Bristol, R. I., Thursday, August 15th, 1907. Press of Pelton & King, Middletown, Conn. 8vo. pp. 53. Illus.

In the appendix, which follows the record of the addresses made on this occasion, and the list of officers and members, we find four generations of the descendants of Robert Reynolds of Watertown, Mass., and five generations of the descendants of John Reynolds of Weymouth, Mass., and Stonington, Conn.

The White Family Genealogy. [By Nathan Goold.] 12mo. pp. 4.

This leaflet is a reprint from the Narragansett Sun of Oct. 6, 1897.

The Whitmore Genealogy. A record of the Descendants of Francis Whitmore of Cambridge, Massachusetts (1625-1685). 1907. [By] JESSIE WHITMORE PATTEN PURDY. Press of Pengelly & Brother, Reading, Pa. 8vo. pp. 158. Illus.

The compiler has accomplished her desire to carry down to the present generation the Whitmore Genealogy published by Hon. William H. Whitmore in 1855, adding as many family sketches as possible. The additional information will be most useful to genealogists. The book is printed on an excellent deckledged, linen paper, and has two indexes. The illustrations are portraits.

Ancestors of Rev. Williams Howe Whittemore, Bolton, Ct., 1800—Rye, N. Y., 1885, and of his wife Maria Clark, New York, 1803—Brooklyn, 1886. Compiled by WILLIAM PLUMB BACON. [Adkins Printing Co., New Britain, Ct.] 4to. pp. 124. Illus.

The ancestral charts of Rev. Williams Howe Whittemore and Maria Clark are printed as they have been filled out, and following each chart is an account of each family mentioned therein, and the line, with dates and facts, descending to the persons above named. The book is well printed on heavy paper, and very interesting.

The Woolson-Fenno Ancestry and Allied Lines, with Biographical Sketches. By LULA MAY (FENNO) WOOLSON and CHARLES AMASA WOOLSON of Springfield, Vermont. Privately printed. 1907. 8vo. pp. 143. Illus.

The pedigree charts of Charles Amasa Woolson and Lula May Fenno, to be found in the front of this volume, afford an excellent bird's-eye view of its contents. In addition to the two principal lines, seventy-five allied families are noticed, and many biographical sketches given. The excellent illustrations include portraits and views of homesteads. The press work is especially commendable, and it is a pleasure to note that this work, which has necessarily consumed much time in preparation, is likely to have a long life of usefulness by being printed on a strong, durable paper.

A Memoir of Daniel Lathrop Coit of Norwich, Connecticut, 1754-1833. Privately Printed. Norwich. The Bulletin Press, 1907. 8vo. pp. 70.

This delightful little story of a life of travel, usefulness and real worth, is written as a tribute to the memory of a much-beloved grandfather. It also traces his descent from John Coit who settled, in 1638, in Salem, Mass.

A portrait of Dr. Edson and views of All Saints Church embellish this small pamphlet, which gives an interesting account of the work of the founder of the parish.

The story of Dr. Osgood's service in Burma as a Baptist missionary is here well told, and also there is an account of his father's work among the Indians of Lake Ontario, N. Y. The genealogy of his descendants, in the last few pages of the pamphlet, will prove a valuable and useful addition.

Richard Weekes, Gentleman at Arms and Prisoner in the Fleet. [Reprinted from an article by Ethel Lega-Weekes included in the Rev. S. Baring-Gould's Book of "Devonshire Characters and Strange Events," 1908]. 8vo. pp. 9. Illus.

This story of an ancient family dispute over the ancestral estate is told clearly and concisely.

Office of Publication: Hanover Bank Building, 5 Nassua St., New York City. 4to. pp. 23-44. Illus.

A continuation of the articles on the Frost and Jackson families published in the first number is here given, and also brief accounts of related families, among others that of Bolles. It is to be regretted that the writer of the last named article was unaware that the descent of Joseph from Sir John Bolles has been authentically established. The Rice, Brewer, Moore, Aborne, and Whale families receive attention.

This is an exact transcript of the town records as above described, and includes the town meetings and selectmen's records from March 4, 1844, to Jan. 21, 1850. To those who know the excellent volumes that the City has previously published it will only be necessary to say that the same skill and care appears to have been expended here. There is a good index, clear print, good paper, and substantial binding.

The Cambridge Historical Society. Publications II. Proceedings October 23, 1906—October 22, 1907. Cambridge, Massachusetts. Published by the Society. 1907. 8vo. pp. 144.

The celebrations of the Longfellow and Agassiz anniversaries, in which the Cambridge Historical Society played an active part, will probably attract the keenest interest in this number. Many shorter articles are worthy of notice, especially the diary of the mother of Thomas Wentworth Higginson, written in 1827, which gives a charming picture of Cambridge life.

The high standard of excellence maintained in every particular throughout these volumes will afford delight to the book-lover, scholar and antiquarian. Every person mentioned in the text of the original edition has a biographical sketch in the Notes at the end of each volume, and great care and labor has been expended on this edition in the more than fifteen hundred of these sketches. At the end of Volume II. there is a reprint of the parish records of St. Paul's Church, Narragansett, which will prove most useful. Through all three volumes there are many portraits of New England worthies, and some exceedingly beautiful views. Volume III. contains eleven appendices, and an index which is descriptive, identifying each name it contains. Paper, binding, and presswork are examples of the best in the printer's art.

If the example set by the town of Rockingham should be followed by other towns in Vermont, much information would be preserved and made accessible concerning a state whose historical details are so difficult to obtain. This history is large and comprehensive, including an account of the early settlement, Indian troubles, commercial enterprises, ecclesiastical history, Revolutionary record, highways and transportation, public benefactions, libraries, lawyers, physicians, and town officers. Part Two devotes about one hundred and fifty pages to the genealogies of the families of the town. There are two indexes, and many maps. The illustrations are good, and the whole volume reflects credit on its compiler and on the town.

History of Salem, N. H. Compiled and written by EDGAR GILBERT, A.B. Illustrated. Concord, N. H. Rumford Printing Company, 1907. Price, cloth, $3.00; half leather, $4.00. Address the author, 16 Stevens St., Methuen, Mass. 8vo. pp. 444+136+24. Illus. Maps.

Years of persistent effort on the part of a few townsmen finally resulted in this valuable and comprehensive record of the town, which also includes the early history of Haverhill and Methuen, Mass. Its topography, settlement and development are well described, as is also its ecclesiastical, political, military, educational, and industrial progression. The most unique feature of the work, however, is the tables giving the births, marriages, and deaths in the town, arranged in alphabetical order. Maps and illustrations are inserted freely, and two indexes close a volume which is a credit to its town.

CAPTAIN ALBERT ALONZO FOLSOM.

By GEORGE SUMNER MANN, Esq.

ALBERT ALONZO FOLSOM was born in Exeter, N. H., September 13, 1834, son of John Fulford and Caroline Rogers (Shaw) Folsom, and a direct descendant of John Foulsham who was baptized in 1615 at Hingham, England, by the Rev. Peter Hobart, afterwards minister of the church at Hingham, Mass.

John Foulsham married, October 4, 1636, Mary, daughter of Edward and Mary (Clarke) Gilman, and accompanied by his wife, her father and mother, and two other relatives, sailed for New England in the ship Diligent of Ipswich, landing at Boston, August 10, 1638. After residing in Hingham, Mass., for twelve or fifteen years, he followed his father-in-law, Edward Gilman, to Exeter, N. H., where the first mention of him is in the town records of 1655. He was one of the selectmen of Exeter in 1659, and a juryman in 1662. The direct family line, down to the subject of this sketch, is: John,<sup>1</sup> Peter,<sup>2</sup> Peter,<sup>3</sup> James,<sup>4</sup> James,<sup>5</sup> John,<sup>6</sup> John Fulford,<sup>7</sup> Albert Alonzo<sup>8</sup>.

John Fulford Folsom, born at Exeter, N. H., in 1805, married, in 1833, Caroline (Rogers) Shaw, granddaughter of the Rev. Jeremiah Shaw of New Hampshire, and of Captain Benjamin Rogers, of Newburyport, who was a privateer in the Revolution and a prisoner of war of the British at New York until he was exchanged.

Albert Alonzo Folsom accompanied his parents to Boston, in 1842, being then eight years old. For the next seven years his time was spent in the public schools of Boston. Soon after, he entered the newspaper office of the Daily Bee where he remained five years, assisting in the general work of printing, reporting, and performing clerical service in the counting-room. These years in this position proved to be of great advantage to his studious and receptive mind. It developed a capacity for business and enlarged his experience so that, at the age of twenty, he was enabled to accept a better and more lucrative position, becoming general ticket agent for the Boston and Providence Railroad. In 1860 he removed to Providence, R. I., to fill the office of superintendent of transportation for the same corporation. In the spring of 1864 he was advanced to the position of assistant superintendent of the road, in Boston; and in March, 1867, he became general superintendent, which position he held up to the time the Boston and Providence Railroad was leased to the Old Colony Railroad, in 1888. Mr. Folsom was a very efficient officer, and introduced many valuable devices for increasing the comfort and safety of the travelling public, and the railroad owed much of its prosperity to his untiring efforts during his lengthy service. It is said that in 1869 he adopted and introduced the Miller platform buffer and hook, the Boston and Providence Railroad being the first to put that device to its full practical use. About the same year, recognizing the utility of the Westinghouse air-brake, he introduced and adopted this system, which proved a success. He was one of the founders of the Eastern Railroad Association, in 1867, a member of its executive committee in 1877, and its treasurer in 1879, which latter position he continuously held up to the time of his death. A Republican, though liberal in his views, he served on the board of Aldermen for the city of Boston in 1889-90, when it was more of an honor to be of that body.

Mr. Folsom was a prominent member of many military organizations. He was elected clerk of the American Rifles, in 1851, of which David R. Wardwell was captain. In 1852 he was made a member of the National Guards, and in 1854 elected a Lieutenant of the Company. At this period the anti-slavery agitation became intense, especially in Boston, caused by the efforts to liberate the fugitive slave Anthony Burns. Lieutenant Folsom was in command of the Guards in the Boston riot, where one man was killed and several severely hurt, and took active part in the protection of law. Soon after, Lieutenant Folsom resigned his commission, preferring to be a private. On his removal to Providence, in 1860, he retired from the company. While living in Boston he was also a member of the "Tigers," otherwise called the "Boston Light Infantry." In Providence he joined the Light Infantry of that city, and at his death was a member of the Providence Veteran Association. In 1867, Mr. Folsom joined the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and was chosen sergeant the following year. In 1870, he was made first lieutenant of the company, and its commander in 1876. He was always an active member of the company, and prominent in making up its library, being for many years on its library and museum committee, which directed the publication of the history of the company issued in 1891 in four large volumes. In 1888, Captain Folsom was a member of the committee having in charge the entertainment of the Honourable Artillery Company of London during its visit in Boston, and in 1896 he accompanied the Boston company on its visit to London, in the capacity of treasurer. His most valued services to the company, no doubt, have been his energetic labors and endeavors to perpetuate the memories of its early history. It was he who discovered the picture of Captain Keayne's house of 1637, which forms the frontispiece of the third volume of the history of the company ; and to further enrich the work, he spent much time and persistent effort in procuring nearly fifty portraits of past commanders, the oldest portrait dating back to 1651.

Captain Folsom was a prominent Free Mason ; worshipful master of Columbian Lodge in 1876, 1877, and 1878 ; a member of Boston Commandery K. T. ; and in 1897 elected a member of the directors of the Grand Lodge A. F. and A. M. of Massachusetts, being further honored by re-election to the same office in 1899, and in 1900 appointed Deputy Grand Master of Massachusetts. He was also a member of the Universalist Club, the Virginia Historical Society, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Sons of the American Revolution, the Bostonian Society, the Brookline Historical Society, and the Brookline Thursday Club. His membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society dated from February, 1879.

Interest in matters of history led him to take up the case of a French lieutenant of Count d'Estaing's fleet during the revolutionary war, who was assaulted in Boston and died a few days later. The officer was secretly buried at midnight, and an agreement was said to have been made between d'Estaing and the Colonial officers in which the latter agreed to erect a monument to the gallant lieutenant. This was never done, though there was correspondence between Washington and Gen. Heath in Boston ; and the general court of Massachusetts passed a resolve for the monument, and appointed a committee to see that the obligations were kept, but the monument was never built. As a result of Mr. Folsom's research, and the co-operation of Senator Prentiss Cummings, legislation is now pending for the erecting of the monument.

It may be of interest here to narrate briefly two episodes which occurred in Boston in 1865 and 1868. Captain Folsom, at the request of Orlando Tompkins, who was for many years proprietor of the Boston Theatre, arranged for the hurried journey of Edwin Booth to New York after the assassination of Abraham Lincoln by Booth's brother. Booth had hastened to Mr. Tompkins's house to be away from the public gaze, and Captain Folsom secured a private car for the journey, and often described Mr. Booth's condition as pitiable in the extreme as he walked from the carriage to the car, taking no notice of his surroundings and seeming to be dazed by the calamity that had fallen so suddenly upon the nation, and also upon his own family.

In the summer of 1868, Captain Folsom met Hon. Edwin M. Stanton by appointment, and escorted him across the city to the residence of the Hon. Samuel Hooper, on Commonwealth Avenue, where he stayed some days, recovering from an illness which almost proved fatal. During his stay as Mr. Hooper's guest, the press made no mention of it, as it was not known that he was in the city.

After his recovery, Mr. Stanton went to Mr. Hooper's summer residence, where he remained for some days.

Captain Folsom was identified with the Second Universalist Church of Boston, which had for its pastor the Rev. Alonzo A. Miner, D.D.

On April 11, 1861, he was married to Julia Elizabeth, daughter of Francis Berry and Mary (Cockayne) Winter of Boston. Their children are: Francis Berry Winter Folsom, Chandler Ransom Folsom, Mrs. Mary Winter Dexter, and Mrs. Julia Elizabeth, wife of Dr. Charles S. Barrell of Boston. Captain Folsom was widely known, well read, a man of remarkable memory, and highly respected in the community. One of the best tributes paid to his character is to be found in the resolutions written by Henry W. Lamb, Esq., for the Brookline Thursday Club, a portion of which follows:—

"Captain Folsom's duties in his long career brought him into contact with many eminent men and threw grave responsibilities frequently upon him. It was always a delight when he was induced to relate his experiences. He told them with a winning simplicity and confidence in the sympathy of his hearers who will long recall them with the pleasure that is one of the finest tributes to the memory of those whom we have liked and respected. His studies and researches were thorough and led him into many unbroken paths. He was happy when they were the means of procuring justice where it had not previously been given, but most of members of this Club will gratefully remember his pleasure when he was thus able to benefit his friends.

Resolved. That the Brookline Thursday Club records its deep sorrow for the death of its loved and honored member, Albert Alonzo Folsom. Capt. Folsom's presence at the meetings of the Club was always gladly welcomed by his fellow members, and he had endeared himself to them in an uncommon degree by his genial cordiality. Whenever they met or heard of him in his various activities, there or elsewhere, they recognized and admired in him the warm heart, the liberal mind, the straightforward sincerity and fidelity, which made him a valuable member of a wide community. His memory will be fondly cherished."

He died at his residence on Garrison Road, Brookline, Mass., December 24, 1907, and was buried in the family lot at Forest Hills Cemetery.

RICHARD HUGHES OF GUILFORD, CONN., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Compiled by Hon. RALPH D. SMYTH, and communicated by DR. BERNARD C. STEINER.

1. RICHARD<sup>1</sup> HUGHES, the name also spelled Hewes, Hues, and Huse, was one of the earliest settlers of Guilford, as he drew one of the early lots of land. His name appears in the first list of planters for 1650, where it is spelt "Hues." He may have come from Dorchester, Mass., as one of his name was there in 1639. At Guilford he was a member of the church, and appears to have been an esteemed and worthy citizen. At a particular Court held at Guilford, May 5, 1659, "The inventory of the estate of Richard Hughes, late of Guilford deceased, was presented by William Stone who had married the widow of the deceased, which was proved by said William Stone and his wife for the quantity, and by Robert Kitchel and Abraham Cruttenden, Sr., for the value—amount £96 . 4s . 7d.”

Administration of the estate was granted, May 23, 1659, to William Stone, upon promise and engagement to perform the payment of all debts and portions according to the court's appointment.

At a particular court (Guilford), Aug. 21, 1659, William Stone appeared bringing in a parcel of goods sent as a token from friends in England to be distributed betwixt Widow Hughes and her eight children but not specifying how. The Court, with consent of William Stone, who married said widow, divided what part of them as was sent with such general order only, one third to said William Stone for the widow and the two children that are yet remaining with her—viz., Martha and Rebecca—and the other six parts between the other six children in equal proportions, appointing Mr. Kitchel and Abraham Cruttenden, Sr., to see the distribution made accordingly.

Richard<sup>1</sup> Hughes died July 3, 1658, and his widow, Mary, married second, May, 1659, William Stone, who died Nov., 1683.

He married, Apr. 26, 1665, Mary, daughter of Henry Dowd.

He inherited from his father a parcel of land containing 6 acres in the little plain. In 1684, he lived in Stratford, and married, about 1692, Abigail, daughter of John Thompson and widow of Jonathan Curtiss, who married third, Aug., 1695, Samuel Sherman, Jr., and died Feb., 1719.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF JOHN GAGE OF IPSWICH, MASS.

By ARTHUR E. GAGE, A.M., of Woburn, Mass.

1. JOHN<sup>1</sup> GAGE first appears as one of the signers to the covenant roll of the First Church in Boston, Aug. 27, 1630, and from his position on the list, which was headed by Gov. Winthrop, it may be inferred that he was of the number who came over from England in Winthrop's fleet. Some have claimed, on the authority of the late Horatio Somerby, that he was from Stoneham, in Suffolk, England, and was the second son of Sir John Gage, Bart., who married Penelope, widow of Sir George Trenchard; but as that John Gage, the second son of Sir John and Penelope, married one Mary Baker,* and died in England, without issue, leaving a will dated July 17, 1682, proved April 27, 1688, he could not have been our John Gage the immigrant.

John<sup>1</sup> Gage remained in Boston until March, 1633, when he went, with John Winthrop, Jr., to begin a plantation at Agawam, afterwards called Ipswich. On Mar. 4, 1633, he was admitted a freeman.

From the town he received a number of small parcels of land. He seems to have been a farmer, who varied his occupation by doing carpenter work. His most frequent employment was that of a lot layer, and for the settlement of the boundaries between Ipswich and the adjoining towns, and he was once chosen one of the seven men (selectmen). He is first called "Corporal" in a vote in the town records of Ipswich for the year 1639, and "Sergeant" in a vote of the town of Bradford, Apr. 18, 1670. Evidently he settled in that part of the town of Rowley which was first known as Merrimack Village, and afterwards as Bradford, some time prior to 1661.

In a deposition of John Gage, taken Sept. 27, 1659, his age is stated to be fifty years;† and in another, taken Mar. 25, 1662, his age is stated to be fifty-eight years.‡

His first wife, and the mother of his children, was Amee——,§ who died about the middle of June, 1658.

His second wife was Sarah, widow of Robert Keyes of Watertown and Newbury, whom he married Nov. 7, 1658, and who died in Newbury, July 7, 1681, her estate being distributed among her three daughters, the wives of William Smith, John French, and Samuel Buswell.

John Gage died Mar. 24, 1672-3, leaving a will, proved Mar. 25, 1673, in which he mentions his widow Sarah, sons Samuel, Daniel, Nathaniel, Jonathan, and Josiah, and a grandson (John, son of his deceased son Benjamin). It appears from his will that he divided his farm, with the exception of his island in the Merrimack, among his sons before his death, and † Essex Court Papers, Dennison vs. Symonds, Vol. 5, page 19.

‡ Essex Court Papers, Shortwell vs. Smith, Vol. 7, page 89.

§ The only hint we have as to who she may have been may be in the fact that her son Josiah, who, although twice married, died without issue, in his will after remembering his brothers and their children makes a bequest to his "cousin Whittaker." This cousin Whittaker was Mary Wilford, daughter of Gilbert Wilford, first the wife of John Corliss and then of William Whittaker. Gilbert Wilford was an attesting witness to the will of John Gage. The word cousin in this will, in a bequest to one Mehitable Gage, is undoubtedly used with the meaning of niece.

Another hint of relationship may be afforded by the fact that in a deposition of one Alexander Sessions it appears that Henry Kingsbury's son called Sergt. John Gage his "uncle." (Essex Court Papers, Vol. 14, page 46; REGISTER, ante, Vol. 54, page 260.)

had given each son about sixty acres of land, divided into first, second, third, and fourth division lots. As to his island, he provided that it should be divided equally among his sons, without naming them, and that his grandson should have an equal share with them. From the manner in which this island was afterwards conveyed, it appears that John Gage had only six sons, and did not have a son Thomas.

The order in which the names of the children of John Gage are given below agrees with what is known as to the dates of their birth, and does not conflict with the order in which they are named in the wills of John, Samuel, and Josiah.

Children by first wife, born in Ipswich :

2. i. SAMUEL,<sup>2</sup> b. 1638; deposed Jan. 26, 1663-4, aged 25.
  3. ii. DANIEL, b. 1639; deposed Mar. 29, 1669, aged 30.
  4. iii. BENJAMIN.

  7. vi. JOSIAH, b. 1648; deposed Mar. 29, 1669, aged 21.
2. SAMUEL<sup>2</sup> GAGE (John<sup>1</sup>), born in 1638, married, June 10, 1674, Faith, daughter of William and Elizabeth Stickney, who was born Feb. 4, 1641-2, and died about May 20, 1696.

He was admitted freeman at Haverhill, May 31, 1671; and died July 20, 1676, leaving a will, dated July 19, 1676, in which he mentions his wife Faith, daughter Elizabeth, and brothers Daniel, Nathaniel, and Josiah.

Children, born in Bradford :

EXTRACTS FROM THE DIARY OF REV. ROGER NEWTON, D.D., OF GREENFIELD, MASS.

Communicated by Hon. FRANCIS M. THOMPSON of Greenfield.

A FEW years since there was rescued from a dumping barrel the greater part of a diary kept by Rev. Dr. Roger Newton, pastor for fifty-six years (1761-1816) of the First Church in Greenfield, Mass. It contains the list of church members, admissions, church meetings, discipline, marriages, baptisms, deaths, and a personal diary. Some breaks occur by missing pages.

Judge Thompson published in his History of Greenfield (1904) the marriages and deaths, and some selections from the personal diary (vol. 1, pages 700-749), also a brief sketch of Dr. Newton (ibid, pages 461-462).

Following are the Church members, admissions, and baptisms.

DANIEL ANGELL GLEASON, A.B., LL.B.

ON February 16, 1908, the useful and honorable career of Daniel Angell Gleason, son of John Fiske and Maria (Tourtelotte) Gleason, drew to a peaceful close in his home at Medford, Massachusetts. He had built this home some forty years ago, selecting the spot somewhat at random. Some time later in life, his awakening interest in genealogical investigation led him to the interesting conclusion that he had unknowingly located his home on the identical farm owned by his wife's early ancestor, Stephen Hall, and hardly a mile distant from the spot occupied by the original Gleason ancestor, Thomas, on the western shores of Mystic Pond, then known as the Squa Sachem's reservation.

Just when this original Thomas<sup>1</sup> came to America, and from what part of England, is still unknown. His name first appears among those taking the oath of allegiance in Watertown in 1652. From his several sons have descended numerous Gleasons of New England. John<sup>2</sup> Gleason early removed to Sudbury, Mass., and died about 1690. Thomas<sup>3</sup> Gleason resided in Marlborough for a time, but in 1718 took up land in Worcester, being among the early settlers of that town, where he died in 1755. When the New England forces were mustered into service for the Revolutionary war, two companies came from Worcester to enter battle, and Isaac<sup>4</sup> Gleason was a member of one, and his son Jonathan<sup>5</sup> of the other. Isaac<sup>4</sup> died in Worcester in 1776, at the age of 52. Jonathan<sup>5</sup> married Mary Fiske, and died in 1826, at about the age of 82. John<sup>6</sup> Gleason was born in 1773, married Mary Simonds, and died in middle life, leaving a farm, somewhat encumbered, to be carried on by his son John Fiske<sup>7</sup> the father of Daniel Angell<sup>8</sup> Gleason, as above stated.

This John Fiske<sup>7</sup> Gleason, with the help of his three younger brothers, managed the farm and tended store in the winter, in the attempt to keep the family together, but after a two years' struggle gave up the undertaking, sold the farm, and apprenticed himself to a contractor and builder in the neighboring town of Shrewsbury. Before he was twenty-one he was put in charge of contracts, mostly of meeting-houses, receiving a share of the profits for his pay, and his indentures were cancelled. He conducted his business with great energy until he was fifty years of age, when his health became precarious and he retired from active work with a modest competency. He was a man with the distinctive characteristics of so many of our New England men of the descent and education which was common in the interior of Massachusetts, at least during the earlier part of the last century—a man of very positive convictions, an early member of the Liberty party, although being by inheritance a Democrat, or Republican as the party was called in the early days of the century.

He afterwards became a strong Free-Soiler, and later a Republican of the modern name. He took an active part in municipal affairs of the city of Worcester, was councilman and alderman, represented the town for two years in the legislature, and was a member of the legislature which elected Charles Sumner to the United States senate for his first term.

His wife, Maria Tourtelotte, was of French Huguenot extraction, descended from Abraham and Marie (Bernon) Tourtelotte, two Huguenot refugees who came to this country in 1688, and married in Roxbury in 1692.

For five years after the marriage of Marie Bernon to Abraham Tourtelotte, the young couple lived in Roxbury, then they removed with the Bernon family to Newport, R. I. Here they resided until, according to family tradition, Abraham and his son Gabriel were lost at sea by the wrecking of their vessel. The widow continued in the family of Gabriel Bernon until her younger son, Abraham, had grown up and taken a wife and established a home in Gloucester, R. I. To this home the widow removed, and resided there until her death.

From her son Abraham, the happy father of twelve children, the numerous Tourtelottes in the country trace their ancestry. One of his sons, Jonathan, married a daughter of Roger Williams. Another son, Jesse, married Lydia Angell, and had, among others, Daniel, the father of Maria Tourtelotte, and grandfather of Daniel Angell Gleason.

Mr. Gleason was born in Worcester, May 9, 1836, attended the public schools in Worcester, fitted for college in the Worcester High School, and entered Yale College as freshman in the fall of 1852. In the winter term of 1852-3 he left Yale and entered Harvard, and was graduated in regular course with the class of 1856.

While in college he taught school during the winter, as was very frequently the custom in those days, commencing school after Thanksgiving and finishing at the end of the winter vacation. He taught in this way in Princeton in the winter of 1853-4, and in Charlton in the winter of 1854-5.

At the class election just preceding graduation, in 1856, he was elected a member of the class committee, an honor which kept him closely in touch with all classmates in after years, so that his class loyalty amounted almost to an enthusiasm. In 1901 he was chosen class secretary.

On leaving college he taught for three years a family school in Meadville, Crawford County, Pa., reading law during the latter two years, in the office of Hon. Gaylord Church, and was admitted to the bar of Crawford County, on examination, in the summer of 1859, returning to Harvard in the fall of that year to enter the Law School, and was graduated the next year, 1860, receiving the degree of LL.B. The next year he spent as a student in the office of Chandler and Shattuck in Boston, and was admitted to the Bar of Suffolk County in the spring of 1861. During the year 1860 he assisted Prof. Washburn in the preparation of his works on Real Property and Easements, and took entire editorial charge of an edition of Bouvier's Law Dictionary, which was then in preparation. In 1861 and 1862 he supervised an edition of Bouvier's Institutes, and took charge of an edition of Phillips on Insurance.

In the fall of 1862 he was appointed as legal assistant to the Attorney General of Massachusetts, Hon. Dwight Foster, and continued this connection through the year 1863. The Legislature of 1864 made a considerable change in the manner of assessing and collecting taxes upon Massachusetts corporations, by the enactment of the corporation tax law, and Mr. Gleason, as Tax Commissioner and Commissioner of Corporations, was charged with the execution of the law. He organized the department, prepared all schedules and forms of returns, and arranged the methods of doing the work, which still continue in use at the present time. The law was found to require material modifications in form and in substance, which was done at the recommendation of the judiciary committee for the year 1865, the work being largely under the direction of John Wells, late of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, Hon. Francis E. Parker, and Hon. Darwin E. Ware. Mr. Gleason assisted materially in this work, and furnished the suggestions for amendment in the administrative provisions of the law, which experience had determined to be necessary.

Passage of the National Bank Act, and the consequent conversion of State Banks into National Banks, required considerable modification of statutory provisions, and the years from 1865 to 1872 were marked by contests between the banking interests in the State and municipalities, which finally resulted in the establishment of the present system of taxing National banks. The duties of the Tax Commissioner were increased by requiring him to make the equalization of municipal valuations once in three years, as a basis for the assessment of a direct state tax upon the towns and cities; and the office also came to be regarded as a place for the exchange of views and knowledge with the local assessors, to the advantage of the department, the assessors and the public.

In 1872 complaints of the defects of the general acts regulating business corporations came to a climax, and by direction of the judiciary committee of that year, Mr. Gleason proposed the plan and drafted the provisions of the general corporation law for the formation of manufacturing and business corporations, which became a law that year and have continued with extensions, but with slight modifications, until the present time.

In 1881 Mr. Gleason became Treasurer and Receiver General of the Commonwealth, which office he held for five successive years, the statutory limit of service to which any one person can be elected. During his term of service, the state adopted the policy of disposing of its interests in the three railroad systems, which it had acquired originally to assist in developing the Commonwealth, and the Treasurer did work of great value in aiding this movement and in drawing some of the principal acts which were passed to effect the purpose. Care of the development of the sinking funds proved an interesting and congenial work.

In January, 1886, his term as State Treasurer having expired, he resumed the practise of law, giving particular attention to matters of tax and corporation law.

In the early summer of 1887 he was chosen treasurer of the Fitchburg Railroad Company, an office which he continued to fill up to the time of his death.

Mr. Gleason was married, January 7, 1863, in Roxbury, to Annie Louisa, daughter of Richard and Mary (Henry) Hall, and from that time on took up his residence in Medford, Mass., where his five children were born.

He soon became active in town affairs; was for twenty-one years a member of the school committee, the last eighteen of which he was chairman of the Board; took a prominent part in organizing the Savings Bank, being elected at its first meeting a member of the Board of Trustees and of the Investment Committee, and was at the time of his death President of the Bank. For twenty-two years he was on the Board of Water Commissioners, nineteen years as its chairman; and has always, in fact, lived up to his conviction that it is the duty of every American citizen to devote a portion of his time and capacity to the public service.

In later years he became much interested in genealogical inquiries, and spent much time in research extending to matters of local history. He likewise found an absorbing interest in gathering data for a history of his family, though with no serious intention of publishing, yet it is to be hoped that so much painstaking labor may not be lost and that in the near future arrangements may be made, with other workers along the same lines, whereby the fruits of the labor he delighted in may see the day. He was elected a resident member of this Society in 1896.

THE SMITH FAMILY OF WALPOLE, MASS.

By MRS. ANNA M. PICKFORD, of Newton Center, Mass.

DESCENDANTS of Lieut. James Smith of Walpole have long tried to find his ancestry, and queries concerning it have appeared in the REGISTER.

The following addition to the account of Christopher Smith and his descendants, in Austin's Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island, pages 377-379, gives the line of the Smiths of Walpole.

A. CHRISTOPHER<sup>3</sup> SMITH (Edward,<sup>2</sup> Christopher<sup>1</sup>), a blacksmith, of Providence and Scituate, R. I., married Mary ———, who died in 1726. He died in 1755.

JAMES<sup>4</sup> SMITH (Christopher,<sup>3</sup> Edward,<sup>2</sup> Christopher<sup>1</sup>), born between Mar. 29, 1706, and Mar. 29, 1707, married, July 25, 1728, at Walpole, Hannah, born at Walpole, Sept. 21, 1709, died there July 12, 1759, daughter of Capt. John and Hannah (Bullard) Boyden. He died Mar. 29, 1755, and is buried in the old cemetery on Kendall St., Walpole, where his gravestone reads: "In memory of Mr. James Smith who died March 29, 1755 in y<sup>e</sup> 49th year of his age" (Dedham Hist. # LIST OF LOYALISTS FROM GEORGIA WHO SETTLED IN JAMAICA.

Transcribed by Rev. JOHN BOURNE ELLIS, M.A., of Kingston, Jamaica, and communicated by Rev. ARTHUR WENTWORTH HAMILTON EATON, D.C.L., of New York.

REV. MR. ELLIS wrote, in 1892, in a letter accompanying the list: "I find that in 1783 the House of Assembly made provision for the settlement in St. Elizabeth's Parish of the families of a number of loyalists who arrived from Georgia, accompanied by about 5,000 slaves. I enclose a list of names of the persons who thus settled.

. . . Most of the names—even the uncommon ones such as Munds—are familiar in Jamaica. . . . After disestablishment in 1870, the state took possession of the old church Registers, which are now kept by the registrar general."

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

By GEO. A. GORDON, A.M., Recording Secretary.

Boston, Massachusetts, 4 March, 1908. The New England Historic Genealogical Society held a stated meeting, agreeable to the By-laws, at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, in Marshall P. Wilder hall, 18 Somerset street, and was called to order by the Recording Secretary, who announced the absence of the President and inquired the presence of a Vice-President. No one responding, a nomination from the floor was invited, by which Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., of Newton, was elected Chairman pro tempore. Mr. Ensign accepted and presided.

The Chairman introduced James Henry Stark, Esq., of Dorchester, who read a valuable paper on "The Loyalists of Massachusetts Bay, whose memories are forgotten by an empire they served so well." It received the applause of the meeting, and, on motion, thanks were voted with a request for the deposit of a copy of the paper in the archives of the Society.

The Corresponding Secretary, the Historian, and the Council, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted and ordered on file.

Ten resident and two corresponding members were elected.

The meeting then voted to dissolve, and the chair so proclaimed.

1 April. A stated meeting was held to-day at the usual time and place, the President in the chair, who introduced Barrett Wendell, A.B., of Boston, Professor of English in Harvard University, who delivered a remarkably interesting, discriminating and instructive discourse on Types of New England Character, which was well received by the largest audience, thus far, of the present year. It was heartily applauded, and discussed by several members, at the close of which a vote of thanks was passed, and a request made that a copy of the address be deposited in the archives of the Society.

The Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, and the Historian, severally, presented reports which were received, read, accepted and ordered on file.

Nine resident members were elected.

The meeting then voted to dissolve, and the President so proclaimed.

6 May. A stated meeting was held to-day, at the usual time and place, the President in the Chair, who introduced Frank B. Sanborn, A.B., of Concord, who read a comprehensive paper on Kansas and Emancipation. It was largely reminiscent, and abundant in historical facts and description of individuals of whom Mr. Sanborn had personal knowledge. A large audience applauded enthusiastically. On motion, a vote of thanks was unanimously passed, with a request for a copy of the paper for preservation in the archives of the Society.

The Corresponding Secretary, the Librarian, and the Council, severally, presented reports, which were received, read, accepted, and ordered on file.

No further business being brought before the meeting it was, on motion, Voted to dissolve the meeting. The Chair proclaimed the meeting dissolved.

NOTES.

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those which it issues over its own name at 18 Somerset Street, Boston.

CHATHAM, MASS., GRAVESTONE INSCRIPTIONS (ante, page 203).—Between the record of Stephen Smith and that of Stephen Rider should be inserted the following:

"Here Lies buried Mrs. Mercy Doane the wife of Mr. Joseph Doane Jur She Decd with the Small pox Jany. ye 16th 1766. in ye 23rd year of her age."

And in the line following the record of Mr. Stephen Rider, the words "from the separated stone" should read "from a stone."

CLAY.—This account of the family of JOSEPH<sup>1</sup> CLAY of Guilford, Conn., compiled by the late Hon. Ralph D. Smyth, may be of interest:

At a town meeting in Guilford the 20th of March, 1670-71, liberty was granted to Joseph Clay to seek some accommodation suitable to himself to be viewed by some men. At a town meeting Aug. 2, 1673, he was appointed one of the surveyors. His home-lot, granted by the town, was "situate lying and being in the town of Guilford containing one acre and bounded Northerly on the Highway, Westerly on the land of Daniel Evarts, Southerly partly against the land of Andrew Ward and part of the land George Hiland, Easterly on Common land."

1. JOSEPH<sup>1</sup> CLAY died Nov. 30, 1695. He married, Apr. 18, 1670, Mary Love, or Low, who died Dec. 7, 1692.

Children:

- i. Mary,<sup>2</sup> b. Jan. 10, 1670-1; m. Nicholas Masson of Saybrook.
- ii. Sarah, b. Mch. 5, 1674; d. Apr. 5, 1717; m. Mch. 13, 1701, John Chittenden, who d. Feb. 1710.
- iii. Hannah, b. Aug. 3, 1677; d. young.
- iv. Elizabeth, b. Aug. 3, 1677; d. young.

BERNARD C. STEINER.

BOREMAN.—Mr. Henry F. Waters has called attention to the following entry in the "Registers of St. Helen's, Bishopgate, London, 1575-1837," p. 132:

1630 Aug. 17 Thomas Bourman, batcheler and Cordwayner of London, and Margaret Offing, maiden; by bands.

COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH.

THOMSON.—Through the kindness of Mr. Charles Eliot Goodspeed the REGISTER is enabled to print a memorandum signed by Edmund Thomson of Salem, giving the date of his marriage and dates of birth of his children. Heretofore the dates of baptism of his son Thomas and daughter Anna were the only ones known, and the additional information furnished by the memorandum increases its value. From it we learn that he had four, not three, children born in England.

Edmund Thomson was a son of John Thomson of Holkham, Norfolk, England, and his wife Anne, daughter of John Hastings of the same place. He married Martha, daughter of John Fiske (father of John Fiske of Wenham) and his wife Anne Lantersee. He came from the neighborhood of Framlingham, Suffolk; was of Salem, 1637, a proprietor, and was there admitted to the church Dec. 29, 1639. He and his wife were witnesses in court, 1643, and the same year he was a proprietor at Wenham. Upon his return to England he settled at Yarmouth. He is said to have been a sea-captain, and to have served the States of Holland after the death of Charles I. The names of three of his four children born in England are John, Esther, and again John. (See Hunter's Suffolk Emigrants in 3 Mass. Hist. Soc. Collections, x, 159; Savage's Genealogical Dictionary; Pope's Pioneers.)

Sinc I went to New Eingland to dwell is the 10 of march 1636; 56.*

EDWARD AND JOHN COLLINS AND THEIR DESCENDANTS.—In the article bearing this title and printed in the REGISTER, vol. 61, page 281, there are some errors which should not be allowed to pass uncorrected.

iv. Sibyl<sup>2</sup>, daughter of Deacon Edward<sup>1</sup> Collins, married Rev. John Whiting, and died in June, 1672. The letter of John Winthrop to his son Wait, dated "Hartford June: 4: 1672," in which he writes about the death of Mr. Whiting, is incorrectly printed in the Massachusetts Historical Society Collections, series 5, volume 8, page 144. An examination of the original letter shows that the word was Mrs. and not Mr. It was John Whiting's second wife, Phebe, who married Rev. John Russel, of Hadley.

3. Samuel<sup>2</sup> Collins (Dea. Edward<sup>1</sup>) married Mary, daughter of Reynold Marvin, of Lyme, Conn., then a part of Saybrook.

Marvin, in his will dated May 23, 1662, gave his daughter "Mare" household goods, "my wives wearing Cloths and linnen," cattle, etc. (Hartford County Court Records, vol. 3, reverse end page 1.)

Sept. 2, 1669, "Mr. Samuel Collins Plntf: contra Ens: W<sup>m</sup>: Waller as executor to Mr. Reinold Maruin Deceased Defn't In an action of the case for an acco<sup>t</sup>: of Moueables goods & cattell of the sd Reinold Maruin which by will belongs to the sayd Collins his wife with damage to the value of one Hundred & fifty pownds: the defn't appeared not being called." (Hartford County Court Records, vol. 3, page 89.)

Mary, widow of Samuel Collins, died March, not May, 5, 1713-14.

The following should be added concerning the children of Samuel and Mary (Marvin) Collins:

ii. Martha,<sup>3</sup> b. Mar. 3, 1666; m. Jan. 8, 1689-90, William Harris.

iv. Sibilla, b. Feb. 24, 1669-70, bapt. Feb. 27, 1669-70; m. (1) Isaac Rice of Sudbury, Mass.; m. (2) George Reed of Woburn, Mass.

v. Mary, b. June 16, 1672; m. Richard Moore of Needham and Oxford, Mass.

Their son Abijah was a physician in Middletown, where he d. Dec. 18, 1759. Abijah's eldest son was named Reynold Marvin Moore.

vi. Abigail, b. June 2, 1673; m. July 9, 1702, William Ward of Middletown.

July 15, 1723, William Ward, Senior, and wife Abigail for themselves and he as attorney for Isaac Rice and wife Sibilla of Sudbury and Richard Moore and wife Mary of Oxford conveyed, as heirs of Samuel Collins deceased of Middletown, all their interest in certain lands in Middletown. (Middletown Land Records, vol. 4, page 192.)

August 14, 1739, George Reed and wife Sibilla of Woburn conveyed to Abijah Moore, physician of Middletown, land in the latter town which fell to her as an heir of her father Samuel Collins deceased of Middletown. (Middletown Land Records, vol. 6, page 402.)

July 17, 1718, William Harris and wife Martha, of Middletown, conveyed to "their son Jonathan Yemans & to their Daughter Sibbil his wife" land which descended to said William and Martha as part of her portion of the estate of her father Ensign Samuel Collins deceased, of Middletown. (Middletown Land Records, vol. 4, page 28.)

5. Samuel<sup>3</sup> Collins, Jr. (Samuel,<sup>2</sup> Edward<sup>1</sup>) was not the Samuel Collins, of Wethersfield, with wife Martha, as stated in Mr. Smyth's article. On Middletown Land Records, vol. 1, leaf 72, is entered a conveyance dated Dec. 25, 1690, from Samuel Collins of "Middletown" . . . "to my louing & dutieful son Samuel Collins" of lands in Middletown. "I do give and bequeath as aboue all the forementioned percell of land" . . . "unto my son Samuell and to the heirs of his bodie from generation to generation foreuer" . . . "with the Limitations following that is to say, if my son shall dye before marriage and myselfe shall suruiue then this above mentioned Land to return to myself."

Thus far no record has been discovered of the marriage of Samuel, Jr. I suspect that it was his widow Susannah, date of birth and parentage unknown, who married, March 18, 1702-3, John Harris, of Middletown. She died Feb. 10, 1747-48, aged 80.

William Roberts and his wife Susannah, of Middletown, sold, Jan. 19, 1716-17, to Jonathan Yemans and his wife Sibbel, of the same town, land in Middletown "which Lottment of land decends to s<sup>d</sup> William Robburts & Susannah his wife she being the only childe & heiris to Samuel Collins, Jun<sup>r</sup> deceased to whom the s<sup>d</sup> lotment of Land was Conveyed by deed of Gift from his father Ensigne Sam<sup>l</sup> Collins sometime of afores<sup>d</sup> Middletown dec<sup>d</sup> . . . that Deed of Gift there is an Intailment by the s<sup>d</sup> Ensigne Sam<sup>l</sup> Collins to his s<sup>d</sup> son Sam<sup>l</sup> and to his heirs of his body from generation to generation & there is one Clause more in s<sup>d</sup> Deed if the s<sup>d</sup> Samm<sup>l</sup> dye without heirs then the Land to Return to the famaly of the s<sup>d</sup> Ensigne Collins suruiueing & the s<sup>d</sup> Sibbil being Daughter to Martha the Daughter of the s<sup>d</sup> Ensigne Sam<sup>l</sup> Collins." (Middletown Land Records, vol. 4, page 27.)

Susannah, b. 1694; m. Dec. 1, 1714, William Roberts of Middletown. Susannah, aged 87, widow of William Roberts, was buried Nov. 12, 1781. Their fourth child was named Collins Samuel Roberts.

4. Rev. Nathaniel Collins (Dea. Edward<sup>1</sup>) had children:

i. Mary<sup>3</sup>, b. May 11, 1666; m. John Hamlin, who d. Jan. 2, 1732-33; d. May 5, 1722.

ii. John, b. Jan. 31, 1667-8; m. Mary Dixwell.

iii. Susannah, b. Nov. 26, 1669; m. William Hamlin; d. Feb. 24, 1721-22.

iv. Sibbil, b. Aug. 20, 1672; d. young.

v. Martha, b. Dec. 26, 1674; d. June, 1748; m. Dec. 15, 1705, Thomas Hurlbut, who d. Feb., 1752.

vi. Nathaniel, b. June 13, 1677; minister at Enfield, Conn.

vii. Abigail, b. July 13, 1681; d. Feb. 6, 1758; m. Dec. 27, 1706, Samuel Wolcott of Wethersfield. The inscription on her gravestone says: "Daughter of y<sup>e</sup> Rev<sup>d</sup> Mr Nathaniel Collins of Middletown." (See also Middletown Land Records, vol. 4, page 198.)

viii. Samuel, b. Apr. 16, d. Apr. 23, 1683.

Middletown, Conn.

FRANK FARNSWORTH STARR.

SMITH, MEAD.—Watertown First Book of Records, in Births, Marriages and Deaths, page 26, says that John Smith married, April 19, 1664, Mary Bech; and on page 27, that John Smith married, April 19, 1665, Mary Beech. This is the John Smith to whom Bond in his Genealogies of Watertown gives Mary Beers as wife.

John and Mary (Beach) Smith had a daughter Hannah, born Dec. 27, 1671; and that she married Thomas Mead, of Cambridge Farms and Lexington, is shown in Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 17, page 448, when John Smith of Watertown, for 200 pounds paid by Thomas Mead of Lexington and John Pierce of Watertown, sells them his mansion house and thirty acres of land in Watertown. June 24, 1715, John Pierce and Thomas Mead obliged themselves to care for their father-in-law, the grantor, John Smith, in sickness and health, as he "is now old and feeble;" on his death, they to divide his estate equally among his surviving children. "Whereas the said John Smith had given a deed to his son Samuel Smith on June 13, 1715, said deed is fraudulent as John Smith did not know what he was doing."

Thomas Mead administered the estate of John Smith of Watertown, Sept. 20, 1717-18 (Middlesex Co. Probate, File 14771). The heirs giving receipts were: John Applin in behalf of his wife, John Smith, Joshua Warren in behalf of his wife, Samuel Smith to his brother Thomas Mead, John Pierce in his father John Smith's estate, John Winter in his father John Smith's estate in behalf of his wife, Joseph Locke for his wife.

As Thomas Mead's wife Hannah signed his deeds up to 1760, these, together with the above extracts, show that the wife "Hasaniah" given in the History of Lexington is a mistake.

Watertown First and Second Books, on page 9, gives: John, son of Thomas and Mary Smith, was born 10. 10. 1641; Mary, daughter of Richard and Mary Beech, was born 11. 10. 1641.

Thomas, son of Israel and Mary (Hall) Mead, was born about 1670, and was mentioned in his father's will of April 2, 1713.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

FULLER.—A genealogy of descendants of Edward Fuller, passenger on the Mayflower, will be published during the current year if sufficient encouragement is received from subscribers. The compiler has had the privilege of taking notes from the manuscripts of Newton Fuller, Prof. Homer W. Brainard and Fred A. Fuller, and has made quest for other information concerning the descendants of Edward Fuller.

Besides mention of some 2000 descendants bearing the name of Fuller, and many of other names, the book will contain copies of wills of Robert Fuller of Redenball Parish in Harleston, Co. Norfolk, England, of Samuel<sup>2</sup> of Barnstable, Mass., and of John<sup>3</sup> (Little John) of Barnstable, and East Haddam, Conn., and will be illustrated with views of Redenhall Church, some old homes in America, portraits of Fuller genealogists and descendants, biographical sketches of Judge Melville W. Fuller and others.

For terms of subscription, address William H. Fuller, Palmer, Mass.

PARK-PARKE.—The History of the Parke Families of Massachusetts is about ready for publication. Should a sufficient number of subscriptions be received, it will be published under the same terms, and will be about the same general style and size, as the "Parke Families of Connecticut," issued in 1906.

The object of the book is to include descendants of all emigrants of these names, including PARKS, who settled in Massachusetts previous to 1800. Many descendants of the pioneers emigrated to Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire and New York, previous to and about the time of the Revolution. Since then they have spread through nearly every state in the Union.

For particulars of subscription, address F. S. Parks, 2104 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Holton.—Fred J. Holton, Brigham City, Utah, is compiling a Holton genealogy, and will be glad to correspond with all persons interested in the family.

Woodruff.—Maj. Charles E. Woodruff, U. S. A., care War Department, Washington, D. C., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of Matthew Woodruff of Farmington, Conn., and John Woodruff of Southampton, L. I., N. Y., and desires records of descendants.

Four generations of the descendants of Abel and Sara Waters, without dates, are given here in addition to the pedigree and biographical notes.

The Wildbores in America. A Family Tree. By JOHN R. WILBOR. Published by the author. 1907. Saint Paul, Minn. 8vo. pp. 145+21.

The descendants of Samuel Wildbore of Boston, Mass., in 1633, through his sons William and Shadrach, are here enumerated, including more than six thousand names. Only a Boy. [WILBUR WARREN JOHNSON.] No title page. 8vo. pp. 87. Illus.

This is the second volume of the Indian Captivities Series, and is a reprint of the edition of 1818, with a map and notes, a photograph of the original title-page serving as a frontispiece. The excellent plan of the publishers to reprint the stories of the Indian captives, copies of which are now rare and inaccessible, deserves the appreciation and support of all who are interested in the preservation of these valuable records. The press work is well done, the paper excellent, and the binding in antique boards gives a suitable finish to this desirable volume.

Bethany Sketches and Records. Compiled and published by W. C. SHARPE, Seymour, Conn. Record Print, Seymour. 1908. 8vo. pp. 132. Illus.

Seldom does a brief sketch of a town contain so much useful information as this book does. The baptisms, marriages, and burials of Christ Church, the Trinity Church Records, and the births and deaths from the town records, are here given, as well as genealogies of the families of Andrew, Carrington, Doolittle, Downs, Hotchkiss and Lounsbury. Views of churches and graveyards are among the illustrations.

A Documentary History of Chelsea, including the Boston Precincts of Winnismet, Rumney Marsh, and Pullen Point. 1624-1824. Collected and arranged with notes by MELLE CHAMBERLAIN. In two volumes. Boston. Printed for the Massachusetts Historical Society, 1908. 8vo. Vol. I. pp. 668. Vol. II. pp. 793. Illus.

Chelsea's history, which was first printed in the local newspapers, at last appears in a new edition, most fortunately, as the recent conflagration in that city reduces the numbers of the early publication to a very few copies. A comprehensive memoir of the author appears in the first volume, and his portrait serves as the frontispiece. The appendixes are an unusual feature of this work, the most important being at the end of the second volume and containing the baptisms, marriages, and deaths in the Church Records at Rumney Marsh, and the inscriptions in the Rumney Marsh Burying Ground. The beautiful heliotype illustrations are well selected and the analytical index was splendidly made.

Every detail of preparation and performance is carefully included in this volume, the historical addresses and sermons as well as the speeches made at the banquet being reported in full. The illustrations are mostly views of public buildings.

The Founders of the First Parish, Dover, Massachusetts. With Descriptions of all the Houses now standing which were built before the Revolution. By FRANK SMITH. Printed by the First Parish. 1908. 8vo. pp. 24. Illus.

Each signer of the petition for the incorporation of the First Parish of Dover is noticed in a brief sketch which gives his parentage, children, occupation, and location, the last being shown on a map of 1794 reproduced here and marked to show the old homesteads. There are views of the houses built before the Revolution, as well as descriptions of them, and much valuable and interesting information is preserved which will be greatly appreciated by future generations. The author has done his work well, and this small record of the men of the Dover Parish, which is indexed, is very desirable.

Systematic History Fund: (Auxiliary). Marlborough, Massachusetts. Burial Ground Inscriptions: Old Common, Spring Hill, and Brigham Cemeteries. Worcester, Massachusetts: Published by Franklin P. Rice, Trustee of the Fund. 1908. 4to. pp. 218. Illus.

Exact copies of the inscriptions in these three cemeteries, with many valuable notes, are arranged in alphabetical order. Mr. Rice gives a preface which reviews most interestingly the history of the beginnings of the printing of town records in Massachusetts. The illustrations are reproductions of photographs taken by Mr. Rice. An index closes the volume, which is well printed on good paper.

The First Four Meeting Houses of Milton, Mass., covering a period of two and a half centuries. [By] JOHN A. TUCKER. 1908. folio pp. 5. Facsimiles.

To those interested in the church architecture of early New England many items in this pamphlet will be interesting and useful. Of the twelve places of worship built in Milton since its first settlement, four were owned by the town, and eight by parishes. The facsimiles are excellent, that of the interior of the fourth meeting house giving the names of the pew holders.

It is sincerely hoped that the Society will see fit to print these valuable papers, which contain priceless records of great historical interest. The journal of Gov. Stephen Watts Kearny kept during the Yellowstone Expedition of 1820, a letter of instruction from Baron Carondelet to Lt.-Col. Don Carlos Howard written in 1796, and other interesting articles are to be found in this number.

The Continental Congress at Princeton. By VARNUM LANSING COLLINS. With a portrait of General Washington engraved by Sidney L. Smith. Princeton, N. J. The University Library. 1908. Price $3.00. Address C. Martins, The University Library, Princeton, N. J. 8vo. pp. 295. Illus.

Princeton as the seat of the Continental Congress after it left Philadelphia never received detailed consideration until this volume appeared. The five months of residence in this genial village town presents a unique record of congressional life influenced by its academic neighbors. Many documents have been consulted to furnish a full account of the debates which took place here, which supplements considerably the record published in the Journal of Congress. The informal side of the life has been drawn largely from hitherto unpublished sources, and many quaint old prints, rare broadsides and uncommon portraits add to the value and interest of this book, which is indexed, clearly printed on good paper, and excellently bound.

Vital Record of Rhode Island. 1636-1850. First Series. Births, Marriages, and Deaths. A Family Register for the People. By JAMES N. ARNOLD, Editor of the Narragansett Historical Register. Narragansett Historical Publishing Company. 1908. 4to. pp. LXXII.+599.

History of the First Church in Roxbury, Massachusetts, 1630-1904. By WALTER ELIOT THWING, with an introduction by Rev. James DeNormandie, D.D. Illustrated. Boston. W. A. Butterfield, 59 Bromfield Street. 1908. 8vo. pp. 428. Illus.

Painstaking and careful efforts on the part of the writer have borne well-merited and satisfactory results in this splendid, comprehensive history of the First Church in Roxbury. Each of the five meeting-houses has been given a chapter, and many old plans and ancient views are reproduced to illustrate the changes. The lists of the members connected with each meeting-house are descriptive, and will prove a boon to genealogists. Also the accounts of the lives of the pastors, teachers, elders, and deacons are given in such a comprehensive, accurate manner that this volume will prove an authority for reference. Nothing has been omitted, even the horse-sheds are noticed. The work of the Stanhope Press is admirable in every particular, but the finely selected binding deserves special mention. An excellent index closes a volume that is a credit to its compiler and of great usefulness to the student.

Publications of the Sharon Historical Society of Sharon, Massachusetts, containing the Church records of Rev. Philip Curtis of Sharon 1742-1797. JOHN G. PHILLIPS, Editor. No. 5, April, 1908. Boston. The Arakelyan Press, 368 Congress Street. 1908. Price 50 cents. 8vo. pp. 64. Illus.

The baptisms, marriages, burials, and admissions of the Second Parish of Stoughton, later the First Parish of Sharon, are here printed as they stand in the church records, spelling, punctuation and abbreviations being carefully reproduced. The record was kept by Rev. Philip Curtis, and a view of his house serves as a frontispiece. There is a complete index which greatly increases the usefulness of this valuable publication. It is to be hoped that the Historical Society will continue to bring out records like this, and other societies would do well to follow its example.

DAVID HENRY BROWN, A.B.

By FRANK SMITH, Esq.

DAVID HENRY BROWN died at his home in West Medford, Massachusetts, on Friday morning, February 21, 1908. He was the son of Joseph and Elvira (Howard) Brown, and was born on the ancestral farm at Raymond, New Hampshire, August 17, 1836, in a home where he was taught to cherish the best traditions of New England life.

He was descended in the seventh generation from John Brown, who came from England with his wife Sarah, and who was one of the founders, in 1638, of Hampton, New Hampshire. He was a lineal descendant also of the Rev. Stephen Bachelder, Thomas Webster, Hon. Samuel Dalton, and other founders of Hampton; Hon. John Gilman of Exeter, Capt. John Locke, Capt. Daniel Ladd, and Joseph Blake.

On his maternal side he was descended from Samuel Howard, one of the early settlers of Charlestown and Malden, Massachusetts; Governor Thomas Hinckley of the Plymouth Colony; Rev. William Walton, one of the founders of Marblehead; Rev. John Mayo, the first minister of the Second Church in Boston; William Bassett and Robert Hicks, who came in 1621 in the Fortune, which was the second ship to arrive at Plymouth; Quartermaster John Smith and Thomas Swift of Dorchester; Elder John Whipple of Ipswich; Rev. Nathaniel Stone of Harwich; as well as from many other founders of New England.

Mr. Brown obtained his early education in the schools of his native town and at Hampton Academy, Hampton, New Hampshire. He fitted for college at Phillips Academy, Andover, entered Dartmouth College in 1857, and was graduated in the class of 1861. He was a classmate of Rev. Dr. William Jewett Tucker, now president of that College. During his college days, as well as while preparing for college, he taught winter schools in his native village and other towns, and for three successive winters the Middle Street school in Braintree, Massachusetts. After leaving college he was principal of the high school in South Abington, Massachusetts, now Whitman, for a year, and principal of the high school in Stoneham, Massachusetts, for the year ending March, 1864. He always retained a deep interest in these towns, which were the scenes of his early labors, and in the welfare of the pupils whom he instructed. He is remembered as a capable teacher, thorough in his methods and broad in his views.

In 1864 he obtained a position as clerk in the United States Quartermaster's Department at Nashville, Tennessee, in the office of Gen. J. L. Donaldson, Senior and Supervising Q. M., Dept. of the Cumberland, and later in the office of Col. John C. Crane, Q. M. in charge of the U. S. Military Railroad, Military Division of the Mississippi. He was in Nashville during the important and decisive battles between the armies of Hood and Thomas, Dec. 15 and 16, 1864, and resigned in Feb. 1865, after nearly a year in the service. He had associated with him for a time in the Quartermaster's Department his younger brother James William Brown, a senior in Dartmouth College, who contracted typhoid fever and died in Nashville, December, 1864. Only two weeks later his oldest brother, Calvin Howard Brown, was lost at sea on the ill-fated steamer Melville on his way south. This brother was graduated from Dartmouth College in the class of 1859, and was practising law in Boston. Soon after these sad events, Mr. Brown returned to New England.

In the spring of 1865 he became connected with the educational department of Taggard and Thompson, publishers and booksellers, on Cornhill, Boston, and on the retirement of Mr. Taggard, in 1869, he became a member of the firm which in 1872 assumed the present name of Thompson, Brown and Company. To the interests of this business Mr. Brown most assiduously gave the remaining years of his life. For forty-three years he devoted himself enthusiastically to the making and selling of improved text-books. He was proud of every book which bore the imprint of his firm, and was not content unless it represented a distinct advance in the methods of teaching. While its list of books has never been large, it is a list of which any house might well be proud, as it includes authors who are among the most successful teachers in the country. Among the most prominent publications are the Bradbury-Eaton Mathematical Series, some of which books have been translated into Chinese, Bulgarian and other languages, Meservey's Bookkeeping Series, the Duntonian Copy Books, and Cushing's Manual of Parliamentary Practice which for more than twenty-five years was the recognized standard for legislative bodies and deliberative organizations. It is difficult to estimate the great influence of such books on the countless number of pupils who have used them and on the educational methods of the country.

Since March, 1871 Mr. Brown has resided in West Medford, Massachusetts. Here, in the interest which he manifested in the social, intellectual and spiritual welfare of the community, one sees the natural unfolding of his life. Taking up his residence here at a time when there was no church in the community, he took a foremost part, in 1872, in the organization of a Congregational Church, with which denomination he was affiliated. He was the first clerk of the church, first treasurer of the society, and the first superintendent of the Sunday School elected under the first installed minister, the Rev. Marshall M. Cutter. He retained an active interest in the church until his death. To him church attendance was not only a duty but a privilege; he recognized the patriotic, civil, moral, and intellectual aspects of the subject, and always emphasized the importance of church attendance. He was loyal to his minister and desired him to maintain with dignity the traditions of the Congregational Church, which to him was the established church of New England.

On the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the West Medford Congregational Society, in 1897, Mr. Brown gave the historical address, and when the first edifice was burned he was chairman of the committee that selected the architect and plans for the new building. While the building was under construction he had a watchful interest in every detail, and in the exercises of laying the corner stone he was assigned a prominent part. He was genuinely broad in his religious views, and maintained the right of individual freedom in matters of faith and conscience. He exemplified a spirit of tolerance and worked with all who were animated by the same spirit, no matter what their religious belief might be. To him the church was an institution which stood for the "uplift of humanity in the community."

Good citizenship to him included the interests of the village in which he lived, and so he labored for the organization of the Village Improvement Society of West Medford, of which he became the first president. This society accomplished much lasting good for the western part of the city, in promoting the planting of trees, the building of sidewalks, the care of the streets, and the general improvement of the village. He constantly labored to put the community a little further forward. He was one of the organizers of the West Medford Reading Club, one of the oldest literary societies in the country, and was the historian at the thirtieth anniversary of its organization last December, being at his death the secretary of the club. Who can estimate the value of such an institution to a community for more than a quarter of a century, in the persistent consideration of great subjects by the best authors of this and other lands, in literature, science, and art! He was interested in the public schools which his children attended, and ever ready with kindly criticisms and co-operation to help advance their best interests.

He took a leading part in the organization of the Medford Historical Society, in 1896, serving as president for four terms, besides ten years as chairman of the committee on papers and addresses, and being at the time of his death the editor of the Medford Historical Register. It was through his initiative, while president of the Historical Society, that the city observed in 1905 the two hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the settlement of Medford, and the successful completion of the project was largely due to his persistent efforts as chairman of the executive committee. He not only enlisted the city government in the celebration, but individuals as well who contributed a large sum of money to increase the city's appropriation for the purpose. The words of Judge Wait, president of the day, justly tell how valuable were Mr. Brown's services at this time: "There is one man but for whom this two hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary would have passed without fitting recognition, the man whose courage in the face of difficulties, whose enthusiasm in the midst of indifference, whose persistence in spite of discouragement, and whose faith in spite of disappointments, have made this celebration possible and inevitable. Those who, in the future, look back on our records to the festivities and exercises of to-day should find inscribed in letters of gold the name of David H. Brown." One who knew him well says: "He had a strong feeling for the historical interests of the New England town, that the materials of its local history should be searched out and preserved, the life of important persons written and treasured. Although he was not himself a native of Medford, he entered upon the work of preserving her history with more zeal than those who were. He was not discouraged by lack of interest on the part of others but gave himself freely to preserve and to cherish the traditions of its colonial days and whatever of value lay between the earliest and the latest times."

At the time of his death Mr. Brown ranked as one of the city's best known and most highly esteemed citizens. Although he was never a candidate for public office, his voice was often heard and his influence felt in many ways for the betterment of his adopted town. As an individual and as a member of organizations he was always ready to help others and to promote the public welfare.

In politics Mr. Brown was a Republican, but whenever in state or national politics his party failed to stand by her best traditions, he did not hesitate to withdraw his support and cast his vote for the man whom he conceived to be best qualified for the office, and to support those measures which he believed to be best calculated to serve the interests of the plain people. Frequently he was a delegate to political conventions, where he always tried by his voice and vote to nominate suitable men for office.

He retained a deep interest in his native town of Raymond, New Hampshire. In 1901 the citizens invited him to deliver the address during her Old Home Week celebration. Mr. Brown gave on that occasion a paper which pictured the life of the community as he remembered it a half century before, and in its conception is a model for addresses on like occasions.

In 1871, Mr. Brown was admitted a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and in 1880 was made a life member. He served for three years on the committee to assist the Historiographer; he was then elected on the Committee on the Library; and at the time of his death, and for eight years previous, was on the Committee on Papers and Essays. He was greatly interested in genealogical matters, and during his long life found time for the exercise of his taste. He had more than a local reputation as a genealogist, being considered an authority on genealogical research. His genealogy of Dea. Simon Stone of Watertown, Mass., and some of his descendants, was published as a model of genealogical work. Not only was he a frequent contributor to genealogical papers and magazines, but he was unusually successful in inspiring others to prepare papers and addresses which should give to the world material that would otherwise never have been published. As a member of the Society, he labored earnestly for the admission of women on the same terms as men. He looked upon this change in the by-laws as an act of simple justice, and was much pleased when it finally prevailed.

He was a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Congregational Club, and Columbian Lodge A. F. and A. M., in which he was raised March 20, 1868.

Mr. Brown was married, October 20, 1869, to Abby Dudley Tucker, daughter of General Henry and Nancy (Dudley) Tucker of Raymond, New Hampshire, and a lineal descendant of Gov. Thomas Dudley of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. He is survived by his widow; three sons, Henry Tucker Brown (Harvard 1895) who married Gertrude Clark, Howard Dudley Brown (Harvard 1896) who married Phebe Frances Steere, and Edward Bangs Brown (Harvard 1899) who married Helen Goodale; and a brother, Joseph Lincoln Brown of Raymond, New Hampshire.

He was ambitious for neither wealth nor position; he delighted in the simple habits and customs of his ancestors. With him it was "plain living and high thinking." Endowed with a large brain and heart, honorable and high-minded in all his personal and business relations, ready to help advance any good cause, persistent of purpose, and with a broad and optimistic outlook on life, Mr. Brown was distinctly a power for good in the community in which he so long lived and labored.

JOHN AND THOMAS JORDAN OF GUILFORD, CONN., AND THEIR DESCENDANTS.

Communicated by BERNARD C. STEINER from notes compiled by Hon. RALPH D. SMYTH and MATT B. JONES, Esq., of Boston.

1. JOHN<sup>1</sup> and THOMAS<sup>1</sup> JORDAN, probably brothers, were among the first planters of Guilford. John Jordan signed the plantation Covenant of June 1, 1639. Thomas may have been too young at that time. They were both persons of distinction among the early Colonists. John Jordan's name appears as one of the trustees in the Deed of Uncas to the settlers of Guilford, Dec. 17, 1641, and again with Mr. Disborow's and his brother Thomas Jordan's in the deed of Weekwash to Mr. Whitfield, Sept. 20, 1641. He died, probably, early in Jan., 1649-50, as his inventory is dated Feb. 1, 1649-50. In 1654 Thomas Clarke of Milford had married Ann, widow of John Jordan.

Thomas<sup>1</sup> Jordan, one of the most prominent of the settlers of Guilford, was young, perhaps not quite of age, when the colony was planted. He was one of the associate Judges of the Particular Court chosen Oct. 7, 1646, and Treasurer from an early period. He was Representative in the Plantation Court, 1651-1654, at all the sessions, and was appointed by the Plantation Court to go to Boston with an answer to the General Court of Massachusetts, 1653. At a court at Guilford, Sept. 1, 1654, he took down the evidence in "short hand." About 1655 he returned to England, as he no longer appears on the Town and Colony Records. In a letter written by him to Mr. Leete, from England, he gives his house to Andrew Leete, who had married his daughter, Elizabeth Jordan, June 1, 1669. In 1706, William Leete and Caleb Leete were administrators of their grandfather "Mr. Thomas Jordan dec'd late of old England," part of whose land had been laid out first to Mr. William Leete and Mr. Thomas Jordan in common and never divided. His grandchildren were, besides William and Caleb, Samuel, Dorothy, Abigail, and Mercy Leete.

On Sept. 12, 1666, William Leete wrote to Gov. John Winthrop asking him (4 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vii., p. 558) to try to gain Mr. Jordan's consent to the intermarriage of Jordan's daughter Elizabeth to Leete's son Andrew. On Mch. 25, 1674, a letter was shown the townsmen of Guilford, from Thomas Jordan to Gov. Leete, authorizing the recording of Jordan's land to Andrew Leete, with the condition that "should he bury her and take another wife," after his death the land "shall go to the children of my daughter, or for want of heirs of her body to my lawful heirs."

1. JOHN<sup>1</sup> JORDAN married Ann, daughter of John Bishop, and had the following children:

- i. HANNAH,<sup>2</sup> m. June 28, 1666, Esbon Wakeman.
- ii. ELIZABETH, d. 1720; m. Nov. 17, 1664, Daniel Hubbard, who d. 1720.
- iii. MARY, m. Abraham Post (wrongly called Abner in REGISTER, vol. 59, p. 132).

2. iv. JOHN, b. Mar., 1646-7.

2. JOHN<sup>2</sup> JORDAN (John<sup>1</sup>) was a cooper, and married Deborah ———, who died in 1677. He removed to Middletown, and sold his home-lot in Guilford to William Leete, Jr., on June 24, 1679. Before

1689 he was in Saybrook. He died, presumably, about 1713, as on June 26 of that year, Abraham Chalker, executor of the last will and testament of "Mr. John Jordan, late of Saybrook," sets off to the deceased's daughter Mary her part of the lands of her father at Ironmine plain. (Saybrook Records, vol. 2, p. 372.) From Saybrook Records, vol. 2, pp. 372 and 386, and vol. 3, p. 386, it appears that John Jordan had a son James, and a daughter Mary who married John Ingham, Mar. 2, 1716. (Saybrook Records, vol. 2, p. 401.) He also had a daughter Hannah, as appears from Saybrook Records, vol. 3, p. 310, where James Jordan conveys land, Apr. 4, 1716, to "my loving sister Hannah Bate, of Saybrook aforesaid, widow and Relique of Samuel Bate, late of Saybrook." Hannah married first, Samuel Bates of Haddam, who died before 1716; and married second, in 1717, John Stannard. It is also reasonably certain that John<sup>2</sup> Jordan had a daughter Catherine, who married William Bushnell, Apr. 10, 1701. This view is strengthened by the fact that Mary Jordan, on the same day upon which Abraham Chalker set off to her a portion of the land of her father, as above described, deeds to William Bushnell (husband of Catherine) two parcels of land, "being the whole of that land given to me by my Honored father, Mr. John Jordan, late of Saybrook, deceased," and "one-third part of that meadow commonly called Pond Meadow that was my Honored Father's Mr. John Jordan's aforesaid."

- i. ELIZABETH,<sup>2</sup> b. 1650; d. Mar. 4, 1704; m. June 1, 1669, Andrew Leete, who d. Oct. 31, 1702.
  - ii. MARY, b. May 27, 1652.

JAMES BROWN OF MIDDLETOWN, CONN., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Compiled by HON. RALPH D. SMYTH, and communicated by DR. BERNARD C. STEINER.

1. JAMES<sup>1</sup> BROWN,—says Dr. Field in his Centennial Address delivered at Middletown, Nov., 1850, page 61,—was one of the merchants of Middletown in 1730. "There were probably not more than two merchants here [Middletown], in 1730. One of these was James Brown, an excellent Scotchman, from Edinburgh, who used to cross the country to Boston on horse-back, once or more in a year, to make his contracts."

James<sup>1</sup> Brown bought of Lieut. Abraham Bradley, by deed dated Sept. 26, 1716 (Deeds, vol. 2, page 146), property at Guilford, formerly the homestead of Samuel Hughes, deceased. He died Dec. 10, 1770, in his 96th year. He married first, Esther Broughton, who died Oct. 29, 1754; and married second, Mary ———. His children were all by the first wife. He was listed at Guilford, 1716: one person £18-0-0, one horse £3-0-0.

Children by first wife:

- i. JAMES,<sup>2</sup> b. 1720; d. Sept. 3, 1736, in his 16th year.

  - iii. ESTHER, b. 1732; d. Dec. 22, 1750, in her 18th year.
  2. SAMUEL<sup>2</sup> BROWN (James<sup>1</sup>) removed to Guilford, and died there June 4, 1815, aged 89. He married, Oct. 5, 1747, Hannah, daughter of Judge Samuel Landon, who died Sept. 25, 1812, aged 88.
- Children:
- i. MARY,<sup>3</sup> b. July 6, bapt. Sept. 4, 1748; m. Dec. 13, 1772, Joseph Bradley, who went to Troy, N. Y.; d. Feb. 21, 1785.
  - ii. HANNAH, b. May 6, bapt. May 7, 1750; d. Oct. 15, 1754.

Copied by MRS. LUCY HALL GREENLAW.

[88] Joseph French Sen<sup>r</sup> of Taunton, "being Very weak & Ill", made his will, Apr. 24, 1694. To son Joseph that piece of land where he is now building a dwelling house, beginning near the path that goeth to the great meadow, bounding with land formerly in the possession of Richard Burt Sen<sup>r</sup>, which tract of land is a thirty acre division which I formerly bought of John Smith, and part of a thirty acre division which I bought of Malichi Holloway, also one half a great swamp lying towards the north-east of a plain called a valley, which swamp I bought of John Richmond, Samuel Williams and Samuel Thresher, also one half a tract of land lying on the north side of a great swamp which we call the old plain, also a pair of oxen and two cows. To my son John a tract of land lying southerly from my home lot where he is now building a dwelling house, extending from a path which leadeth towards Elkanah Bobbitts—the line of James Philips mentioned—five acres of which said land is not yet laid out, being granted to me on the right of Nicholas White senior's fifty acre division, taking in a pond commonly called half way pond, also I give him a pair of steers and one cow. To my son Nathaniel a tract of land on the east side of the aforesaid great meadow path, which said path parts the land of Joseph and Nathaniel, also one half the said swamp joining said plain which said swamp is bounded by a "mark tree" marked with J F, which said tree is the bounds between my swamp and the swamp of "Jn<sup>o</sup> macumber Cooper, . . which fd line was agreed Vpon by the said Jn<sup>o</sup> macumber & I", said tract of land I bought mostly of the aforesaid John Richmond, Sam<sup>l</sup> Williams and Samuel Thresher, also half that tract of land lying on the north side of the said great swamp which we call the old plain, bounded on the east by lands of Jn<sup>o</sup> Macumber, cooper, and on the west by land of Jn<sup>o</sup> Tesdale. To son Jacob a tract of land lying southerly from Joseph's land, the path that goeth towards Elkanah Bobbitt's mentioned. [89] To Ebenezer and Jonathan equally after the death of my wife Experience French, my home lot bounded on the east by the aforesaid highway which goeth towards Elkanah Bobbitt's and from said path to the "Coñtry Road which goeth towards Rood Island" and along said highway till it comes to the land of James Philips, taking in a pond "made by Drowning" which we call the upper pond. Wife Experience to be sole executrix and to have cattle and moveables undisposed of. My "loueing freinds Deacon Henry Hodges & John Smith both of Taunton" to be overseers. To my daughter Elizabeth wife of James Philips six pounds out of the moveables after death of my wife, or sooner if she can spare it. I impower my executrix to divide among my children my land in Billrica, 100 acres lying by heath swamp and 10 acres of meadow in heath swamp meadow, also lands in Taunton not mentioned. Mem<sup>o</sup> which I found in the Rev. M<sup>r</sup> Callenders Extracts "Thomas Ward S Gorton P Easton a Com̄tee do report May 7 1680 to the Gen/ Assembly, that accord<sup>g</sup> to the best computation they can make by the Records they have, the whole number of Persons deceased in the Colony for the Term of seven years past, is Four hundred fifty five, which is 65 in one year. They had Gov<sup>r</sup> Arnold's Memorandums." K. Philips Indian War happened in this Time, but Rh. Isl. not much engaged in it.

THE DESCENDANTS OF CAPT. JONATHAN STOKES OF BRANFORD, CONN.

1. JONATHAN<sup>1</sup> STOKES of Stoke Bay (Stokesby?), England, came to Boston, Mass., about 1748 (or before 1758, according to another authority), with a wife and two sons, of whom Capt. Jonathan<sup>2</sup> of Branford was one. The other son eventually settled on the Hudson river, and retained the family bible, while Jonathan<sup>2</sup> kept the family prayer-book. The prayer-book is now in the possession of the writer. It contains the inscription: "Jonathan Stokes his book, God give him grace therein to look," and the date "1757," and also the birth records of his children. The bible has never been found.

2. CAPT. JONATHAN<sup>2</sup> STOKES (Jonathan<sup>1</sup>) is first heard of at Branford, Conn., about 1757. He commanded a vessel sailing from New London to the West Indies, and was lost overboard when two days outward bound, in 1764. He was married at Branford, 27 Sept., 1758 (Town Records), to Hannah Goodrich. On 20 Dec., 1768, administration on his estate was granted to Hannah Stokes, widow, and the estate was found to be insolvent (Guilford Probate Records, vol. x.). The ancestry of his wife Hannah is proved by a deed of 16 Jan., 1769 (New Haven Records, vol. 30, p. 216), in which Timothy, Joseph and David Goodrich, Richard and Bathsheba Towner, and Hannah Stokes, convey lands formerly belonging to their father, Bartholomew Goodrich. (See also Goodrich Genealogy.) She was the daughter of Bartholomew<sup>3</sup> Goodrich (Bartholomew,<sup>2</sup> Richard<sup>1</sup> of Guilford) by Abigail,<sup>2</sup> daughter of John<sup>1</sup> and Mercy (Mansfield) Thompson of New Haven.

On 17 Jan., 1769, Caleb Spencer and "Johanna" Stokes were married at Branford (Bailey, ii., 107). In all the family records she is uniformly called Hannah, yet her aunt, who married John Belden in 1716, was named Johanna, and that may have been her real name.

According to family records, Jonathan<sup>2</sup> was quite young when he came to Boston, and his father dying soon, his mother apprenticed him to a Boston physician. Not liking the treatment he received, he ran away to Connecticut in the company of a fellow apprentice, Jonathan Ingersoll of the New Haven family of that name, Stokes being then about 16 or 17 years old.

Children :

- i. MIRIAM,<sup>3</sup> b. 7 Jan., 1759; m. (1) 20 June, 1775, at Branford, John Mallory, who only lived about two years; m. (2) ——— Smith of New Haven, Conn.; d. without issue.
- ii. JONATHAN, b. 17 Mch., 1760; d. 4 Apl., 1760.

- 3. iii. JONATHAN, b. 23 Feb., 1761; d. 1844.
- iv. HANNAH, m. ——— Olmsetter of New London, Conn.; d. without issue.
- 4. v. RICHARD, b. 20 Jan., 1761 (or 4); d. 7 Nov., 1845.

3. JONATHAN<sup>3</sup> STOKES (Jonathan,<sup>2</sup> Jonathan<sup>1</sup>), born 23 Feb., 1761, at Branford, Conn., is said to have married at Branford, but the marriage is not found in Bailey's Conn. Marriages. He resided at New Durham, N. J., where he died in 1844, from an attack of heart disease. No complete list of his children has been obtained. Hannah,<sup>4</sup> one of his daughters, visited Westbrook in 1818, at which time she was living in New Durham, N. J. In 1870 she was living in Hudson, N. Y. In 1875 some of his descendants were living in Jersey City, N. J.

4. CAPT. RICHARD<sup>3</sup> STOKES (Jonathan,<sup>2</sup> Jonathan<sup>1</sup>), born at Branford, Conn., 20 Jan., 1762 (or 4, as stated by another authority), died 7 Nov., 1848, aged 85 (gravestone at Westbrook). In his pension papers (Pension Bureau, Washington) he swears that he will be 69 years of age in January, 1833, that there is no record of his age that he is aware of, and that he was born in Branford, where he resided until he was about 5 years old, when he moved to Saybrook. Branford Town Records give 20 Jan., 1761, as the date of his birth, which is probably correct. He married Jerusha<sup>6</sup> Lay (Daniel,<sup>5</sup> Daniel,<sup>4</sup> Robert,<sup>3</sup> Robert,<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>1</sup>), born 9 Oct., bapt. 13 Dec., 1767, in Westbrook, who died there, 14 Apr., 1862. He served as private in the Revolution, and was granted a pension; and at his death a pension was granted to his widow (Pension Papers; and Conn. Men in the Revolution, 654, 664). His title of Captain came from his commanding a coasting vessel. His family bible, containing the birth records of all his children, is now in the possession of the writer.

A PRIVATE RECORD OF DEATHS IN MEDFIELD, MASS.

From manuscripts presented to this Society by JOHN LEWIS TAYLOR, Esq., of Arlington, Mass.

THE following items are from two pamphlets, the older of which is a small, thin book, without covers. The ink has been washed off in many places, but apparently all the pamphlet was copied into the second book, which is larger, and bears on the outside of the cover the following inscription:—"Amy Bullard 1816. A Record of Deaths from the year 1746 to the present time 1830." Inside the cover is the name Thankful Bullard, and a loose paper containing a copy of the twenty-third Psalm is signed "Thank<sup>1</sup> Adams 1778."

The Medway Vital Records give the marriage of Thankful Adams and Silas Bullard, Apr. 30, 1782. They settled in Medfield, and the records of that town, under date of Nov. 30, 1793, give the birth of Ama Bullard, daughter of Silas and Thankful. Therefore this record was handed on from mother to daughter; and it was evidently kept later by another member of the Bullard family, for an outside paper cover, put on for protection, is marked "Elizabeth Bullard, Medfield, Mass."

The extreme dates touched by these records are 1746 to 1844. Only those entries which do not appear in the Medfield and Medway Vital Records issued by this Society are here printed.

NOTES.

IN a little old hair trunk, used for many years as a receptacle for papers, I found a letter of which the following is a copy. The trunk and contents came from Newburyport, Mass., and the letter was probably sent to some one there, but the address is torn off. So many persons are mentioned in it that it seems to be of possible value.

“Antigua October the 20th, 1691.

WHILE making some researches at the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds recently, I came upon a deed which contains an interesting paragraph, of which

I send a memorandum for the REGISTER, since it may prove helpful to some of the descendants of the persons mentioned.

Ann Holland of Boston, widow, and Cord Wing of Boston, shipwright, and Sarah his wife, held in common, and undivided, certain land near Common Street in Boston, which they sold to Benjamin Pollard of Boston, gentleman, for £200. The interesting paragraph in the deed, referring to the grantors, states that the said Ann and Sarah are the children and heirs of Sarah Dinley, the wife of John Dinley, heretofore of the Island Mountseratt, cooper, deceased; and that the said Sarah Dinley was the daughter of William Pollard of Boston and Ann his wife. The deed is dated 19 Mar., 1741-42, and is recorded in Book LXIII, page 6.

HENRY H. EDES.

HIGHLAND, HILAND.—The following record is from a MS. compiled by the late Hon. Ralph D. Smyth:

1. GEORGE<sup>1</sup> HIGHLAND, or HILAND, was at Guilford on Sept. 4, 1651, when he took the oath of fidelity. He may have come from Wethersfield. He had a home lot with an orchard, containing 1½ acres, and a parcel of upland of 10 acres. Later in his life he sold these lands, and bought a new home lot containing 3 acres, adjoining a parcel of pasture land containing 13 acres and a piece of land in the plain. He married Mary, daughter of Abraham Crutten-den, about 1665, and died Jan. 21, 1692-3. He left no sons, but his daughters all married in Guilford, and left descendants who were among the most prominent families claiming a Guilford origin. Hon. Hiland Hall of Bennington, Vt., member of Congress and afterwards Governor of that State, was a descendant.

Children:

- i. Elizabeth, b. June 18, 1666; d. in 1749; m. Dec. 13, 1689, Isaac, son of John Parmelee of Guilford, who d. Jan. 23, 1749.
- ii. Hannah, b. Jan. 29, 1669; d. May 19, 1752; m. in 1694, John Hill, Jr., of Guilford, who d. Feb. 10, 1740.
- iii. Mary, b. May 12, 1672; d. Apr., 1738; m. Feb. 1, 1692, Thomas, son of Samuel Hall of Middletown and Guilford, who d. Feb. 1, 1753.
- iv. Deborah, b. in 1674; d. Oct. 27, 1758; m. Apr. 11, 1700, Ebenezer, son of John Hall of Guilford, who d. Dec., 1723.

(Mrs.) ANNA M. PICKFORD.

In the British Museum, Egerton MS. 784, is a Diary of William Whiteway, of Dorchester, England, 1618-1634, from which (page 69) the following extract is taken:

"Dec. 16, 1623.

The 15th hereof S<sup>d</sup> Walter Erle governor of the New England plantacon came hither to advise with the rest of the planters about the ordering the busynesse. A share in 5 £. a yeare to be paid yearly for 5 yeares, and ther shalbe made a distribution of the proffitts. I have subscribed to be one share."

MAVERICK-NORMAN.—The following extract of a deed dated 7 Mar. 1720-1, acknowledged 18 Mar. 1720-1, and recorded 10 May 1721, in Essex County (Mass.) Deeds, vol. 39, page 184, may be of interest, as showing that Sarah Norman was not the daughter of Moses Maverick by his first wife, Remember Allerton, but by his second wife, Eunice ———.

. . . "John Norman of Marblehead . . . Fisherman with the consent of his wife Mary Norman & Benjamin Norman of Marblehead afores<sup>d</sup>, Cordwainer & Fisherman sons of John Norman & Sarah Norman & Grandsons of Moses

The conveyance from Moses and Eunice Maverick to Sarah Norman does not appear on Essex County grantor index. (Miss) ELLA F. ELLIOT.

REPLIES.

LAMB.—Answering my query in the REGISTER, vol. xlv, p. 401, Elizabeth, wife of Abial Lamb, was the widow of Joseph Buckminster and daughter of Hugh and Elizabeth Clark, born Jan. 31, 1647-8. She married in 1665, Joseph Buckminster, who died Nov. 20, 1668, by whom she had Joseph and Elizabeth.
 There seems to be no record of her second marriage, but in the Records of the Court of Assistants, Massachusetts Bay, vol. 1, page 103, is this entry:

[1677] "Vpon the motion of Abiell Lambe in behalf of his wife late widow of Joseph Buckminster referring to hir thirds of said Joseph's estate m<sup>r</sup> Thomas weld & Thomas gardiner sen are Appointed a Committee to Repaire to s<sup>d</sup> Lands

FRANK B. LAMB.

Westfield, N. Y.

THOMPSON.—In the July, 1908, REGISTER (p. xxi), is a query as to Eleanor, daughter of Moses and Betsey Thompson, born Jan. 18, 1825 (Medway Vital Records, p. 122).

The entry is an error, and should read Eleazar, son of Moses and Betsey
 Thompson, born Jan. 18, 1825.

Another error in Medway Vital Records is the entry concerning Edmund
 Nelson Thompson, my brother. He was not "twin" with me, but was born Jan. 21, 1823.

ELEAZAR THOMPSON.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

HARLEIAN SOCIETY.—The following statement concerning publications of the Harleian Society may interest readers of the REGISTER:

Volume III. of "The Registers of St. Paul, Covent Garden, London," containing Marriages from 1653 to 1837, edited by the Rev. W. H. Hunt, forming the thirty-fifth volume of the Registers, will be issued to the Subscribers for 1907.

"The Registers of St. Paul, Covent Garden," containing the Burials, under the editorship of the Rev. W. H. Hunt, is in the press.

"The Registers of St. Benet, Paul's Wharf," and "The Registers of St.
 Peter, Paul's Wharf, London," under the editorship of Willoughby A. Little-dale, Esq., M.A., F.S.A., are progressing.

Orders should be addressed to W. Bruce Bannerman, Secretary, Sydenham Road, Croydon, Surrey, England.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Fulham.—Volney Sewall Fulham, of Ludlow, Vt., is compiling a genealogy of the descendants of Francis Fulham, who died in Weston, Mass., in 1758, to include the material collected by his father.

Oates, Otis.—William A. Otis, Winnetka, Ills., is compiling a genealogy of the Otis (originally Oates) family.

Winans.—Ira Winans, 16 Greenwood St., Rochester, N. Y., is preparing a genealogy of the descendants of John Winans, who came from Holland to Elizabethtown, N. J., and died in 1694.

BOOK NOTICES.*

[THE editor requests persons sending books for notice to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail. For the January issue, books should be received by Nov. 1; for April, by Feb. 1; for July, by May 1; and for October, by July 1.]

The Barnes Family Year Book. An annual publication issued under the authority of the Barnes Family Association. Compiled by TRESPCOTT C. BARNES, Secretary and Genealogist. Vol. 1—1907. The Grafton Press, Genealogical Publishers, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York. 8vo. pp. 64.

Branches of the family that settled in New Haven, Hartford, East Hampton, and Long Island are sketched in this useful publication, which is a work other similar associations would do well to copy. It also contains the record of the ancestry of some of the members of the association, obituary notices, and queries. It is indexed, clearly printed, and well bound.

The Family of Rev. John Butler. [Compiled by CHARLES BOWDOIN FILLEBROWN.] Price one dollar. 1908. Printed for private circulation. 8vo. pp. 44. Illus.

The Rev. John Butler was settled over the Baptist Church in Hanover, Mass., in 1810. A sketch of his pastorate there and in other places precedes an account of his fourteen children and his grandchildren. His line of descent from John Butler of Cape Ann is to be found at the beginning of this well-bound brochure, which is profusely illustrated with portraits.

A Genealogical Record of the descendants of Benjamin Chamberlain, of Sussex County, New Jersey, together with brief historical and biographical sketches and illustrated with several portraits and other illustrations. By REV. A[BRAHAM] J. FRETZ, Milton, N. J. With an introduction by RAYMOND CHAMBERLAIN of Brooklyn, N. Y. Netcong, N. J.: Printed at the Eagle Office, 1907. 8vo. pp. 104. Illus.

Benjamin Chamberlain, the progenitor of the descendants here recorded, went from Connecticut to Sparta, Sussex Co., N. J., some time prior to 1767. Many branches of the family are brought down to date, and both biographical sketches and portraits are numerous. The index is unreliable. The REGISTER plan might be useful to the author in arranging future genealogical works.

The Descendants of James Cole of Plymouth, 1633. Also a record of the families of Lieutenant Thomas Burnham of Ipswich, 1635, Lieutenant Edward Winship of Cambridge, 1635, and Simon Huntington of Norwich, England, 1635. With a complete record of the Cole-Cooles, and Cowle Families of America in the Revolution, by ERNEST BYRON COLE. The Grafton Press, Genealogical Publishers, New York, MCMVIII. 8vo. pp. 435. Illus.

* All of the unsigned reviews are written by ALICE LUCRETIA WESTGATE of Boston.

Although this family first settled in Plymouth, they are now well scattered, and have become prominent and useful members of society in different States from Massachusetts to California. The ten generations here recorded include more than four thousand names. The title-page well describes the contents of the volume, which is suitably indexed, printed, and bound. Such statements as are found printed here concerning Lt. Thomas Burnham should not have been allowed to pass. His parentage, and place and date of birth have not yet been proved, and he married Marie Lawrence, step-daughter of John Tuttle, and not Mary Tuttle, daughter of John.

The Ancestors and Descendants of Josiah Snell Copeland and Katharine Guild of Easton, Massachusetts. Chariton, Iowa. Printed at the office of the Chariton Herald. 1907. 8vo. pp. 80.

The material published here was found among the papers of the late Mrs. Katharine Guild, wife of Josiah Snell Copeland, and a prefatory note written by her was dated 1867. The families of Guild, Howard, Snell, Leonard, and Copeland are sketched as they relate to this particular line, and ample opportunity is given for the addition of personal notes.

The Dobyns-Cooper and allied families of Ballou, Bramble, Coulter, Credit, Duval, Henry, Kemp, Larew, Lyon, Norwood, Perry, Pierce, and Taylor. By Mrs. AURELIA ANNA PIERCE BALLOU, Hannibal, Mo., and W. F. COOPER, Geological Survey, Lansing, Mich. Lansing, Mich., April, 1908, State Printers. 8vo. pp. 31.

Information which is difficult to obtain and easy to lose is preserved here regarding families who are scattered through the West. Great effort has been made by the use of back reference numbers to present the information clearly, but before the compilers bring out a larger publication, which would be most useful, it is recommended that consultation of the REGISTER or some other comprehensive plan of arranging genealogical material would be helpful both to authors and readers.

A History of Thomas and Anne Billopp Farmar, and some of their descendants in America. Compiled from authentic documents by CHARLES FARMAR BILLOPP. The Grafton Press, Genealogical Publishers, New York. MCMVII. 8vo. pp. 125. Illus.

So much of interesting romance and adventure is connected with this family, which has been prominent in Ireland, Pennsylvania, Florida and elsewhere, that much credit is due the compiler for his conscientious attempt to separate facts from fiction. Readers cannot fail to be fascinated by this lively account, which is presented in admirable form.

The Descendants of George Holmes of Roxbury. 1594-1908. Compiled by GEORGE ARTHUR GRAY. To which is added the descendants of John Holmes of Woodstock, Conn. Boston: Press of David Clapp & Son. 1908. Price, $5.00; with postage, $5.20. Apply to the author, 51 Botolph St., Atlantic, Mass. 8vo. pp. 432. Illus.

It should be a pleasure to add this genealogy to any library, for its excellent compilation, and good printing and binding, make it a desirable volume. The arrangement is on the REGISTER plan, and the author's good judgment in printing the subject of each sketch, as well as the name of the wife, in prominent full-faced type, affords a most agreeable relief to the eye. The section on the Holmes family of Woodstock, in no way connected with the Roxbury family, was written by the late E. Holmes Bugbee of Killingly, Conn., and contains the ancestry of Oliver Wendell Holmes. The index is excellent, and the few illustrations good.

Hooper Genealogy. Compiled by CHARLES HENRY POPE and THOMAS HOOPER, Boston, Mass. Published by Charles H. Pope, 221 Columbus Avenue, 1908. 8vo. pp. 313. Illus.

Under this inclusive title are gathered the genealogies of the Hooper families of Reading, Marblehead, and Beverly, Mass., and of Maine, no connection between any of them having been discovered. The first third of the volume treats of the descendants of William of Reading, and was compiled by Mr. Thomas Hooper. Equal care and attention are given the other branches by Mr. Pope, and all are clearly arranged on the REGISTER plan. Well-selected as to size, style, paper, printing, and binding, it would have been better with one good index covering the whole, instead of the five inadequate substitutes, not one of which includes the matter in the appendix, which relates to the family in England. Notwithstanding this, however, the book will be found valuable. The half-tone portraits are unusually pleasing.

Horton Family Year-Book. The descendants of Isaac Horton. Compiled by BYRON BARNES HORTON. The Grafton Press. New York. MCMVIII. 16mo. pp. 31.

This pamphlet gives a list of the members of this Association and their addresses, also groups the living descendants of Isaac Horton according to their descent from Isaac's ten children. A little more detail would greatly increase the usefulness of this booklet.

The Historical Journal of the More Family. No. 14. May, 1908. Seattle, Washington. 4to. pp. 229-240.

Starved Rock, Illinois, is the subject of the most important essay contained in this family journal, which records the doings of various chapters of the Association, and also gives the tenth supplement to the genealogy of the descendants of John More.

A History of the Putnam Family in England and America. By EBEN PUTNAM. Part IX. Additional Chapters and Index. 1908. 8vo. pp. 101-129+xxvii.

This number gives an interesting account of the Mohawk Valley branch of the family, descendants of Jan or Johannes Putnam of Schenectady, N. Y. The John and Thomas Putnam family of Connecticut and Vermont also receive attention, and the descent of the John Putnam who died Dec. 30, 1662, in Salem, Mass., from Louis IV., King of France, is reprinted here from "Americans of Royal Descent," by C. H. Browning. A tabular pedigree showing the ancestry of Louis IV. is also given, as well as three indexes.

Recently Discovered English Ancestry of Governor William Tracy of Virginia, 1620, and of his only son Lieutenant Thomas Tracy of Salem, Massachusetts and Norwich, Connecticut. By DWIGHT TRACY, M.D., D.D.S. The Journal of American History, New Haven, Connecticut. MCMVIII. Price, with enclosure, $5.00, apply to the author, 46 West 51st Street, New York City. 4to. pp. 31. Illus.

An unbroken line of descent from King Egbert of England is set forth in this brochure, which gives an account of a portion of the progeny of Saxon monarchs in America, and is a reprint from the Journal of American History. A very beautiful illuminated copy of the coat-of-arms used by the Toddington Tracys is the enclosure mentioned in the statement of the price.

The quality of the paper and illustrations, many of which are from rare old prints, are in keeping with the royal lineage they record.

Some Account of the Tree Family and its connections in England and America. Edited by JOSIAH GRANVILLE LEACH, LL.B. Printed for private circulation by J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia. MDCCCXVIII. 8vo. pp. 107. Illus.

Somersetshire, England, was the home of that branch of the Tree family which seems to have been connected with Capt. Lambert Tree, who settled in Philadelphia, Pa., about 1760, and became a prominent sea captain. He was one of the organizers of the "Society for the Relief of Poor and Distressed Masters of Ships, their Widows and Children," a list of whose members is here printed. Particular attention is given to those descendants who became honored and influential in Chicago, Ill. The whole volume exhibits, in its excellent paper and beautiful illustrations, that exceeding taste and skill always to be found in Mr. Leach's compilations.

A Memorial to my grandmother Sarah Thorne White and her ancestry. [By] JESSIE WHITMORE PATTEN PURDY. 1908. 8vo. pp. 23.

The White, Giveen, Malcom, and Thorne families were among the settlers of Brunswick, Me., and the direct line of each to the subject of the sketch is here given. Similar accounts may also be found of the families of Appleton, Denison, Dudley, Rogers, Prentice, Freeman, and Brewster.

Memoir of Albert Alonzo Folsom. By GEORGE SUMNER MANN. Boston: Press of David Clapp & Son. 1908. 8vo. pp. 6. Illus.

This is a reprint from the REGISTER for July, 1908.

Thomas Simms Bettens. A Memorial. New York. MCMVIII. 8vo. pp. 33+. Illus.

The magnetic personality of a beloved teacher, who served for twenty-eight years with distinction in a secondary school in New York City, is recognizable throughout this affectionate memorial from his pupils, colleagues, and Harvard classmates of 1874. It has been suggested that a drinking fountain in the Harvard Union at Cambridge be erected to his memory.

John Ainsworth Dunn, Gardner, Massachusetts. Compiled and published by Rev. SETH COOLEY CARY, Dorchester Center, Boston, Mass. 1908. 4to. pp. 76. Illus.

Following the account of John Ainsworth Dunn, a pioneer in the business of manufacturing chairs, are brief accounts of the Jackson, Dunn, Chaffee and Cary families. The illustrations are interesting, and the whole sketch worthy of perusal.

Andrew Ellicott, his life and letters. By CATHARINE VAN CORTLANDT MATHEWS. Illustrated. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. 8vo. pp. 256. Illus.

Unusual merit distinguishes the manner in which this biography is presented, and it is, therefore, singularly in keeping with the brilliant, valuable life it records. Inheriting mechanical ability that was but little short of genius, Andrew Ellicott ever used his talents for public service and benefit. He surveyed the site of Washington, D. C., being appointed to the task at the request of George Washington, and completed the plans for that city. He surveyed the Florida boundary, and did other less important works, and it is a proof of his accuracy and skill that his surveys stand to-day, untouched and accepted. He was appointed professor of mathematics at West Point, without any solicitation by or for him. He died at West Point in 1820.

John Harvard's Life in America, or social and political life in New England in 1637-1638. By ANDREW MCFARLAND DAVIS. Reprinted from the Publications of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Vol. XII. Cambridge: John Wilson and Son. University Press. 1908. 8vo. pp. 45.

With his accustomed and characteristic accuracy Mr. Davis has collected minute data relating to the daily life of the colony in 1637, showing the conditions which Harvard found on his arrival. Fancy plays no part in this brief sketch, which, in consequence, is a contrast to Mr. Shelly's recent attempt to depict John Harvard's life in England.

Recollections of my Life, by HERMANN KRÜSI, son of Hermann Krüsi (Pestalozzi's Associate). An autobiographical sketch supplemented by extracts from his personal records, and a review of his literary productions, together with selected essays, arranged and edited by ELIZABETH SHELDON ALLING. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. 8vo. pp. 439. Illus.

This autobiography of a Swiss educator, most of whose work was done in American Normal Schools, will prove an interesting record of the advances made at a very formative period in American methods of teaching. The life of a Swiss canton and that of the United States is often strongly contrasted, especially with reference to national characteristics and politics. As the record was made when the writer was nearly eighty, it has the advantage of being ripe in judgment and perspective.

Reminiscences of Richard Lathers. Sixty years of a busy life in South Carolina, Massachusetts, and New York. Edited by ALVAN F. SANBORN. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. MCMVII. 8vo. pp. 425. Illus.

The "Reminiscences of a Peacemaker" might well have been the title of this book. From first to last the governing purpose of Col. Lathers's long life was the establishment of peace, his activities being both social and political. Many interesting and valuable letters are included in the vivid account Col. Lathers writes of the stirring days in which he played a prominent part. Mr. Sanborn has shown excellent taste in selecting and condensing this material, as well as presenting it in such an attractive form. The paper, type, and binding are of superior quality, and the volume is indexed.

New England Family History. Vol. I. October 1st, 1907. No. 2. Issued Quarterly. Subscriptions One Dollar per Year. Single copies Twenty-five Cents. A Magazine Devoted to the History of Families of Maine and Massachusetts. Edited and Published by HENRY COLE QUINBY, A.B., LL.B. Office of Publication: Hanover Bank Building, 5 Nassau St., New York City, 4to. pp. 23-44. Illus.

A continuation of the articles on the Frost and Jackson families published in the first number is here given, and also brief accounts of related families, among others that of Bolles. In an earlier notice of this book it was stated that the descent of Joseph Bolles from Sir John Bolles had been authentically established. This is an error, for his English ancestry has been discovered, and he was a son of Thomas Bolles, of Oberton, Eng.; and no connection with Sir John has been found. The Rice, Brewer, Moore, Aborne, and Whale families receive attention.

The Pioneers of Maine and New Hampshire, 1623 to 1660. A descriptive list drawn from records of the colonies, towns, churches, courts, and other contemporary sources. By CHARLES HENRY POPE. With foreword by JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER, A.M., Litt.D. Boston, Mass. Published by Charles H. Pope, 221 Columbus Avenue. 1908. 8vo. pp. 252.

Genealogists will indeed be grateful for the many important clues here furnished, and, as Mr. Baxter states in his foreword, an examination will convince the student of the extent and value of Mr. Pope's researches. The arrangement is alphabetical, and is similar to that used in the Pioneers of Massachusetts, but it is a pleasure to notice an improvement in the size and shape of this volume. A list of the towns and plantations in Maine and New Hampshire before 1660 is given, also the authorities quoted, which include town, church, court, county, and probate records, notarial records, diaries, histories, and private manuscripts. This useful and valuable work is the product of Mr. Pope's indomitable perseverance, patience, and skill.

Colonial Families of the United States of America, in which is given the history, genealogy and armorial bearings of colonial families who settled in the American colonies from the time of the settlement of Jamestown, 13th May, 1607, to the battle of Lexington, 19th April, 1775. Edited by GEORGE NORBURY MACKENZIE, LL.B. The Grafton Press, Genealogical Publishers, New York. MCMVII. Boston. 4to. pp. 730.

To those Americans who are fascinated by coats-of-arms, this volume with its heraldic decorations will be pictorially pleasing. In too few cases has any connection between the family and the armorial illustration accompanying it been authentically established. Much interesting and valuable genealogical data is gathered here, however, and in addition to the alphabetical arrangement of the families there is a good index.

Genealogical Records of the _____ Family. Compiled by _____. Designed by WALTER G. DEWITT. The Grafton Press, Genealogical Publishers, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York. 8vo.

This adds another to the various styles of keeping genealogical data.

The Registers of the Protestant Church at Caen (Normandy). Vol. I. B. & M. 1560-1572. Edited by C. E. LART. 1907. 4to. pp. 712.

It is stated in the introduction that the registers of the Protestant Church at Caen consist of thirteen volumes of baptisms and marriages 1560-1614, and of deaths 1607-1614. In the municipal Archives are nine other volumes containing baptisms and marriages 1607-1684, and deaths 1614-1684. The last two volumes contain deaths 1788-1792, which are not published in this work.

The Witchcraft Delusion in Colonial Connecticut, 1647-1697. By JOHN M. TAYLOR. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. 12mo. pp. 172. Illus.

Extracts from the court files of Connecticut regarding the trials of the witches follow a brief, general survey of the history of witchcraft. A list of the authorities consulted in the writing of this essay will be found at the end of the volume, and may be useful to those who wish to carry this study further. The volume is indexed, and printed in uniformity with others of the Historical Series which are being published by this press.

Dedication of the Sawin Memorial Building, Dover, Massachusetts. Tuesday, May 14th, 1907. Printed by the Dover Historical and Natural History Society. 1908. 8vo. pp. 40. Illus.

A full account of the exercises by which the Dover Historical Society dedicated its new home is here printed. In the principal address by the president, Mr. Frank Smith, it is interesting to notice that he gives biographical sketches of four graduates of Harvard College, namely, Jabez Chickering and Joseph Haven, both of the class of 1774, John Haven, class of 1776, and Joseph Haven, class of 1810, all of whom lived in the Chickering house now standing in Dover.

Additional Contributions to the History of Christ Church, Hartford, Conn., with the records of baptisms, confirmations, communicants, marriages and burials, 1760-1900. Revised and corrected. Vol. 2. Hartford, Conn. Belknap and Warfield, 1908. 8vo. pp. 517. Illus.

This monumental work on the parish of Christ Church shows great painstaking care, and will be invaluable in identifying any of its parishoners. Every possible effort was made to have the records as complete and accurate as possible, and all additions and corrections are printed in italics. The record of baptism usually gives also the date of birth, and nearly all the entries are made in tabular form. A splendid, classified index makes each item easily accessible. Other parishes could do no better than perform a similar service, commemorating the part the church has played in the lives of its people.

Old Steamboat Days on the Hudson River. Tales and reminiscences of the stirring times that followed the introduction of steam navigation. By DAVID LEAR BUCKMAN. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. 12mo. pp. 143. Illus.

For one hundred years the Hudson River has been the home of steamboat navigation, and it holds the world's record for length of service. The account of this industry as here given is unusually interesting, and the excellent views of steamboats of the different varieties built between 1807 and 1907 illustrate the immense progress that has been made in this line. A descriptive table of the prominent Hudson River Steamboats, 1807-1907, compiled and arranged by S. W. Stanton, is valuable for reference, and an index closes this volume.

Middletown Upper Houses. A history of the North Society of Middletown, Connecticut, from 1650 to 1800, with genealogical and biographical chapters on early families, and a full genealogy of the Ranney family. By CHARLES COLLARD ADAMS, M.A. The Grafton Press, Genealogical Publishers, New York. MCMVIII. 8vo. pp. 847. Illus.

The incorporated Society of Middletown Upper Houses is to be congratulated on the publication of this volume, which makes public much valuable data worth preservation. A history of the society itself follows historical essays on early town topics, and an unusually comprehensive Ranney genealogy occupies nearly four hundred pages. Other families which receive extensive notice are those of Doolittle, Eells, Gaylord, Hall, Keith, Kelsey, Kirby, Sage, Savage, Stocking, Treat, White, Wilcox, and Williams. A revolutionary diary kept by Gideon Savage is to be found here. The illustrations are numerous and good, but the index is only partial, and the preface unfinished.

Two Centuries of New Milford, Connecticut. An account of the bi-centennial celebration of the founding of the town, held June 15, 16, 17, and 18, 1907, with a number of historical articles and reminiscences. Prepared under the direction of the Historical Committee by various citizens of New Milford and by the Editorial Department of the Grafton Press. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. 8vo. pp. 307. Illus.

The first third of this volume is devoted to several historical essays, a list of the proprietors of 1703, and a chronological epitome of the history of the town. A detailed account of every feature of the celebration itself is given in the second part of the book, including poetry, addresses and exercises, not forgetting the governor's reception, the colonial reception, automobile parade, Sunday services, and loan exhibitions. The illustrations are good, the print clear, the binding well selected, and the index most useful.

In Olde New York. Sketches of old times and places in both the state and the city. By CHARLES BURR TODD. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. 12mo. pp. 253. Illus.

Twenty years ago many of these sketches appeared as magazine articles, describing the changes that had occurred within the memory of the writer. They now afford a second comparison to the reader of the present day, and are written in a popular and pleasing style. The old prints, many of which are rare, add to the value of the book, which is indexed, and published in the usual good style of the Grafton Press.

Eleventh Annual Report of the Peabody Historical Society. Incorporated August 15th, 1896. 8vo. pp. 12.

In addition to the regular reports, the Curtis-Very Burial lot and Stone tomb are here described.

Annual Proceedings. Pennsylvania Society of Sons of the Revolution. 1907-1908. Philadelphia, 1908. 4to. pp. 100. Illus.

The address delivered at the dedication of a monument erected at Phoenixville, Pa., to mark the most inland point reached in the British invasion, and a sermon by Bishop Darlington, follow the regular lists of officers and members, and the annual reports of the society.

The Journal of the American-Irish Historical Society. By THOMAS HAMILTON MURRAY, Secretary-General. Volume VII. Boston, Mass. Published by the Society. 1907. 8vo. pp. 188. Illus.

The first among the "Historical Notes and Papers" in this volume is an article on "Irish Ability in the United States," by the late James Jeffrey Roche, in which he questions several statements made by Henry Cabot Lodge in an article on "The Distribution of Ability in the United States." Much information will be found in "The Kelts of Colonial Boston," as well as in other interesting items too numerous to mention. The illustrations are portraits handsomely reproduced, and in keeping with the entire volume which is excellent in paper, printing, and binding. The index is analytical. The recent death of Mr. Murray makes a distinct loss to the historical world.

Publications of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts. Volume X. Transactions 1904-1906. Boston, Published by the Society. 1907. 8vo. pp. 476. Illus.

Although this volume covers the usual interesting variety of subjects, it will probably be generally distinguished as the Franklin volume, over fifty pages being devoted to the proceedings of the stated meeting in January, 1906, which was commemorative of the bi-centennial of his birth, and illustrated by facsimiles of his common-place book, academic degrees and diploma, and other related matters. John Davenport's election sermon of 1669 is wholly reproduced in facsimile. In addition to memoirs of James Coolidge Carter, Samuel Wells, Sigourney Butler, and Robert Charles Winthrop, Jr., each of which is accompanied by a portrait, the most noticeable articles are those on the Rebellion of 1766 in Harvard College, the Origin of the Porcellian Club, the Beginnings of Stock Speculation, and Was the Government of the Massachusetts Bay a Theocracy?

The Cherokee Indians, with special reference to their relations with the United States Government. By THOMAS VALENTINE PARKER, Ph. D. The Grafton Press, Publishers, New York. 12mo. pp. 116. Illus.

The many treaties made with this tribe, from the earliest days, are noticed and discussed in this studious essay, which gives much attention to their modern treatment by the Government, and the problems yet unsolved. Interesting studies in physiognomy are furnished by portraits of some of the prominent men of the tribe. A map showing their original possessions, and a bibliography, are useful additions, making this volume one of the most valuable in the Grafton Historical series.

Islandica. An annual relating to Iceland and the Fiske Icelandic Collection in Cornell University Library. Edited by GEORGE WILLIAM HARRIS, Librarian. Volume 1. Bibliography of the Icelandic Sagas and minor tales. By HALLDÓR HERMANNSSON. Issued by Cornell University Library, Ithaca, New York. 1908. Price one dollar. 8vo. pp. 126.

Not only did the late Mr. Willard Fiske, the first Librarian of Cornell University, leave to that college his wonderful collections of books on special subjects, but, by a clause in his will he left a fund to be used in publishing an annual volume relating to Iceland and the Icelandic collection he bequeathed to Cornell. The curator of this Icelandic collection, who was associated with Mr. Fiske in bibliographical work, has prepared the first volume issued, which gives but a partial account of this marvellous group of books.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT.

MEMBERS OF THE NEW ENGLAND
HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY :

Ladies and Gentlemen—

The excellent report of the Council is suggestive to me of the value of brevity, and I shall not detain you to-day with matters outside of our own immediate interests, though certain conditions affecting our general welfare may well bear discussion upon almost any occasion. I am impelled to this course by the conviction that you prefer to devote your thoughts to the practical questions affecting this Society, and to defer the consideration of other and more remote subjects to some future occasion should such offer.

While the report of the Council naturally epitomizes the work of the Society for the year, I shall take up the various reports and call attention to their salient features, and I do this only because I am well aware that these reports will be read in full by only a small number of those present, for such is the fate of all committee reports in this hurrying age, when every man is burdened with exacting duties which demand his close attention.

The financial condition of the Society, you will see, is excellent. By the careful management of the Finance Committee, aided by the friendly coöperation of other officers of the Society, we have lived within our means, and begin the year with a clean balance sheet, ever "a consummation devoutly to be wished," but not always attained.

Believing that it was for the interest of the Society, the Finance Committee, you will remember, advised the sale of its property in Dorchester, namely, No. 2 Westmoreland Street, and 69 Bushnell Street, and that authority was given the Treasurer to dispose of the same. This he has accomplished, having already conveyed the first named piece of property by deed, and executed an agreement for the conveyance of the other. The Committee has also placed fire escapes upon the Allston Street property to meet the requirements of the city, and, in accordance with its recommendation, the Society's building has been equipped on its northerly side with fire shutters. The bequest of the late Charles Edward French of one thousand dollars has been received and added to the endowment fund.

Our Library, which is our most important asset, especially demands attention. In answer to an appeal made by the Society for books to be sent to the San Francisco Public Library to assist it in making up its loss by fire, about one thousand volumes were received by the Committee, and with the addition of the Society's publications were shipped to their destination.

The rapid growth of our library is to be noted, and especially the pressing need of increased room for storage and safety. Every effort has been made by the Librarian to utilize space, but the limit has been about reached, and what to do with our future acquisitions will soon become a serious problem; besides we have learned that our building is weak, and that the danger from fire great; in fact, that it has been increased during the year by the erection of a schoolhouse within a few feet of our northerly line. The danger from this building I have before remarked has been guarded against as far as possible, but we are surrounded by dangers which imperatively call for a new, fire-proof structure, and I believe that steps should be immediately taken towards securing a building suited to the needs of the Society. Our library has become too valuable to be longer exposed to the dangers which surround it.

The literary meetings of the Society during the year have fully sustained the high character which they have achieved in the past. Many papers of great literary merit and historical value have been presented at our monthly meetings and, when published, will add much to the Society's quarterly publication, the reputation of which is now world wide. In this connection I should not omit reference to the meeting in November in memory of our late associate, Mr. Trask. No man whom we have lost since my connection with the Society has more deserved our gratitude and affection, and none has received warmer eulogies. Such men are rare, and leave the world poorer when they depart.

Your Committee on Publications has continued, with its usual efficiency, its excellent work. It has published, besides the annual volume of the REGISTER, two volumes of Memorial Biographies and four volumes of Vital Records, and of thirty-two other towns have volumes in preparation which will be published in the near future. This monumental work, I believe, will eventually prove to be one of the most important undertakings which any society in this county has ever achieved.

The retirement of Mr. Woods from the editorship of publications requires more than a passing notice. Since his connection with that department, Mr. Woods has not only rendered the most devoted service to the interest of the Society, but has shown himself to be possessed of editorial ability of a high character. In his association with the members of this Society and its officers, his unvarying courtesy and exuberant good will have endeared him to us all, and his vacant chair will remind us of a personal loss. It is fortunate for the Society that it is so rich in editorial talent as to be able to supply the vacancy in its editorial department with a man so well fitted for it as Mr. Foster. We, who have been associated with him in the Council for several years, have for him the highest esteem, and believe that he will make a worthy successor to Mr. Woods.

I regret that the English Research Committee has been unable to accomplish any work during the year. When Mr. Lee undertook the publication of his valuable book, Register Soame, I confidently expected that the splendid work which Mr. Waters had relinquished would be continued, and I still hope that it may be resumed in the not distant future. The Committee makes a timely criticism of Mr. H. C. Shelley's article on John Harvard in a late magazine. I read the article in question, and was astonished at the studied avoidance of any reference to Mr. Waters's invaluable discoveries of Harvard's ancestry. Mr. Shelley certainly merits the criticism which the Committee has bestowed upon him.

The Committee on Epitaphs has added valuable material to our collections in that department of work. It has always been a most efficient Committee, as a glance at the volumes it has collected amply proves. In its report it calls attention to the fact that the compilers of the Vital Records of Massachusetts have assumed the work in which they have been engaged, so far as this state is concerned, and they recommend that the work in this state be confined to the compilers of the Records. They can, however, actively promote the work in the other New England states, and I trust that they will not relinquish their valuable efforts in these states, especially in the vicinity of the older towns, to which they should first give their attention.

The Committee on the Collection of Records has done what it could without funds, as will be seen by its report. I would suggest that either a small appropriation be made, or subscriptions solicited for the use of the Committee.

The Committee on Increase of Membership reports an increase in the resident membership of the Society for the past year of seventy-one persons, and remarks that the increase during a number of years past is only about enough to replace the annual loss to the Society by death, resignation, and otherwise. The Committee attributes the small additions to the Society from year to year to the failure of the members to interest themselves in the Committee's work. If every member would make it his business during the present year to add at least two new members to the Society, we should have occasion to rejoice at our next annual meeting. I appeal to every member here to enlist in this good work. By applying to the Librarian, or Recording Secretary, information and blanks may be obtained.

The Committee on Consolidated Index reports the completion of the Index of Persons in volumes 1-50 of the REGISTER, consisting of three volumes; that the Index of Subjects in the same volumes is well under way, and that the first part will probably be issued in the spring. The Committee expresses the hope that the important work of indexing should be continued and an index printed at intervals of ten years.

The Committee on the Sale of Publications has received gifts of a considerable number of books from several persons, the proceeds from the sale of which, with one exception, are to be expended for certain specified purposes. For more particular information regarding these gifts, I will refer you to the report. The Committee, by its well directed efforts, has obtained new subscriptions to the Index amounting to $2300, and it proposes to continue its work until the entire field has been canvassed.

I have thus outlined the work accomplished during the year by your several committees, and I doubt not that you will agree with me that they have well and faithfully discharged the duties assigned them.

In closing, I wish to thank each one of you for the friendly courtesy which you have extended to me upon all occasions, and to say, in the words of the Apostle John to Gaius, "Beloved, I pray that in all things thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth."

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL.

Prepared by CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, A.B.

IN conformity with the requirements of the By-laws of the Society, the Council herewith submits the report of its labors during the past year and its recommendations for the future.

A regular meeting has been held in the forenoon of the day of each stated meeting of the Society, at which due consideration has been given to matters of business presented, and such action has been taken in each case as seemed best for the promotion of the various objects of the Society for its ultimate welfare. These meetings have been well attended, and a desire to attain the utmost prosperity for the Society in its undertakings seems to have actuated each councillor. The deliberations of this body have been uniformly harmonious and its actions usually unanimous.

Other than the nomination of members, the fixing of salaries, and the appropriation of money, the routine business of the Society is largely performed under the direction of the Council by the officers elected by the Society, by the Editor, the Historian, and the standing Committees appointed by the Council. All of these officers and Committees have performed their duties during the year in a commendable manner, and, as their reports give their transactions in detail, needless repetition is herein avoided.

The policy of the Society from its very earliest days has been to gather a library of New England local history and genealogy, and to publish genealogical, historical and biographical data. Throughout its later years it has pursued its dual policy with vigor, on the one hand concentrating its energies upon a genealogical library, a library especially complete in all that pertains to New England families, their origins, their annals while residents here, and their emigrations to other sections of the country, with their later history in their new homes; on the other hand, utilizing its forces and influence, both directly and indirectly, for the increase of publications of permanent value to the descendants of the settlers of New England. These efforts have been successful to a large degree, so successful indeed, that the library has achieved an unrivaled reputation for completeness in its special field, and the Society has attained a high place both for the amount and character of its publications. The Council recommends the continuance of this aggressive policy of building up the library and the publications of the Society along genealogical lines, leaving to each kindred institution full opportunity to stand first in its particular domain.

One of the minor factors operating for the benefit of the Society in the past has been the sale of miscellaneous books, donated and bequeathed to it without restriction. Many remainders of editions have been received and the proceeds from sales have been a source of profit. In several instances, where these remainders were large, the proceeds have been funded, and the income only used; in others the entire amounts realized have been used for current expenses. After the publisher of a genealogical book has supplied the current demand for it, the copies which remain unsold are often a source of annoyance rather than profit; for this reason, and also because of the general good will toward the Society, gifts of this nature steadily increase. This Society has excellent facilities for advertising and selling genealogical books, and the Council deems it advisable to secure by gift such remainders in the future, whenever possible.

At the close of the year the Society lost by death Captain Albert Alonzo Folsom, a member whose alert mind and sound judgment made him a valued officer of the Council and on various committees. His genial temperament and kind heart endeared him to all who had occasion to work with him. The passing away of such a man reminds us that it has often been the happy fortune of our Society to retain the interest and affection of able men throughout a long and useful career.

The Council earnestly recommends to the members of the Society the perusal of those parts of the various reports submitted by the officers and committees in recent years which relate to the condition of the building at 18 Somerset Street, that they may consider what shall be done to secure the money necessary for the erection of a larger and safer building.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON FINANCE, by Charles Knowles Bolton, A.B., Secretary of the Committee:

The Committee on Finance, which is charged with the duties of approving bills and of acting in an advisory capacity with regard to the investment and management of the funds and real estate of the Society, has advised the sale of two pieces of real estate in Dorchester and of certain shares of stock and the re-investment of the proceeds for the purpose of increasing the general income of the Society. Acting under authority granted upon the Committee's recommendations, the Treasurer has completed the sale of No. 2 Westmoreland Street, Dorchester, and executed an agreement of sale for No. 69 Bushnell Street, Dorchester.

The Committee has personally examined all bills in detail and approved them before payment was made by the Treasurer.

The Committee has advised the equipment of the three houses on Allston Place with fire escapes to meet the demands of the City under the revised building laws of 1907, and the work is now in progress; and it has also recommended the equipment of the Society's house with standard fire shutters on the north side adjoining the new portable schoolhouse erected recently by the City. This work is now completed.

The Society's endowment has been increased in 1907 by the addition of $1000, the bequest of the late Charles Edward French, the income of which is restricted by the testator to the purchase of books.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY, by George Brown Knapp, A.M., Chairman:

Besides attending to the routine business that has come before it at its regular monthly meetings, the Committee on the Library made two shipments of books to the San Francisco Public Library towards making up its loss in the great fire of April, 1906, the first consisting of this Society's publications, and the second (about 1,000 volumes) of books sent in by various individuals in response to an appeal published in the REGISTER and the local newspapers.

The Committee has given considerable attention to the subject of paper for historical and genealogical works,—paper of a quality that shall render the books as durable as possible,—and a circular giving much useful information is in preparation.

The growth of the library has been so considerable that new accessions can be cared for only by removal to the storehouse of such books as are but seldom called for. The need of ampler room for the housing of our constantly growing collections is becoming daily more painfully apparent, and unless it is speedily provided, the Society's usefulness will be seriously restricted. Probably no other library of its character in the country is so widely known and availed of by genealogical students, but in order to maintain its well deserved reputation, early provision should be made for at least its normal growth. Our efficient librarian, Mr. Greenlaw, ever fruitful in expedients and devices, probably reached the limit of even his ingenuity when he recently utilized the space above the wall-cases in the older part of the building, where framed engravings previously hung, by having shelves placed there, thus obtaining about 130 linear feet of additional shelf room.

In our report for 1905, we gave at considerable length the opinions of experts on the strength of the building and its exposure to damage or destruction by fire. Since then there has been no change for the better in the situation. In fact, the danger has been augmented within the year by the erection, under the sanction of the revised building laws of 1907, of a portable schoolhouse on the adjoining premises within two or three feet of our building. Such protection as is possible against this new source of danger has been made by placing standard fire shutters on the windows most exposed. The situation, however, emphasizes anew the necessity of an absolutely fire proof building for the safe preservation of our priceless collections.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS, by Caleb Benjamin Tillinghast, Litt.D., Chairman :

For the calendar year 1907 the Committee on Publications begs to report the following summary of its work :

(1) The quarterly publication of the REGISTER, including the Proceedings of the Society at its annual meeting, bound together, and making a volume of 550 pages.

(2) The publication of volumes 7 and 8 of Memorial Biographies, edited by William Richard Cutter, A.M., including biographical sketches of all the members of the Society who died between September 4, 1871, and December 31, 1889, making a total of about 950 pages.

(3) The publication of the Vital Records of Medford, Dracut, West Stockbridge, and Williamstown, the four volumes comprising about 1060 pages; and preparation of the records of the following towns : Middlefield, Scituate, Billerica, Lincoln, Weymouth, Foxborough, Wayland, Pembroke, Holliston, Dover, Duxbury, Granville, Tisbury, Carver, Brookline, Hingham, Hopkinton, Townsend, Taunton, Heath, Worthington, Hanson, Stow, Bridgewater, East Bridgewater, West Bridgewater, Brockton, Chester, Richmond, West Springfield, Nantucket, and Kingston.

The Committee, following a careful study of the subject of book paper, has selected a formula upon which it is now having especially made a paper designed for durability, and guaranteed to be not less than 75 per cent. rag stock, without acids or chlorides. This paper, which bears the water-mark "N. E. H. G. S.—Standard," is in two weights, 55 lbs. and 80 lbs. per ream, and is being used in the REGISTER and Vital Records publications.

The vacancy in the office of Editor of Publications, caused by the resignation of Mr. Woods upon becoming Commissioner of Public Records of the Commonwealth, was filled by the appointment of Mr. F. Apthorp Foster.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PAPERS AND ESSAYS, by Albert A. Folsom, Esq., Chairman :

In behalf of the Committee on Papers and Essays, I have the honor to submit its annual report. The Committee secured a series of interesting and valuable papers, each of which was read, by its author, at the several stated meetings during the year, except the stated meeting in November, which was devoted to the consideration in memoriam of the character and work of William Blake Trask, A.M., deceased.

The dates, titles and readers of the papers have been as follows :

January 2.—"The Old Time Meeting House in New England in Anecdote, Incident and Association," by Edwin Noah Hardy, A.M., Ph.D., of Quincy.

February 6.—"The United States Presidential Election of 1860," by Jacob Hagar Carfrey, M.Ph., of Wakefield.

March 6.—"Governor Jonathan Belcher," by Miss Mary Phillips, of Dorchester.

April 3.—"Samuel Adams," by Charles Greenough Chick, Esq., President of the Hyde Park Historical Society.

The Report of the COMMITTEE TO ASSIST THE HISTORIAN, by Andrew Fiske, Ph.D., Chairman :

On behalf of the Committee to Assist the Historian, I beg to report that the Committee has had during the past year no request from the Historian for assistance, and that, therefore, it has not held any meetings nor done any work.

---

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH, by Charles Sherburne Penhallow, A.B., Chairman :

The Committee on English Research begs to report that it has had several meetings during the past year.

The funds at the disposal of the Committee have not been sufficient to engage any one to carry on any systematic gleaning in England for evidences of the origin of our early New England colonists, but the Committee has managed to secure from various sources about four pages of material for each number of this year's REGISTER, giving information of the origin of many colonists, heretofore unknown; and the Committee now has in prospect further material of a similar nature.

The Secretary of the Committee has received and answered many letters of inquiry in regard to English research.

The Committee desires to strongly condemn the slighting recognition given to Mr. Henry F. Waters for his successful researches on the family of John Harvard, in a recent publication concerning

John Harvard, by Mr. H. C. Shelley. To Mr. Waters alone, as the agent of this Society, is due the entire credit of establishing the parentage and all the family connections and associations of the founder of Harvard College. An examination of Mr. Shelley's book does not show any genealogical facts of any importance of which Mr. Waters was not the original discoverer. In a recent magazine, Mr. Shelley printed a short article on John Harvard, condensed from the above mentioned book, which article the editors state "is based upon original researches made by Mr. Shelley." The article is, nevertheless, based on facts discovered and proved originally by Mr. Waters.

The receipts and expenditures have been as follows :

Received from Evelyn McCurdy Salisbury . . . . .	10.00
	$69.70
Payments :
F. J. Pope, for list of names from the records of the Court of Requests . . . . .	$15.00
	<hr/>
which includes $25 for special work, from Alfred T. White.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON HERALDRY, prepared by F. Apthorp Foster, Esq., Secretary of the Committee, and presented by Henry Ernest Woods, A.M., Chairman :

The Committee on Heraldry begs to report that its activities for the year 1907 have been mainly in the direction of answering the usual written or verbal inquiries.

No books on heraldry of any note have come to the Committee's knowledge during the year.

---

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON EPITAPHS, by John Albree, Esq., Chairman :

The Committee on Epitaphs reports that during the year 1907 there have been donated to the Society the following manuscripts for which grateful acknowledgment is made :

MAINE.—Bristol and Pemaquid, given by William Prescott Greenlaw, Sudbury, Mass.

VERMONT.—Middlebury, Hammond District Cemetery, Seeley Cemetery, Old Village Cemetery, given by John Bliss Brainerd, M.D., Brookline, Mass.

MASSACHUSETTS.—Dartmouth, New Bedford and Fairhaven Church and Cemetery Records, given by Henry B. Worth, New Bedford, Mass.

MASSACHUSETTS.—Chelmsford, Dunstable, Tewksbury, Tyngsborough, and Westford, given by P. Hildreth Parker, Dracut, Mass.

The hopes of those through whose appreciation of the need this work of gathering inscriptions was first undertaken by the Society, have been largely realized. The value of inscriptions from old gravestones, not only in furnishing facts not elsewhere recorded but also in correcting errors and supplying deficiencies in town records, has at last been recognized, and for some years inscriptions have been incorporated in the printed volumes of town records. This Committee has had to rely on voluntary assistance in the prosecution of the work, as it has had no funds at its disposal. The many volumes of manuscripts on our shelves attest the willing co-operation freely and generously given. When the value of inscriptions was recognized, and they were used in the volumes of vital records, the field became divided between the compilers of such records and this Committee. Under the conditions, in Massachusetts at least, there seems to be little call for further work such as this Committee on Epitaphs can render, and it is recommended that in this State the collecting of inscriptions be confined to the Committee having in charge the printing of Vital Records.

There is, however, opportunity to inaugurate the work of systematically copying inscriptions in the other New England States, and to this field this Committee might restrict its future work, for its records and experience may be of value to those who may begin the work for the first time. Experience has shown that, while cordial response has been given to requests for aid in copying inscriptions in other States, still an appeal from one's own State is more compelling than one from without. For this reason, it is recommended that work be begun in each State for that State alone.

It is surely within the province of this Committee to record that there is an increase in the number of monuments being erected in old graveyards in memory of the pioneers, to replace those which, if they ever existed, have long since disappeared. In most instances these monuments conform to the style of the ancient slate stones.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION OF RECORDS, by John Bliss Brainerd, M.D., Chairman :

The Committee on Collection of Records has met regularly. It has discussed methods for securing the cemetery inscriptions of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, but with meagre results. It has been instrumental in securing for the Society the manuscript genealogy of Robert Goold of Hull.

Through Mr. Palmer, a member of the Committee, the ancient records of New Durham, N. H., have been unearthed from the unindexed files at the Court House in Dover, N. H. They were printed in the REGISTER for October, 1907.

The Committee finds it nearly impossible to accomplish much without some money. It is believed that results would be far greater if it had a few hundred dollars annually for the purchase of manuscripts and the paying of copyists. The Committee will welcome offers of cash for its purposes from any source whatever.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE CONSOLIDATED INDEX, by F. Apthorp Foster, Esq., Chairman :

The Committee on the Consolidated Index reports that the Index of Persons in volumes 1-50 of the REGISTER, consisting of three volumes (fourteen parts), has been completed. The fourteenth part consists largely of Indian names and miscellaneous matter not included in the body of the work, and a list of errata. No charge for this part was made to subscribers. The Committee feels that the small number of errata—some fifty or sixty in a total of over half a million references—is an evidence of the accuracy of the work done by the editorial staff, and will be a source of gratification to the Society.

Work on the Index of Subjects in volumes 1-50 of the REGISTER is well under way, and it is hoped that the first part will be issued in the early spring. It is expected that, when completed, there will be five parts.

Attention is also being given to the companion volume of the Index to Places in volumes 1-50 of the REGISTER. It is impossible at this time to estimate the number of parts needed to cover the names of places, but by eliminating references that have no value to the inquirer, or that offer no information, it is hoped to make a considerable reduction in the bulk of the material for printing.

There have been calls for a supplementary volume to the Index of Persons to cover volumes 51-60 of the REGISTER. This can easily be prepared by the present staff when its other work is finished, provided a sufficient number of subscribers desire it. In this connection your Committee feels that so important a piece of work as the indexing done under its supervision should be continued, and that it should be the settled policy of the Society to print an index in continuation of the present one at ten year intervals.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE SALE OF PUBLICATIONS, by Caleb Benjamin Tillinghast, Litt.D., Chairman :

Besides the regular publications of the Society, the REGISTER, Vital Records, Index, and Memorial Biographies which have been issued during the year, the stock of books for sale has been increased in 1907 by the following gifts :

Two hundred copies of the Descendants of Andrew Dewing of Dedham, with notes on some English families of the name. By Benjamin Franklin Dewing. Boston, 1904. The gift of Mrs. Sarah Whitney Dewing (Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Dewing) of Boston. The proceeds of the sales of this book, together with a cash donation made by Mr. Dewing in 1902, are to constitute a fund to be known as the "Benjamin Franklin Dewing Fund," the income of which is to be used for the publication of genealogical data in the REGISTER.

One hundred and seventy copies of The Pioneers of Massachusetts, a descriptive list, drawn from records of the colonies, towns and churches, and other contemporaneous documents. By Charles Henry Pope. Boston, 1900. The gift of Mrs. Elizabeth Stickney Cheney (Mrs. Benjamin Pierce Cheney) of Boston, as the basis of a fund to be known as the "Cheney Memorial Fund," in memory of Benjamin Pierce Cheney, A.M., and Charles Paine Cheney, A.B. The income of this fund is restricted to the purchase of books appropriate to the library.

Ten copies of the Descendants of Henry Travers of London, England, and Newbury, Massachusetts, U. S. A. By Nathan Hagar Daniels. Boston, 1903. The gift of the compiler.

There was also received late in 1906, not mentioned in the report of that year :

Three hundred and forty-six copies of Robert Harris and his Descendants, with notices of the Morey and Metcalf families, compiled by Luther M. Harris, M.D. Boston, 1861. The unrestricted bequest of the compiler's son, the late George Washington Harris of Jamaica Plain.

A special effort has been made this year to increase the sale of the Society's publications and miscellaneous books. Hundreds of personal letters have been written to subscribers, librarians and collectors of Americana, in pursuance of the policy suggested by this Committee in its last report, and the results have been very gratifying. New subscriptions to the Index, amounting to $2300, were booked as a result of letters sent to REGISTER subscribers ; many new subscribers to the REGISTER were added by a systematic canvass of public libraries in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont ; and the sale of miscellaneous REGISTERS was likewise increased. The continuation of this policy, as opportunity occurs, until the entire field has been thoroughly canvassed, is recommended.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON INCREASE OF MEMBERSHIP, by George Sumner Mann, Esq., Chairman :

This Committee, which is charged with the duty of endeavoring to procure new members for the Society by the circulation of information and personal solicitation, has followed the custom of the last four or five years in disseminating information and procuring nominations for membership.

During the year 1907, largely in response to the booklets and circulars sent out, ninety names have been entered in the nomination book for membership in the Society. Fifty-two members have taken part in this work; one nominating twenty; another, seven; three, three each; six, two each; and forty-two, one each. Of the ninety names entered, fifteen are to come up for election at the January and February meetings in 1908, and thirteen persons whose elections took place in October, November and December have not yet accepted.

Seventy-one persons (including several who were elected in 1906) have become resident members in 1907, just about the number required to replace the average annual loss by death, resignation and other causes.

The increase in membership has not kept pace with the remarkable expansion of interest in genealogical matters during the last fifteen years. This may be due partly to the fact that many patriotic-hereditary societies have sprung up in this vicinity, aroused interest in genealogical studies, and absorbed into their own folds those thus interested, giving them social facilities not furnished by this Society but leaving to it the work of furnishing library facilities for all the genealogical investigations of the new recruits. It may also be due partly to the fact that such a small proportion of the members co-operate with this Committee.

A little over one-fourth of the Society's income is derived from the annual dues of Resident Members, and were the amount from this source twice as large, it could be spent to advantage on the library in purchasing, binding and cataloguing books.

As the Society must have a larger income, if its library is to continue to hold the leading place as a genealogical library, this Committee suggests that each member co-operate with it in its work of increasing the membership. Printed information and blanks for this purpose may be secured from the Committee or from any officer, upon application at 18 Somerset Street.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN.

Presented by WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW.

THE condition and needs of the Library and Cabinet were set forth quite fully a year ago in the report of the Librarian, and have not materially changed since then. The administration of the Library throughout the year has had the personal attention of the Librarian, and the routine work has been faithfully performed by his assistants. Good progress has been made in every division of the work of building up the Library and making it useful.

Use of the Library.

The use of this Library indicates that interest in genealogical pursuits is constantly increasing, and that it is also changing from a secondary to a primary nature. While annually increasing numbers, both of members and visitors, make use of the Library, the proportion of those who come in search of an ancestral record as the means of entering some patriotic-hereditary society is smaller than formerly, and the number of those who seek information about their forebears for the sake of the knowledge itself is much larger.

Including Alaska, but not the insular possessions, all but six states and territories of the United States, and Germany, England, Australia, India and Canada have been represented by visitors in 1907. Of the total registration of visitors, about 66% were from Massachusetts, 11% from the other New England States (New Hampshire, 4%; Maine, 2½%; Rhode Island, 2%; Connecticut, 1½%; and Vermont, 1%), 6% from New York, 2% from Illinois, 1½% each from California, Ohio and Pennsylvania, 1¼% from Great Britain, about 1% each from Iowa, Missouri and the District of Columbia, and about ½% each from Michigan, Minnesota, Colorado, Wisconsin, Maryland and New Jersey, the remaining 3¼% being widely distributed.

The following table, based on each hundred of visitors in 1901, shows the percentages of increase from year to year, also from the beginning of the century:

1901	. . 100
1902	. . 111	. . . . 11%	. . . .	11%
1903	. . 120	. . . . 8%	. . . .	20%
1904	. . 183	. . . . 51%	. . . .	83%
1905	. . 236	. . . . 29%	. . . .	136%
1906	. . 263	. . . . 11%	. . . .	163%

Accessions.

The accessions for the year number 703 volumes, 841 pamphlets, and 166 miscellaneous articles. Of these, 299 volumes, 149 pamphlets, and 28 miscellaneous articles were purchased; 347 volumes, 644 pamphlets, and 138 miscellaneous articles were given; and 57 volumes and 48 pamphlets were received in exchange. Adding the accessions of the year to the estimated number of volumes and pamphlets in the Library December 31, 1906, gives 33,749 volumes and 34,117 pamphlets as the approximate number December 31, 1907.

The Society has been fortunate during the year in securing a large number of manuscripts and many rare books and pamphlets, some of which are probably unique, from various sources and especially from the libraries of the Rev. Horace Edwin Hayden and the late Dr. William Henry Egle.

A list of some of the more important manuscripts is given below :

Atwood genealogy, from Charles Henry Wight.

Barnstable, Massachusetts, records (remainder of), from the estate of Gustavus Adolphus Hinckley.

Bartlett genealogy, from Mrs. Etta Bartlett Casey.

Betley, England, extracts from parish registers, from Wilford Jacob Litchfield, M.S.

Bigelow genealogical papers, from Melville Madison Bigelow, LL.D.

Breckenridge genealogy, from Lester Paige Breckenridge, Ph.B.

Chapin genealogy, from Howard Millar Chapin.

Chase genealogy, from Edwin Alfred Daniels, M.D.

Crosman genealogy, from Mabel Hope Kingsbury.

Currier genealogy, from Harvey Lear Currier.

Journals of the late Rev. Benjamin Franklin De Costa, D.D. (28 volumes), from the estate of Rev. Benjamin Franklin De Costa, D.D.

Dracut, Massachusetts, proprietors' records, 1710-1723, from Pearl Hildreth Parker.

Durant genealogy, from Rev. William Durant, D.D.

Foster genealogy, from George Augustus Gordon, A.M.

Faunce genealogy, from Mrs. Charles Brayton Johnson.

Fry genealogical papers, from the estate of Theophilus Clinton Frye. Capt. John Gillespie's Note Book.

Hingham, Massachusetts, records of families in the 3d parish, 1821.

Joslin genealogical papers, from Mrs. Dana I. Joslin.

Lowell genealogy (written before 1772).

Manwaring genealogy, from Miss Catherine B. Copp.

Mayhew tabular pedigree, 1834.

Maxwell genealogy, from the children of John Hooker Leavitt and William H. Leavitt.

Morgan genealogy, from Edgar Allan Poe Yates, A.B.

Ancestry of George Leslie Nichols, from Mrs. George Leslie Nichols.

Prescott, Hall and allied families, from Prescott Farnsworth Hall, LL.B.

Richardson genealogy, from Pearl Hildreth Parker.

Shakespeare genealogy, from Robert Atwater Smith.

Trask, Sever, Blake and Lane genealogies, from the estate of William Blake Trask, A.M.

Other manuscripts added to the Library through the work of the Committees on Collection of Records and on Epitaphs are mentioned in the reports of those committees.

A substantial donation of cash from Mr. Henry Winchester Cunningham, A.B., was used for acquiring a number of valuable books.

Durable paper for books of permanent usefulness.

One of the important needs of the Library of the New England Historic Genealogical Society—a desideratum also common to most libraries—is that of bringing about hereafter the more general use of durable paper in books of permanent value. A large proportion of those books in this Library which have been published during the last thirty years are rapidly disintegrating, while the most of those published much earlier are still in good condition, although subjected to the same use and exposure. Whether a book will stand the ordinary wear and tear of use and the chemical action of light, temperature and moisture for many years, perhaps even centuries, with only occasional re-binding, or will fall to pieces in a few years, even with the most careful handling and frequent re-binding, depends very largely upon the quality of paper of which it is made.

The use then of a better quality of paper for historical, biographical and genealogical books is important to a library as a matter of ultimate economy; it is likewise important to the authors and compilers for the prolongation of the usefulness of their works. Such books are works of permanent value and, as comparatively few of these publications are ever likely to be reprinted, it behooves authors and compilers, as well as librarians, to see to it that they are printed on a quality of paper which promises to preserve the data intrusted thereto for the utmost length of time possible, or for as long as such information shall be of human interest.

What constitutes durable book paper? Is it possible to obtain such paper in sufficient quantity to supply the demand for this class of publications? And if so, how can it be secured?

Durable book paper consists of the very best grade of pure cellulose (vegetable fibre), beaten or cut to pieces of the proper length (about 1-30 of an inch), thoroughly felted, freed from acids and chlorides and sized with a minimum amount of rosin.

The best cellulose for this purpose comes from the fibres of the cotton plant. This particular fibre is a thin walled tube which collapses in a peculiar twisted manner in the beating process, interlaces in the felting process much better than other fibres and holds its grasp tenaciously. It is strong, flexible and durable, but can be seriously injured by over-bleaching and is subject to gradual oxidation if the chemicals used in the processes of paper-making are not eliminated. Celluloses derived from flax and hemp stand next in order to those from cotton. Those derived from wood by the sulphite and soda processes come next, but are inferior in many respects. These wood celluloses may, however, be used to a limited extent with those derived from cotton, flax or hemp (not less than 70% of the latter class nor more than 30% of the former) for the manufacture of the lowest grades of paper that will serve for publications of permanent value. These lower grades may also have a slight loading of clay (total ash not exceeding 10%) but it is advisable to restrict the loading to the least amount that will give the finish and printing quality desired, for strength and flexibility are adversely affected by overloading.

Books which have a permanent usefulness are usually published in small editions and constitute but a small proportion of the total output of the printing presses. The higher grades of celluloses are derived from sources which could undoubtedly be made to yield the quantity needed for all such books. And there are manufacturers who are willing to make any kind of paper for which there is a demand.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society has demonstrated that it is possible to secure paper of the desired quality. For over thirty years that used in its magazine has been made to order by one manufacturer as desired by the Committee on Publications. Beginning with the year 1908, this paper, formerly known as the "REGISTER paper," is to be water-marked ("N. E. H. G. S.—Standard,") so that authors and compilers who wish it to be used for their books will have no difficulty in obtaining the genuine REGISTER paper. The formula of this paper is:—fibres from cotton rags not less than 75%; fibres from wood (sulphite spruce and soda poplar) not more than 25%; loading, clay (total ash not to exceed 10%); and freedom from all but the merest trace of acids and chlorides. This formula is in substantial agreement with the recommendations of the Committee on Deterioration of Paper, appointed by the Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures, & Commerce, whose report (London, 1898) shows an exhaustive study of the subject; and the leading German, English and American chemists who have made a study of the manufacture of paper believe that the paper properly made on such a specification will prove sufficiently lasting for publications of permanent value.

The experienced chemist, by the aid of the microscope, can readily distinguish the various kinds of celluloses and estimate the approximate proportion of each found in a given sample of paper. He can also determine the presence of impurities, acids and chlorides; hence it is possible and practicable for an author or compiler to determine, at a small expense (the chemist's fee for analysis), whether a given lot of paper conforms to a required formula or not, by means of the analysis of a sample selected at random.

An eminent American authority on the subject (Mr. Arthur D. Little) has said (The Printing Art, June, 1903) that "Paper quite as durable and in other respects at least as good as any ever made may be had to-day by any one who will learn to recognize good paper and who is willing to pay what good paper costs."

The difference of cost between good paper and poor is but a trifle per volume, especially if the poor paper be heavily loaded with clay. There seems to be no reason then why the historian or genealogist who wishes his work to endure cannot, by the assistance of a chemist, determine in advance whether the paper which he proposes to use for his work is free from all physical and chemical defects which would tend to destroy its permanence.

NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

THE following pages contain obituary notices of members who died during the year 1907, with the addition of six deceased in preceding years. The notices are arranged in the order in which the deaths occurred.

1905.

RICHARD STEPHEN CHARNOCK, M.A., Ph.D., F.S.A., of London, England, a corresponding member from 1861, was born in London, August 11, 1820, and died there, March 2, 1905. He was the son of Richard Charnock, Esq., of the Inner Temple, barrister-at-law.

He was educated at King's College, London, and admitted an attorney in 1841. He travelled through the whole of Europe, and visited the North of Africa and Asia Minor; and devoted much time to the study of anthropology, archæology, and philology, especially the Celtic and Oriental languages. He was a member of many learned societies, and Doctor of Philosophy of the University of Göttingen. Among very many contributions to philology, anthropology, and science in general, Dr. Charnock was author of "Guide to the Tyrol," 1857; "Local Etymology," 1859, "Bradshaw's Guide to Spain and Portugal," 1865; "Verba Nominalia," 1866; "Ludus Patronymicus," 1868; "The Peoples of Transylvania," 1870; "Manorial Customs of Essex," 1870; "Patronymica Cornu-Britannica," 1870; "On the Physical, Mental, and Philological Characters of the Wallons," 1871; "Le Sette Comuni," 1871; "A Glossary of the Essex Dialect," 1879; "Prænomina; or, the Etymology of the principal Christian names of Great Britain and Ireland," 1882; and "Nuces Etymologicæ," 1889.

STEPHEN VAUGHN SHIPMAN, a corresponding member from 1860, died at Chicago, Illinois, December 12, 1905. He was born at Montrose, Pennsylvania, on January 26, 1825, and received his education at the academy in that place. For several years he worked at the printing business, which was abandoned on account of failing health. He next gave his attention to the study of architecture, and was associated with his father, who was a builder and contractor in Montrose, afterwards at Pittsburg, and finally at Philadelphia, in 1845. Before leaving his native state, he had designed and superintended the erection of numerous public and private buildings. He came to Chicago in 1854, but in the following year took up his residence at Madison, Wisconsin, with which city he afterwards became quite prominently identified.

In 1857, he was appointed architect of the Central Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane, at Madison, and superintended its construction until the commencement of the War of the Rebellion. In July, 1861, he entered the First Wisconsin Cavalry Regiment, as First Lieutenant of Co. G, and was soon detailed as Adjutant. He was successively promoted Captain of Co. E, senior Major, and Lieutenant-Colonel of his Regiment, and then became Colonel of U. S. Volunteers by brevet. He was wounded May 2, and September 26, 1862, at Cape Girardeau, and again very severely, April 24, 1863, in a desperate engagement with overwhelming numbers of the Confederates in General Marmaduke's command, at White Water River, Missouri, which crippled him for life. Here he was captured as a prisoner of war and was released on parole, and exchanged December 11, 1863.

He recovered sufficiently from his wounds to enter the field again with his regiment, and participated in the numerous engagements of that command in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and Georgia, ending at Macon, with Wilson's Cavalry Corps, at the close of the war.

He was detailed to collect the plans and report on the condition of the extensive Confederate Public Buildings at that place and at Augusta, and to gather up the records of the military posts, hospitals, etc., in that State and Western South Carolina. He was then ordered to report to headquarters, bringing them and other rebel archives, including the complete records intact, of the provisional Confederate Congress held at Montgomery, Ala., to the Secretary of War, at Washington. There he remained until mustered out by special order of the War Department, December 6, 1865. His military record was an honor to Wisconsin and the nation. From official reports and contemporaneous newspapers it is demonstrated that Col. Shipman was one of the most efficient, gallant and dashing soldiers commissioned by the "Badger State." Three horses were killed under him in action, and he bore upon his body, till his death, the scars of many hard fought battles.

His famous cavalry charge, when surrounded and cut off from retreat while defending the bridge at the crossing on the White Water River, was made through the attacking lines of the vastly superior force of the rebel General Marmaduke, in his celebrated raid on St. Louis. This splendid deed was pronounced one of the most brilliant of the war. By it he saved his whole command, except fourteen killed and wounded. Colonel Shipman commanded the surprise and admiration of the enemy. His heroic dash was ever afterwards held by his fellow officers as a model of soldierly example, and confirmed the maxim, that cavalry should never surrender.

On returning home he was elected City Treasurer of Madison, without opposition. He also resumed his profession of architect, and completed the Hospital for Insane on the banks of Lake Men-sota. His design for the rotunda and dome of the state capitol was adopted, and he received the appointment of architect for that structure and completed the building. He was Superintending Architect of the United States Court House and Post Office to its final completion, designed and superintended the construction of the Northern State Hospital for the Insane at Oshkosh, Wis., and was architect of the Iowa State Hospital for the Insane, at Independence, Iowa. He also designed and superintended the construction of the Northern Illinois State Hospital for Insane at Elgin; and later rebuilt, with important additions and improvements, the Missouri State Lunatic Asylum, at St. Joseph, Mo. He rebuilt portions of the State Prison at Waupun, Wis.; designed and superintended the Soldiers Orphans' Home School; the Park Hotel, and many other fine edifices at Madison, and throughout the State.

He reëstablished an office in Chicago in 1870, and the following year was one of the sufferers by the great fire. When he resumed business his hands were full of commissions, which he carried out with the professional skill and care for which he was noted.

The following are some of the edifices that were erected by him, viz.: Williams Building, occupied by Edson Keith & Co.; the Presbyterian Hospital of Chicago; the first Academy of Music (which he rebuilt twice); the Gaff Building, one of the early tall buildings; and a large number of the finest mercantile and manufacturing buildings, along the business streets of Chicago; many private and public hospitals, court houses, schools, churches, banks, and residences throughout this city and the northwest, among them the Burlington Opera House, Iowa, a notable structure.

Colonel Shipman was intimately connected with literary studies and work. He was one of the charter members of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters, and at death was a corresponding member of that Society. He was elected its first Secretary of the Department of Sciences, embracing the mathematical, physical, anthropological, ethnological, natural, and social sciences. He was connected with the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, since 1855, as member and curator, and was its recording secretary until his removal to Chicago. He was made a life member and served as honorary Vice-President for Illinois, until, by a revision of the constitution of the Society, that office for all the other states was discontinued. He was a corresponding member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society from 1860, and honorary member of the Bradford (Penn.) Historical Society. He was a fellow of the American Institute of Architects, and was twice elected President of the Chicago Chapter of that Institute. He was a member of the Western Association of Architects, until its incorporation with the National Institute, and also of other learned societies.

He was an active member and officer of the Masonic order and was a past commander of Knights Templar.

His name appears in Allibone's "Dictionary of Authors," as the author of the Shipman Family Genealogy.*

Colonel Shipman was married at Harrisburg, Pa., November 4, 1850, to Cornelia, daughter of Hon. E. S. Goodrich, then Secretary of State, under Governor William Bigler. Of this marriage were born Annie, wife of Hon. E. S. Tomblin, of Los Angeles, Cal., who died March 19, 1897; Rose W., now wife of J. K. Anderson, Milwaukee, Wis.; Charles Goodrich, M.D., now of Ely, Minn.; William V., of Bangor, Mich.; and the daughter Cornelia, now of Chicago. Mrs. Shipman died at Madison, February 27, 1870. Colonel Shipman was married again at Chicago, in 1880, to Mrs. Mary Townsend Towers.

In his letter of acceptance to this Society, July 12, 1860, Col. Shipman mentions a biography of Major Edward Shipman of Connecticut, who served his country in the French and Indian War, and during the entire period of the Revolution. This Edward Shipman was the great-grandfather of Colonel Shipman, and there were extant in the latter's possession two commissions, one as ensign and the other as second lieutenant, which were issued to the said Edward, from "Thomas Fitch, Esquire, Captain General and Governor in Chief in and over His Majesty's Colony of Connecticut in New England in America." Col. Shipman also stated in his letter of acceptance that a Shipman genealogy was in preparation, to be published in that year (1860).

HENRY MELLEN PRENTISS, A.M., a resident member of this Society, was born at Bangor, Maine, July 20, 1840. He was descended from Henry, the pioneer of the Cambridge branch of the family, and from Thomas, the pioneer of the Newton branch. His father, Henry E. Prentiss, was born at Paris, Maine, February 12,

* In preparation, 1858. See Historical Magazine (New York), 1858, 352.

1809, and graduated from the West Point Military Academy, fourth in the class of 1831; but resigned from the army in 1835, and entered upon the study of the law, which he subsequently practiced for several years, and until the lumber and timber trade, in which he had acquired extensive and valuable interests, gradually drew him out of active professional practice. The home of the elder Prentiss was at Bangor, in which city he was widely known as a prominent and representative citizen. The mother of Henry Mellen Prentiss was Abigail Adams Rawson, a daughter of Capt. Samuel Rawson, of Paris, Maine, and a descendant of Edward Rawson, Colonial Secretary of Massachusetts.

Henry Mellen Prentiss graduated from Harvard University in 1864, and soon after became associated with his father in managing the latter's extensive estate, and directing operations on vast tracts of timber lands in Maine and Pennsylvania, in the management of which he continued actively engaged until 1902. His knowledge of the timber lands of Maine, acquired during more than thirty years of practical experience, was conceded to be authoritative. He was known to be fair and honest in all his dealings. It was his practice to devote his forenoons to business affairs, and to take the afternoons for outdoor sports, in which he was an expert leader.

While an untiring worker in his own field and an enthusiastic sportsman, Mr. Prentiss still found time for intellectual diversions. He remained a persevering scholar all his life, and was known as a deep reader of the best English and French literature. He gave a portion of his time to authorship and acquired no mean reputation as a writer on scientific topics. He was especially interested in Arctic exploration, and his studies of that subject were such as to gain for him world-wide repute. Many papers from his pen on this question were published in the Westminster Review, the Nineteenth Century magazine and the New York Herald, and other leading periodicals, and his book entitled "The Great Polar Current," published in 1897, attracted much attention and favorable comment in the scientific world, and received the approbation of such distinguished authorities upon the subject as Admirals Makaroff, Markham, and Melville, Commander Peary, Nansen, and Prince Kropotkin. He was a prominent member of the National Geographic Society of Washington, and of the Royal Geographical Society of London.

Mr. Prentiss was an independent Republican in his political thought and action, holding the general good above mere partisan considerations. In his religious views he was a Unitarian. In social life he was a member of the Somerset Club of Boston, and of the Tarratine Club of Bangor.

From the eulogy of him delivered before the Wiscasset Fire Society, of which Mr. Prentiss was a member, by Prof. John C. Grant of Chicago, who knew him intimately, the following quotation is made: "Mr. Prentiss was favored beyond the lot of most men in his heredity; his splendid natural endowments were heightened by the choicest education, from which he profited most signally. He became familiar with the good and great and learned of the earth, and was himself an astronomer who might have directed an observatory, a botanist who might have controlled a museum, a naturalist who knew the plumage and note of every bird, and the habits and habitat of every animal. Moreover, he was a linguist of rare accomplishments; a geographer without rival; of international fame, an Arctic explorer who had never seen an ice floe, yet in the quiet of his library he wrought out and published his remarkable book on Arctic currents, in which he showed the way to the Pole, and described in detail the Fram, and Nansen's voyage, before either Fram or Nansen were known to us, or to him. All these distinctions were but sounding brass and tinkling cymbals, when compared with the man himself. Any one might possibly be an astronomer or a linguist, difficult as these employments are, but Providence gives to few in such degree his sweetness of disposition, gentleness of character, inflexible firmness, and justice of judgment, and true God-like spirit of Democracy. These were the qualities which enabled this social leader, this scholar among scholars, this athlete among the strong, this comforter of the weak, to be also, as he was, this man among men."

Mr. Prentiss was twice married. His first wife, to whom he was married November 30, 1865, was Julia A., daughter of Calvin Dwinel of Bangor. Their children, by whom he was survived, were Henry, who married Leslie Boynton of Boston, and Elsie, who married Nathaniel Lord of Bangor. Mr. Prentiss was married for the second time, June 5, 1901, to Mrs. Marion Howard Smith, a daughter of the late Daniel M. Howard of Bangor, by whom he was survived. Until after his second marriage, Mr. Prentiss made his home in Bangor, whence he removed to Wiscasset, where he and his wife spent the greater part of their time, having a winter residence in New York city, where Mr. Prentiss died of heart failure, following an attack of bronchitis, March 4, 1906.

During the time of his membership in this Society he was profoundly interested in its objects, to the study of which he applied a trained mind and sound judgment.

By WILLIAM D. PATTERSON.

CAPTAIN NATHAN APPLETON, A.M., a life member from 1893, was born in Boston, February 2, 1843, and died in Boston, August 25, 1906. He was the son of Nathan and Harriot Coffin (Sumner) Appleton. He was descended from Samuel<sup>1</sup> Appleton of Little Waldingfield, England, and Ipswich, Massachusetts; through Samuel,<sup>2</sup> Isaac,<sup>3</sup> Isaac,<sup>4</sup> Isaac,<sup>5</sup> and Nathan<sup>6</sup> Appleton his father.

He was educated at the Boston Public Latin School, and graduated at Harvard College in 1863, with the degrees A.B. and A.M. He entered the Volunteer Army in the Civil War and received a commission as second lieutenant in the Fifth Massachusetts Battery, under the command of Captain C. A. Phillips of Salem. He was mustered out of service, on account of disability from wounds received in action at Virginia Central Railroad, in 1864. He was commissioned Assistant Inspector-General, with the rank of Captain, on the staff of Governor John A. Andrew, and detailed as aide-de-camp to General C. S. Wainwright, commander of the Artillery Brigade of the Fifth Corps, in 1865. He was brevetted Captain, U. S. V., "for gallant and meritorious conduct at the battle in the Virginia Central Railroad." After an absence passed in a trip to Europe, he resumed his duties as aide on the staff, and was present at the Battle of Five Forks, and the surrender of General Lee and the Army of Northern Virginia, at Appomattox Court House.

At the close of the war he returned to Boston, and in 1866 went abroad and passed some time in St. Petersburg, Vienna, and Paris, returning in 1867. In 1868 he went again to Paris, and in 1869 became identified with the work of the Panama Canal, under the leadership of Count Ferdinand de Lesseps. In 1869 he accompanied General N. P. Banks on a trip through Northern Europe, and thence to Egypt, where they witnessed the ceremonies attending the opening of the Suez Canal, and was appointed by the Boston Board of Trade as an official delegate at the opening ceremonies. In 1875 he attended the convention for the codification and reform of the Law of Nations, held at the Hague in Holland. He was a delegate of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at the International Congress, held at Paris, July, 1878, and offered the Star as a badge of Union, which was adopted by vote for all societies. He was a delegate of the American Geographical Society and the U. S. Board of Trade at the International Congress called together by Count de Lesseps to decide upon the best route for a canal across the American isthmus, in May, 1879.

In 1880 he accompanied De Lesseps through the United States as his interpreter. He made two trips to Europe and two to Panama after 1882, and traveled extensively in Mexico and Central and South America. He made many valuable gifts to the Museum of Fine Arts, the Public Library, the Bostonian Society of Boston, the Peabody Museum of Harvard College, and the National Museum at Washington.

He was the author of "Europe and America in 1870"; "Coinage"; "Centennial Movement," a comedy in five acts; "Exchange," a comedy; "The Star Spangled Banner," an address delivered at the Old South Meeting-House, 1877; and "Harvard College during the War."

He married, November 16, 1887, Jeannette Maria Ovington, daughter of Edward Judson and Maria Newman (Lewis) Ovington.

ALEXANDER BROWN, D.C.L., LL.D., F.R.H.S., of Norwood, Virginia, a corresponding member from 1880, was born in "Glenmore," Nelson County, Virginia, September 5, 1843, and died at his home in Nelson County, Va., August 29, 1906. He was the son of Robert Lawrence and Sarah Cabell (Callaway) Brown, and was descended from Lawrence<sup>1</sup> Brown of Perth, Scotland; Alexander,<sup>2</sup> who came to Virginia in 1811; and Robert Lawrence<sup>3</sup> Brown, his father.

He was taught by tutors at home until thirteen years of age, and then entered the classical school of Horace W. Jones, Charlottesville, Virginia. In 1860 he entered Lynchburg College, Virginia, and remained there until the beginning of the Civil War, when he entered the Confederate Army, and served during the whole war. His education being almost obliterated by the war, and his fortune utterly so, he entered as clerk the store of L. U. P. King and Son, Washington, District of Columbia. He was afterwards a clerk for A. J. Chipman of Washington. In 1868, he returned to Nelson, and in 1872 was able to "buy in" the old homestead of his branch of the Cabell family, and became a farmer.

He was Notary Public for the county, and from 1872 was Postmaster of Norwood. Prior to 1876 he wrote articles of local or temporary interest for the press, and since then his labors were generally historical and genealogical. He had much in MSS. regarding many Virginia families, and also much pertaining to the early history of the section in which he lived.

He married, December 27, 1873, Caroline Augusta Cabell, daughter of Mayo Cabell. There were no children.

The above is of his own contribution. It is the verdict of his contemporaries that his career as a historian was quite unusual. It was his ambition to develop the early history of Virginia more completely than his predecessors, and he had wonderful success in accumulating a singularly varied store of materials from European archives. Large parts of his rich finds were set before scholars in his monumental "Genesis of the United States" (1889), really a history of Virginia to 1616, "The First Republic in America" (1898), and "English Politics in Early Virginia History" (1901).*

His first wife having died in 1876, he married secondly, April 28, 1886, Sarah Randolph, daughter of the late Mayo Cabell.

JOHN FRANK PERRY, of Brookline, Massachusetts, a resident member from 1899, was born in New Bedford, Massachusetts, in 1850, and died in Boston, December 5, 1906. He was the son of John H. Perry, at one time mayor of that city. He was also a nephew of the late Warren B. Potter, of Weeks and Potter, for many years well-known wholesale druggists of Boston. He was educated at the Friends' Academy in New Bedford, and later married and spent several years in business in London, returning in 1885 to Boston. He was a partner for a number of years in the firm of White, Smith and Perry, publishers of sheet music on West Street. His uncle, W. B. Potter, died in 1890, leaving a large estate, and Mr. Perry became manager of that property during the lifetime of Mrs. Potter, and on her death, in 1904, he shared in the distribution of the estate, as one of three residuary devisees.

He was for many years a familiar figure in State Street and in banking circles, and was an authority on bonds and municipal securities. Several years ago he built the Norwood, Canton and Sharon Street Railway, operating a line in those towns, and at the time of his death was its treasurer and principal owner. In 1889 he moved to Brookline, and while declining to hold any town office was prominently identified with the municipal affairs of that town. He was an ardent Republican and served for a number of years as a member of the Republican town committee. He was a member of the Exchange and of the Newton and Norfolk clubs, being one of the executive committee of the Norfolk. He was survived by a widow and a daughter, and also by his mother.

1907.

HENRY NELSON BIGELOW, of Clinton, Massachusetts, a resident member from 1898, was born in Clinton, October 6, 1839, and died at Brookline, January 15, 1907. He was the eldest son of the late Horatio N. Bigelow, who with his brother Erastus B. Bigelow, inventor of the carpet weaving loom and the coach lace loom, were two of the leading pioneers of the town and the founders of Clinton. The Clinton Company originated in Erastus Bigelow's patent for weaving coach lace, and it was developed through the mechanical genius of this family, in its several generations, into one of the largest manufacturing concerns of its time in the State. A village of three hundred inhabitants was raised to a manufacturing town of the first importance.

After receiving his elementary education at the hands of private teachers, he attended Clinton High School, and afterward spent some time at the academy at Easthampton, Massachusetts; and upon his return to Clinton, followed in the footsteps of his father, becoming associated with him in the management of the Bigelow Carpet Company there, and served for many years as paymaster, and later as agent. Later on he became the treasurer of the Clinton Gas Light Company, which position he held until the corporation was absorbed by the Boston Heat, Light and Power Association. He was active in church affairs. At one time he was prominent in the affairs of the Congregational Church, and afterward attended the Unitarian Church. After his second marriage, he became very prominent in the affairs of the Episcopal Church, serving as warden and vestryman, and taking a leading part in the executive affairs of the diocese. For many years, up to the time of his removal from Clinton, he served as a trustee of the Bigelow Free Public Library, and also for many years as a member of the school committee.

Although survived by his brother, Charles B. Bigelow, of Paris, France, he was the last local representative of this famous family who had made such an impress upon the manufacturing and mercantile life of Clinton during the earlier years of the municipal life of that town. He was a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, being a past master of Trinity lodge. He is survived by a widow and three sons by his first marriage: Harry Forbes Bigelow, the Boston architect; Willard W. Bigelow, engaged in the wool business in Boston; and Horatio N. Bigelow, of Gloucester; and by two daughters, Nina and Rosamond, both by his last wife.

Mr. Bigelow's first wife was Miss Clarissa N. Forbes, a sister of Mrs. John E. Thayer of Lancaster and Boston, Massachusetts. She died in November, 1876. He married, for his second wife, Miss Cornelia W. Lothrop, daughter of Loring Lothrop.

BENJAMIN BALLOU WHITTEMORE, A.M., was born at Troy, New York, Sept. 14, 1829, and died at Boston, January 15, 1907. He was the eldest son of Rev. Benjamin Whittemore, D.D., and Mandana Ballou. His father, Benjamin, born at Lancaster, Massachusetts, May 3, 1801, was the son of Nathaniel and grandson of Nathaniel Whittemore of Harvard and Concord, Massachusetts. Their ancestor, it is asserted, was Thomas Whittemore, who came from Hitchin, County of Hertford, England, and settled (circa 1639-1645) in that part of Charlestown, Massachusetts, now embraced in the city of Everett, but the line of descent is not fully traced. His mother, Mandana Ballou, born 1804, was a daughter of Rev. Hosea Ballou of Boston, and was descended, through Rev. Maturin,<sup>4</sup> Peter,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>2</sup> from Mathurin<sup>1</sup> Ballou (circa 1645), of Providence, Rhode Island.

While Benjamin Ballou Whittemore was still an infant, his father, a Universalist minister, removed to South Boston; and there at twelve years of age, he graduated from the Hawes School. His parents removing to Lancaster, he continued his studies in the academy of that town, and for several years thereafter taught in various Massachusetts schools. Mr. Whittemore then returned to Boston and entered the office of Gleason's Pictorial, the first illustrated newspaper in the United States; and for some years after his uncle, Maturin M. Ballou, succeeded to the business, and started Ballou's Monthly Magazine, young Whittemore continued in that publishing house.

Early in the '60s, Mr. Whittemore accepted the position of principal of a grammar school in Norwich, Connecticut. In that city he was at one time commander of Columbian Encampment, Knights Templar. There, in 1864, he entered the insurance business as secretary of the Thames Fire Insurance Company. He became a thorough, experienced underwriter, and was thereafter engaged in that business until the time of his death. Removing to Boston in 1873, he was for many years manager of the Ætna Insurance Company in Boston and vicinity.

As a business man he was highly esteemed. In 1892 he was elected president of the Boston Board of Underwriters, and again in 1902, and re-elected in 1903 and 1904; in 1902, he was elected President also of the Boston Protective Department. He was at one time a Vice-President of the State Board of Trade, and served as chairman of its Committee on Insurance. For many years a member of the Standing Committee of the Second Society of Universalists in Boston, he was for nineteen years superintendent of its Sunday School. From 1881 to 1883 inclusive, he was President of the Universalist Sabbath School Union; and in 1887 and 1888 he was President of the Universalist Club of Boston. Mr. Whittemore served two terms on the Boston School Committee, and was for many years a trustee of Dean Academy. Tufts College conferred on him the honorary degree of Master of Arts. He was elected a resident member of this Society in 1896.

A man of vigorous constitution and splendid physique, Mr. Whittemore was dignified yet agreeable in manners; of intellect clear, keen, and alert; a man of firm convictions, yet courteous and considerate to all; of generous Christian spirit and honesty of purpose, he despised trickery and sham; a man of sterling qualities; all respected him and his judgment was always valued.

July 23, 1861, Mr. Whittemore married Sarah Coit Treadway of Norwich, Connecticut, who survives him.

By HOSEA STARR BALLOU.

JAMES REYNOLDS KNOTT, a life member of the Society from 1871, was born in Summer Street, Boston, September 16, 1835, in a house that then stood opposite the old Trinity Church, on the site of the building now occupied by Hovey and Company. He was educated in the public schools of Boston, attended the Mason Street School, in a class with Phillips Brooks, and he always lived in Boston or its suburbs, moving farther and farther south as business encroached on the earlier residence section, from Summer Street to Hayward Place, to Tremont Street, to West Newton Street, and finally to Jamaica Plain, where he died suddenly at his residence, 22 St. John Street, January 26, 1907.

He followed the business for a time of a shoe manufacturer, and was the sixth James Knott, shoemaker, in direct line. His father and grandfather were known in their days as the first ladies' shoe-makers of Boston, and were located in Bromfield Street, and later in Washington Street, opposite the Old South Church. Later he was in business with his wife's father, the firm name being N. W. Turner and Company, but he retired about fifteen years before his death. He was a life member, and had served on most of the important committees of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association, a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and for a long time had been affiliated with the Masonic fraternity.

He was married, June 3, 1857, to Eunice Blossom Turner, daughter of Nathaniel Wing Turner. His wife survives him. His children are N. W. T. Knott, James Edward Knott, Clarence Blossom Knott, Louis Ernest Knott, Eustace R. Knott, and Celia Crocker Turner Knott (Mrs. Edward Herbert Warren).

A large number of old business associates, neighbors and other friends attended his funeral, which was held on the Tuesday following his death. The burial service was conducted by Rev. Sumner U. Shearman, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Jamaica Plain, and the interment was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

EDWARD RUSSELL, of Brookline, Massachusetts, a life member from 1871, was born in North Yarmouth, Maine, June 1, 1820, and died at Brookline, February 10, 1907. He was the son of Edward and Lucy (Stevens) Russell, and was descended from William<sup>1</sup> Russell of Cambridge, who came from England in 1645, through the line of Joseph,<sup>2</sup> Walter,<sup>3</sup> Jeremiah,<sup>4</sup> Dr. Edward<sup>5</sup> (Harvard College 1759), and Gen. Edward<sup>6</sup> (Harvard College 1803), his father. He was educated at the North Yarmouth Academy, Portland Academy, and Gorham Academy, in Maine. At sixteen he entered the service of Hurd, Hutchins and Skinner, in Boston, where he remained five years. He then engaged in ship stores and grocery business for two years, and afterwards became chief clerk in the Mercantile Agency of Mr. Lewis Tappan. He continued there until 1851, when he became partner of George W. Gordon, under the name of Edward Russell and Company.

He was married, October 8, 1845, to Mary Warren Field, daughter of Captain James and Achsah (Whitcomb) Field. Children: Lucy Adelaide (died in infancy); Edwin Baldwin; and Margaret Elizabeth. After his marriage he resided in Cambridge until 1848, when he moved to Dorchester.

Mr. Russell had in his library a complete set of the publications of this Society, and his first wife, Mary Warren Field, left the sum of $3000 to the Society as a fund, known as the Mary Warren Russell Fund.

EDWIN BRADBURY HASKELL, of Auburndale, Massachusetts, a resident member from 1904, was born in Livermore, Maine, August 24, 1837, and died in Auburndale, March 25, 1907. He was the son of Moses Greenleaf and Rosella (Haines) Haskell, and was descended from William<sup>1</sup> Haskell, who settled in Gloucester, Massachusetts, about 1635, through Mark,<sup>2</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> Job,<sup>4</sup> William,<sup>5</sup> and Moses,<sup>6</sup> his father.

He was educated at the common schools and Kent's Hill Seminary, Readfield, Maine. He was prepared for college at the age of seventeen, but entered a printing office as an apprentice. In 1855 he went to New Orleans, working there and at Baton Rouge as typesetter for two years. He became a reporter on the Boston Journal in 1857; editor of the Boston Herald, 1862; and with others bought the Boston Herald, October, 1865.

He was a member of the School Committee, and President of the Common Council, Charlestown; President of the Trustees of the Free Library, Newton; member of the Metropolitan Park Commission; member of the American academy of political and social science; editor of the Boston Herald, 1862 to 1887; charter member of the St. Botolph Club, member of the Union, Exchange, Reform (New York), Newton, and Unitarian Clubs.

He married, August 29, 1861, Celia, daughter of Jonas and Joanna (Hubbard) Hill. Children: William Edwin, Helen, Henry Hill, Walter Bret, Elizabeth, Margaret, and Clarence Greenleaf Haskell.

Though well informed on political and economic questions, with a power of grasping the essentials of a subject, and a gift of direct vigorous English, in which an effective vein of humor always made itself felt, he refused to be led away from his chosen career by the allurements of a public life. As a publicist with a large outlook upon affairs, he was a welcome guest at important gatherings, and from time to time could be heard in advocacy of the reforms he had at heart. When public office was brought within his grasp, he firmly put the gift aside. For when, in 1882, Hon. Theodore Lyman headed an influential representation of the citizens of Massachusetts in an effort to induce him to accept nomination as an independent candidate for representative to Congress in the Ninth District, Mr. Haskell felt compelled to decline an honor which would, undoubtedly, have resulted in his election.

In the letter of request bearing 366 signatures, he was spoken of as "a man whose views upon the paramount questions of civil service reform and economy in the expenditure of public moneys were so thorough and practical as to furnish a sure guarantee of independent, energetic and fearless action." In his reply he said: "I believe that I can best serve the cause in which we have a common interest in the vocation to which I am accustomed. This decision is in accordance with the settled policy of my life as a journalist. The position I hold affords ample opportunity for useful and congenial work to fill the full measure of my ambition, and it seems to me wholly incompatible with the holding of a public office."

Always interested in everything that promoted the welfare of Newton, he belonged to the Newton Cemetery Corporation and Newton Jersey Stock Club, as president of both organizations. His interest in the work of the Unitarian denomination, of which he was a lifelong adherent, showed itself throughout the preoccupations of his business life. The Unitarian Society at West Newton had in him one of its most influential and devoted members, and when plans were set on foot to provide a new house of worship for the society he became the leading spirit of the movement. As chairman of the finance and standing committees, he took a prominent part in the preliminary work which resulted in the opening and dedication of one of the most beautiful religious edifices in New England, the Unitarian Church of West Newton.

While declining public office, he was not averse to serving his fellow-citizens in positions of public usefulness.

HON. JOSEPH HENRY WALKER, LL.D., of Worcester, Massachusetts, a resident member elected in 1901, was born in Boston, December 21, 1828, and died in Worcester, April 3, 1907. His parents were Joseph and Hannah Thayer (Chapin) Walker, and he was a descendant of Samuel<sup>1</sup> Walker of Woburn, Massachusetts, through the line of Israel,<sup>2</sup> Henry,<sup>3</sup> Henry,<sup>4</sup> Solomon,<sup>5</sup> and Joseph,<sup>6</sup> his father.

He became a resident of Worcester in 1843, and in 1850 a member of the firm of Joseph Walker and Company, shoe manufacturers. He was elected to the Worcester Common Council in 1854, elected president of the common council in 1869, and to the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1879, 1880, and 1887; candidate for Mayor of Worcester and defeated, 1876; elected a representative to the Fifty-first Congress in 1888, and to the Fifty-second Congress in 1889, and also to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, and Fifty-fifth Congresses, 1893 to 1899. In Congress he was chairman of the committee on banking. He retired from politics, when defeated by Hon. John R. Thayer in 1899, having completed five terms in Congress.

He was for several years President of the Worcester Board of Trade, and held many other important offices, among them that of Trustee of Brown University, and President of the Board of Trustees of Worcester Academy.

Mr. Walker had a career that made him a conspicuous figure in national politics. He was intensely earnest, insisted that others should be the same, and in carrying out his ideas of life made some enemies. His efforts for national legislation in changing the laws of the currency, pitted him against prejudices, but time has made it plain that in respect to greater elasticity of the currency he was right.

The close of the Civil War found him the possessor of a large fortune made in the manufacture of boots and shoes. It is stated that in one year he cleared $84,000 from his shoe factory alone, and after the war he built one of the largest shoe factories in the state.

In 1868 he established the tannery and leather house of Walker, Oakley and Company, Chicago, and kept to the last his interest in this enterprise. His later investments in Worcester were wholly in real estate, which several years ago were placed in trust to avoid litigation.

He had extensive real estate interests in Worcester, Boston, and Chicago, estimated to be valued at two million dollars, and his interests were all transposed some time before his death into a trust in favor of his children. He gave up active business connections when he was first elected to Congress, and the last ten years of his life were more quiet than the preceding. On his departure from politics he devoted himself to the study and preparation of books on political economy, and he wrote much on this subject. He perfected the bills he had before Congress, when he failed of reelection, and besides his literary work he paid considerable attention to the breeding of fine cattle. In 1881 he published a work entitled "Money, Trade and Banking." He was also the author of many papers and articles on the subject of finance and business. He was a member of many clubs.

He was survived by a wife Hannah M. (Kelley-Spear) Walker, and four children: Mrs. Milton Shirk, of Peru, Indiana; Mrs. Adams D. Claffin, of Newton; Representative Joseph Walker, of Brookline; and George Walker, of Newton.

This sketch is prepared from articles published in The Worcester Magazine, May, 1907.

DWIGHT ELIOT BOWERS, of New Haven, Connecticut, a life member, elected 1889, died, after six hours of illness, April 9, 1907. He was born at Claremont, New Hampshire, March 18, 1866, the son of Caleb Bailey Bowers, born at Middletown, Connecticut, April 21, 1820, and Fanny Maria Cutler, born at Springfield, Massachusetts, September 26, 1827. His ancestors were George<sup>1</sup> Bowers, of Scituate, 1637, Plymouth, 1639, and later of Cambridge; Jerathmeel,<sup>2</sup> of Chelmsford; Jonathan,<sup>3</sup> of Billerica; Rev. Benjamin<sup>4</sup> (Harvard 1733), first pastor at Middle Haddam, Connecticut; Benjamin,<sup>5</sup> of Blandford, Massachusetts; Nathaniel,<sup>6</sup> of Middletown, Connecticut; William,<sup>7</sup> of Berlin, Connecticut; and Caleb Bailey,<sup>8</sup> of Hartford and New Haven, Connecticut, his father.

Dwight Eliot Bowers was graduated at the Hopkins Grammar School, New Haven, in 1883, and at Yale University (B.A.), in 1887. After graduating from College he spent some months traveling abroad, and on his return studied by himself, and was occupied also with straightening out matters in the various collections of the Historical Society. He was elected a corresponding member of the Dedham Historical Society, February 6, 1889, and was librarian and curator of the New Haven Colony Historical Society, from December 14, 1887, to April 1, 1889. Since that time he was a partner in the firm of C. B. Bowers and Son, fire insurance agents.

JOHN WATTS DE PEYSTER, A.M., Ph.D., Litt.D., LL.D., of Tivoli, New York, a corresponding member of this Society since 1859, was born in New York, March 9, 1821, and died in New York, May 4, 1907. He was the son of Frederic and Mary Justina (Watts) de Peyster, and his mother was a daughter of Hon. John Watts. For a fuller account of his ancestry, see MEMORIAL BIOGRAPHIES, published by this Society, vol. VIII. page 108, now in press.

The subject of this sketch was educated at Columbia University, but ill health prevented his graduation. Heart trouble afflicted him in his boyhood, induced by his service in the volunteer fire department, and this physical disability prevented his entering upon active military life. Nevertheless, he bore a number of martial offices in which he reflected great credit upon himself, and he began in these at a period which seems remote to the present generation. He was elected colonel of New York State Infantry in 1846, and appointed brigadier-general of the National Guard of New York in 1851. He was the military agent of the State in Europe, from 1851 to 1853. On his return from Europe he submitted his reports to Jefferson Davis, then Secretary of War, and was thanked for the use of his valuable collections of books and manuscripts which he placed at the service of the government. In 1852-53 he made the first reports favoring a paid fire department, and assisted in organizing the present system of New York City. He was adjutant-general of the State of New York in 1855, and was brevetted major-general by the State of New York, by special act of the legislature in 1866, for meritorious services rendered the National Guard of the United States, prior to and during the Civil War. He is credited with recommending the adoption of the Napoleon gun to our government. He received the degree of A.M. from Columbia in 1872; LL.D. from Nebraska College in 1870; Litt.D., 1892; LL.D., 1896; Ph.D., 1899, from Franklin and Marshall College, of which institution he was a liberal benefactor.

In an article of this brief length a very small idea can be given of his numerous benefactions. He used a large portion of his inherited fortune to build a hospital for consumptives and St. Paul's training-school for boys, and also for other benevolent and useful purposes. He erected in public places at his own expense statues in bronze of one or two of his distinguished ancestors. His direct ancestor came to America from Haarlem, Holland, about 1645, and was a burgomaster under Dutch rule of New Amsterdam, and deputy mayor of New York under the English, and in view of these facts and his distinguished character, the subject of this sketch represented the United States at the coronation of Queen Wilhelmina, in Holland, in 1898.

He was a member of over thirty State and local and foreign historical, scientific and literary societies. Among them are included the American Historical Association, and various military and patriotic associations. He was a director of the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association. He was a many-sided litterateur and his hundreds of published works in the field of authorship include a number of important titles, such as the lives of generals, "The Dutch at the North Pole and the Dutch in Maine" (1857); "The Ancient, Mediæval and Modern Netherlanders" (1859); The "Pearl of Pearls" (a novel) published in 1865, and "Bothwell" (a historical drama) published in 1884. His subjects were largely those of battles, and the greater part of them were devoted to matters historical and military. The titles of his writings fill eleven pages of a noted bibliography, and a subsequent list made more than forty-eight pages, duodecimo, brevier type. He was remarkably able in his line of military authorship, and all his published works bear evidence of painstaking research and acute discernment.

REV. GEORGE ANSON JACKSON, Ph.B., A.M., of Swampscott, Massachusetts, a life member from 1883, was born in North Adams, Massachusetts, March 17, 1846, and died in Swampscott, May 8, 1907.

Mr. Jackson acquired his collegiate education in the Scientific Department of Yale College, graduating in the Class of 1868, and his theological education in the Andover, Massachusetts, Seminary, where he was graduated in 1871. He was ordained to the ministry, September 26, 1872; was pastor of a church at Leavenworth, Kansas, 1872, and acting pastor at Globe Village, Massachusetts, 1876-77; acting pastor of the church at Swampscott, from 1878 to 1880, and pastor from 1880 to about 1897, when he became secretary and librarian of the General Theological Library, 53 Mt. Vernon Street, Boston, a position he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Jackson ministered ably to the church at Swampscott, and during the summer, fall, and winter of 1883-84, he was absent in Europe.

His associates of the General Theological Library, at a memorial meeting held at the time of his death, testified that "he was keen to scatter the books of the library over the widest possible area." That also he worked in zealous coöperation with others for changes in the postal law to facilitate the distribution of loaned books at a cheaper rate. He instituted a more complete classification of the library. He never made an exhaustive study of modern theological thought, but he knew how the current was running, and kept up with the general progress of Biblical criticism. His ten years service as librarian was marked by great usefulness.

Mr. Jackson's wife, who was a sister of Rev. E. Winchester Donald of Boston, died during the December previous to her husband's death. He was survived by a son and a daughter.

ALONZO HATHAWAY EVANS, of Everett, Massachusetts, a resident member from 1896, was born February 24, 1820, at Allenstown, New Hampshire, and died at his home in Everett, May 27, 1907, at the advanced age of eighty-seven years. His parents were Robert and Sally (Goss) Evans.

Mr. Evans was a pioneer banker of Boston, and founder of Five Cents Savings Banks. He was connected for fifty-three years with the Five Cents Savings Bank, the presidency of which he resigned the month preceding his decease. Of this bank he was one of the founders. He always had a wide circle of friends and was held in respect by all who came into business relations with him. He was a man of accessibility and affability, as well as a banker of unusual executive and administrative ability. His life was that of the country boy who sought his living in the city when opportunities were different from those now offered similar boys. Mr. Evans's death was the result of an accident a few days before, which occasioned the breaking of his right hip.

He attended the country school of his native district, and after coming to Boston at the age of sixteen, attended an evening school there. Previous to his coming to Boston he lived for a year in Lowell, and was employed in a factory. After coming to Boston he worked as a clerk in a produce store, and became later a partner with George F. Brown, conducting business as Evans and Brown, in Blackstone Street, Boston, and Merchants' Row.

His interest in savings banks was occasioned in this way:—Moved by the recognition of the desirability of saving habits among young persons, he interested several men of his acquaintance in the foundation of a savings bank, and, as a result, a bank of that character was chartered as the Five Cents Savings Bank of Boston, he being its first treasurer. After a service of twenty years in that position, he was elected president of the bank in 1874, succeeding the first president, whose decease occurred in that year. Upon his resignation of this office he was succeeded therein by his son, Wilmot Roby Evans, president of the Winthrop National Bank.

Mr. Evans had lived in Everett since 1849, and held several important political offices in that city, which was formerly a part of Malden, known as South Malden. He was a member of the first water board under the town form of government, and represented the town in the legislature for two terms, 1874 and 1876. He was elected to the State Senate in 1889, and served two terms, in which he was chairman of the joint standing committee on banks and banking, and also a member of the joint standing committee on taxation. In 1892 he was made a member of the governor's council by the legislature on a first ballot, deciding a tie of the popular vote.

As a resident of Everett he was one of the most active of her citizens in securing the separation of South Malden from Malden, as the town of Everett, in 1872. For fourteen years he was chairman of the Republican town committee, and for two years a member of the Republican state central committee. He was elected the first mayor of the city of Everett, in 1893.

His father, Robert Evans, was born at Allenstown, New Hampshire, January 20, 1793, and died July 3, 1874. His mother, Sally Rand Goss, was born at Rye, New Hampshire, March 11, 1797, and died July 20, 1882; her father was Jethro Goss, and his mother, Mary Wells. His ancestor Daniel Evans, of Barrington and Allenstown, died at Andover, Massachusetts, from wounds received at the battle of Bunker Hill. He was married twice; first to Eleanor Bamford, and second to a widow Weymouth, both of Barrington. George Evans, of Allenstown, son of Daniel, was born May 31, 1757, and died November 23, 1804. He was at the battles of Bunker Hill, Bennington, and Stillwater, and married Lois Williams of Allenstown, who was born November 29, 1757, and died October 4, 1847. Robert Evans, son of George, was a pensioner of the War of 1812.

Alonzo Hathaway Evans was twice married: first in 1844 to Sarah R. Hawkes, a native of Saugus, who died in 1871. A son, Irving Alonzo Evans, born 1848, died October 16, 1891; and the other son by this marriage, Wilmot Roby Evans, born May 31, 1852, survives him. He married second, August 28, 1879, Caroline N. (Stowers) Titcomb, who also survives him. Her father was Samuel Sprague Stowers and her mother Phoebe French Stowers.

Immediately upon receiving news of the death of the city's foremost citizen, Mayor Thomas J. Boynton, of Everett, notified the Board of Aldermen, which was in session in City Hall, and the meeting was suspended. The following tribute was paid to his memory by the mayor: "For many years Mr. Evans took an active interest in all the affairs of this city, and the people repeatedly expressed their confidence in him by conferring upon him high political honors. Active, courageous, and tenacious, he was a natural leader of men. He possessed the happy faculty of attaching men to him by the ties of personal friendship. His circle of acquaintance and influence was large. A host of friends within and without the city will mourn his loss."

REAR-ADMIRAL JOSEPH ADAMS SMITH, U. S. N. (Retired), of Boston, a life member from 1873, was born at Machias, Washington County, Maine, September 1, 1837, and died August 18, 1907. tor<sup>5</sup> Peirce and Susannah Newton, born June 6, 1802 (she was a direct descendant of Rev. Thomas Hooker, whose daughter Mary married Rev. Roger Newton); William<sup>6</sup> and Ellen Prentiss, married in Boston, June 7, 1831; Isaac Newton<sup>7</sup> Peirce. At the time of the fight in Cambridge, April 19, 1775, he was eighty years old, and he took an active part in this engagement, and was badly wounded, but survived. My great-grandfather Nathaniel Prentiss (b. 1743, d. 1817) was actively engaged at the Lexington Alarm, and was a prominent member of the Cambridge Company. The same ancestor was also one of the disguised Indians of the Boston Tea Party, December 16, 1773. My great-great-great-grandfather, Samuel Newton, born October 20, 1646, was an ensign in King Philip's War."

Mr. Peirce was educated in the public schools of Cambridge and Charlestown. By occupation he was an accountant, and he retired from active business on January 1, 1902.

He spent the greater part of his life in Cambridge and Charlestown, and was identified for many years with the firm of Joel Goldthwait and Company. Three years before his death he moved his home to Newton, Massachusetts. He was prominent in Masonry, having been a past master of Hugh de Payens Lodge, A.F. and A.M., of Charlestown, and a member of Waverley Chapter, Royal and Select Masters, and Gethsemane Commandery, K.T., of Boston. He was also a member of Bunker Hill Lodge, I.O.O.F., and held membership in several minor organizations.

His first wife was Frances Priscilla Lynch, daughter of Parker and Cynthia (de les Dernier) Lynch. She died January 14, 1892. He was married second, April 3, 1902, to Elizabeth Brown Goldthwait, daughter of John and Helen (Brown) Goldthwait, of Boston. Child by first wife: Frederick Newton Peirce, born February 2, 1885. He was born in Ledyard, Connecticut, May 14, 1836, received a public school education, became a publisher at Louisville, Kentucky, in 1859, and at New York City from 1862 to 1870. SOLOMON LINCOLN, A.M., of Boston, a resident member since 1891, died in Boston, October 15, 1907.

Mr. Lincoln was born in Hingham, Massachusetts, August 14, 1838, son of Solomon and Mehitabel (Lincoln) Lincoln, daughter of Welcome Lincoln and Susanna (Gill) Lincoln. His father was born in Hingham, February 28, 1804, and his mother in the same place, Dec. 1, 1808. His original American ancestor, Samuel Lincoln, came from Norwich, England, and settled in Hingham in 1637. The direct line was Samuel,<sup>1</sup> Jedediah,<sup>2</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> Solomon,<sup>4</sup> Solomon,<sup>5</sup> and Solomon,<sup>6</sup> the subject of this sketch.

He was educated in the various Hingham schools and Derby Academy, Hingham, at David B. Tower's Park Latin School, and at Harvard College, where he was graduated A.B., in 1857. He had also the degrees of A.M. and LL.B., and held the office of president of the board of overseers of Harvard; and was a member of the Bar Association of the city of Boston.

Solomon Lincoln married Ellen B. Hayden, February 15, 1865, daughter of Joel and Isabella Wier Smith Hayden. One child: Bessie Lincoln, born June 28, 1868.

The above facts were furnished by Mr. Lincoln himself. The following facts are supplied from other sources. The class window of his college class in Memorial Hall, Cambridge, was put up in 1878 greatly through his efforts, and commemorates the class heroes of the days when chivalry and patriotism were such powerful motives. While at Harvard he was a member of the Institute and Hasty Pudding Clubs. He was the valedictorian of his class at commencement, his subject being "Knowledge and Wisdom."

After graduation he spent a summer in Hingham in horticultural pursuits. In 1858 he was appointed tutor in Harvard, and remained five and a half years, teaching Greek, Latin, and mathematics, and receiving his degree of A.M. He pursued a course in Harvard Law School and went abroad in 1863, and upon his return received his degree, and was admitted to the bar, October 20, 1864. He entered the office of Stephen B. Ives, Jr., of Salem, and thus formed a connection which was maintained for eighteen years in Salem, and later in Boston, under the firm name of Ives, Lincoln & Huntress. After 1882 he practised independently.

In 1874 he was appointed aide-de-camp to Governor Talbot, with the rank of colonel, and in 1879 was aide and chief of staff. He was appointed by Governor Talbot, in 1879, a commissioner to represent Massachusetts at a meeting of Governors of the original Thirteen States at Yorktown, Virginia, which was first held at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, and adjourned to Yorktown, where a celebration was held in October, 1879, preliminary to the more extended one in 1881. The latter he attended as commissioner with Mr. Long, then Governor.

In 1899 he was chosen president of the board of trustees of the Boston Public Library, and held this office at the time of his death. Previously, for two years, he served as vice-president of that board.

He was overseer of Harvard in 1882, and served several years as president of that board, and in 1902 declined re-election. Among different organizations, he had been a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society and the American Antiquarian Society. He was president of the Union and St. Botolph Clubs, and was vice-president of the University Club. He was a member of the Somerset and Exchange Clubs, and of the Harvard Club of New York. At the time of his death he was president of the Unitarian Club, vice-president of the Bunker Hill Monument Association, and had been president of the Bar Association of the city of Boston, and a member of the American Bar Association. He had served as a member of the board of directors of the Boston Athenæum. He was also a director of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, and president and director of the Talbot Mills at North Billerica, Massachusetts.

THEOPHILUS CLINTON FRYE, of Andover, Massachusetts, a resident member since 1860, was born in Andover, August 25, 1819, and died in Lawrence, Massachusetts, October 17, 1907, at the Wood Home for the Aged, and was buried in the family lot in the South Yard, Andover, October 19. Mr. Frye had a perennial interest in all that belonged to Andover, and his work for forty years on a manuscript genealogy of the descendants of John Frye, of Andover, brought him into contact with so many descendants of the old proprietors that to him and the late Alfred Poore of Salem, Massachusetts, the "Historical Andover" articles owe much of value, collected years ago when none of the next generation to these veterans knew or cared about the traditions of the old people. The annals of the Frye family were published in the "Andover Townsman" in 1897 and 1898, and since that time other articles have appeared in print on that subject and concerning Mr. Frye's work.

The parents of Mr. Frye were James Frye of Andover and his wife Elsie Houston of New York. His father was early associated with Mr. Vanderbilt in the ferry business, being a practical engineer and surveyor, and the family sojournings had a wide range, from the Harbor to the Catskills. James built the house in Frye Village opposite Smith Hall, as his father, Theophilus Frye, lived on the estate so long held by the late John Smith. Theophilus and his brother James, Jr., owned a sugar plantation in Cuba, and he has told much of the political uprisings and with great glee of his service as a "colonel" in the Cuban army to protect his venture there. James was taken ill in Cuba, after his brother came home, and many now living recall the return to Andover of James to die in three short days. He left the mother and his brother and two surviving sisters, Elsie Ette and Josephine, an ample fortune, which was invested, finally, in the Grant-Ward Company. The family, after Madame Frye became a widow, lived more than twenty years in the Harding house on High street, and here the elder daughter married Rev. Edward C. Miles, a gifted graduate of Andover Seminary and a promising author. When the crash came that broke Gen. Grant's brave heart, and the Frye fortune was swept away, Mr. Frye, wholly unfitted by a life of student's ease, took up with patient courage the work he had inherited an aptness for, and took a position in the engineering department of the Pacific Mills. In advanced life, he lost mother and sister Josephine, ill himself with pneumonia, and his Lawrence home broken up, the rest of his long journey was taken in weakness, cut off from the home with his brother-in-law Miles by the complete breakdown of that brilliant scholar. The only son died in early manhood and a devoted sister and her loyal daughter, an artist of promise, bore the heavy end for long years of the added burdens dropped by these two strong men. The bravery, the cheerful content, of Mr. Frye's long sojourn in the Lawrence Hospital, and the Wood Home for the Aged, his marvellous grip to the last on the youthful vigor of interest in the family, town, and national life, is equalled only by the record of his cousin Andrew Frye (born in Andover, 1811), who survives, and is a familiar figure at the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Cooley. Back of these two were two very ancient dames, who lived to be 90 and 94.

FUNDS OF THE SOCIETY.

(WITH NOTES.)

EBENEZER ALDEN FUND.

Will of Ebenezer Alden, dated May 24, 1875, proved March 19, 1881.

"Second. Having full confidence in each of my children that they will carry out my intentions, not only as expressed in this document, but also in a memorandum which accompanies it, and to which I may add other items from time to time in which I have made various donations and bequests to my sister Susan Alden should she survive me, and to sundry charitable institutions."

WILLIAM SUMNER APPLETON FUND.

Letter from William Sumner Appleton, dated Nov. 5, 1904.

"The children of the late Wm. S. Appleton have in their possession a quantity of unsold Sumner Genealogies of which Mr. Appleton was the author. We wish to present these unsold remainders, and perhaps from time to time others of a similar character, to the Historic Genealogical Society, on the following terms.

1. The books to be sold to the best possible advantage and the proceeds to be used to form a fund in memory of the late William Sumner Appleton, the said fund to bear his name.

2. This fund to be allowed to accumulate until it amounts to the sum of two thousand dollars; then one half of the income may be used as specified below and the remaining half shall be added to the principal until the fund amounts to the sum of one hundred thousand dollars.

3. When the fund amounts to the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, as much of the income shall be added to the principal, as shall be necessary to maintain said principal at the minimum value of one hundred thousand dollars. The remainder may be used as specified below or added to the principal, at the option of the Society.

4. As much of the income of this fund as may from time to time be available as specified above, shall be free and unrestricted, provided only that not more than one half of the said income shall ever be applied to the payment of a salary.

5. Although the application of the income is free and unrestricted as outlined in the preceding clause, we wish to suggest that, in view of Mr. Appleton's well known interest in heraldry, it would be peculiarly appropriate if part of the income were spent on books relating to the subject, and on objects of all kinds showing the practical application of heraldic decoration to the past or present uses of society.

6. So far as conveniently possible we should like the objects purchased with the income of this fund, to be so labelled as to make this fact apparent.

(Signed) WM. SUMNER APPLETON
for himself and his four sisters."

VITAL RECORDS.

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY is publishing, by a Fund set apart from the bequest of ROBERT HENRY EDDY to the Society, the Vital Records (Births, Marriages and Deaths) of Towns in Massachusetts whose Records are not already printed, from their beginning to the year 1850, in books of 8vo size, in clear type, on good paper, and with cloth binding. The arrangement is alphabetical.

Subscription to these Records, if made in advance of publication, will be taken at the rate of one cent per page, which includes binding.

Only a limited number of copies are being printed. The type is then distributed, and the extra copies held on sale at a considerable advance on the subscription price.

Address all communications to F. APTHORP FOSTER, Editor, 18 Somerset Street, Boston, Mass.
